

PRAISE FOR PREVIOUS WORK

The Brain

“Rich in imagination . . . intriguing and thoroughly understandable.”

—New York Times Book Review

“A fascinating introduction to brain study . . .

A crisp prose style and a clear grasp of the subject matter.”

—The Philadelphia Inquirer

The Mind

“A wonderful book. The subject matter is inherently fascinating and Restak is a wiz at narration.”

—The Washington Post

“Immensely informative, crammed with challenging ideas . . . [and]
as enthralling as the elegant mind which composed it.”

—National Public Radio

ISBN-10: 1-5107-7027-5
ISBN-13: 978-1-5107-7027-0

52699

9 781510 770270

Contents

Chapter I.	Why should I care about my memory?	1
	How common are memory worries?	1
	Is my memory functioning normally?	2
	Can I trust my memory?	8
Chapter II.	Evolution of our understanding of memory.	13
	Collapse of a banquet hall	13
	Thinking in pictures	14
	Memory theatre of Giulio Camillo	17
	Thomas Bradwardine's advice	19
	Here is how it can work for you	21
	A shy bearded introvert	22
	FDR and the brain.	27
	Albert Einstein drinking a cup of coffee.	29
	Mind mapping and thought tracking	32
	Sunglasses and lipstick	33
	Situational awareness	39
Chapter III.	Different types of memory	41
	Dancers swaying to the music of time	41
	"The magic number seven"	43
	Chunking.	45
	Memory tools	50
	Hyperphantasia and hypophantasia	53
	Memory method.	55
	The Zeigarnik effect	58
	Restaurants as memory laboratories.	59
	The queen of memory	60
	The N-back game	64
	Tamping iron meets brain	68

The Lady Gaga tickets	72
"Negative twenty questions"	74
"Smooth operator to clumsy klutz"	78
The twisties	80
The forgotten baby syndrome	82
Future memory	84

Chapter IV. Memory in action	87
An Italian dinner for our sixteenth president	87
Memory training under water	90
Catchphrases	91
Always pick the biggest screen	93
Intermezzo	94

Chapter V. What can go wrong?	99
Memory's mortal enemies	99
When I forget, where does my memory go?	106
The man who could not forget	109
A sense of familiarity	111
Do I know you?	113
"I have been here before"	119
Why does my coffee table seem so different?	119
An attack in the park	122
"The parrot on a balcony"	124
The war of the ghosts	125
Memory morphing	127
Gaslighting in broad daylight	129
Amnesia	131
What would it be like to lose your memory entirely?	132
Meet Mr. Henry Gustav Molaison	134
Sudden memory failures	136
Stairways to different rooms	139
Mood-dependent memories	141
Why can you never remember to loan me that book?	142

	Purple! Purple!	143
	Memory through a distorted mirror	144
Chapter VI.	The promises and perils of memory	149
	“It is the star to every wandering bark”	149
	Climbing a golden mountain.	152
	Atoms are flitting before my eyes.	153
	Landscape of a shared past	156
	Collective memory	158
	Memory wars	161
	Memory laws.	164
	The late (?) Whitney Houston	167
Chapter VII.	Accessory aids to better memory	169
	Drugs	169
	Why siestas are good for you	170
	A feast or famine	172
	Coffee and tea	175
	Alcohol	175
	Exercise	177
Postscript.		179
	Let me take you to the US memory championship	179
	All you ever have to know about improving memory	181
Glossary.		187
Bibliography.		191
Acknowledgments		193