

SpringerBriefs in Applied Sciences and Technology
PoliMI SpringerBriefs

Marcello Modica · Elena Solero

Brownfield Transformation in Fragile Territories

An Interreg-Based Action
Research

POLITECNICO
MILANO 1863

Springer

Contents

1	An Emerging Territorial Question	1
1.1	Mountain, Peripheral and Fragile Territories	1
1.2	Brownfields in Mountain Regions, a Latent Resource	2
1.3	The Alps as a Significant Case Study Area	6
	References	8
2	Approach and Methodology	11
2.1	Integrating Transnational Cooperation and Action Research	11
2.2	Interdisciplinary Expertise Meet Local Knowledge	14
2.3	Structure and Operational Logic	19
2.4	The Pilot Sites as ‘Action Field’	21
	References	22
3	Test-Design, an Experimental Planning Method	25
3.1	Informal Planning for Brownfield Transformation	25
3.2	Test-Design as a Process	27
3.3	Scenarios to Cope with Fragility and Uncertainty	32
	References	32
4	Eisenerz, Austria	35
4.1	Regional and Site Overview	35
4.2	Spatial Assessment	37
4.2.1	Environment	38
4.2.2	Settlement Structure	39
4.2.3	Mobility	39
4.3	Test-Design Workshop	42
4.4	Planning Recommendations	47
	References	54

5	Borgo San Dalmazzo, Italy	55
5.1	Regional and Site Overview	55
5.2	Spatial Assessment	57
5.2.1	Environment	58
5.2.2	Settlement Structure	59
5.2.3	Mobility	60
5.3	Test-Design Workshop	62
5.4	Planning Recommendations	71
	References	78
6	L'Argentièrre-la-Bessée, France	79
6.1	Regional and Site Overview	79
6.2	Spatial Assessment	81
6.2.1	Environment	82
6.2.2	Settlement Structure	83
6.2.3	Mobility	84
6.3	Test-Design Workshop	86
6.4	Planning Recommendations	91
	References	97
7	Tržič, Slovenia	99
7.1	Regional and Site Overview	99
7.2	Spatial Assessment	101
7.3	Test-Design Workshop	105
7.4	Planning Recommendations	110
	References	115
8	Pilots Comparative Review	117
8.1	Introduction: Co-design Indicators	117
8.2	Eisenerz (Austria)	118
8.3	Borgo San Dalmazzo (Italy)	120
8.4	L'Argentièrre-La-Bessée (France)	122
8.5	Tržič (Slovenia)	123
8.6	Critical Considerations	125
9	Conclusions and Recommendations	129
9.1	Limits and Lessons Learned	131