

Contents

List of interviews	xiii
List of boxes	xv

Introduction	1
--------------	---

Going with the tiger: Reading and writing strategically, widely and deeply

PART I

Reading and writing strategically to learn about literacy and literature

1 Understanding reading and writing as multimodal literacies: Mapping literary and literacy pathways through text	13
About this chapter	13
About the authors	14
Introduction	15
Multimodal pathways through the intuitions of childhood and young adulthood: Understanding text as a visual object, multimodal event and sociocultural artefact	18
From breadcrumbs to story fragments: Mapping the worlds of Shaun Tan through an understanding of reading, writing and mode as strategic personal tools for thinking and meaning making	24

Reading and writing picture books and multimodal texts: Exploring intermodal and intramodal meaning in the emotional portraits and parallel stories of Margaret Wild	41
Conclusion	51

2 Exploring multiple perspectives on reading and writing in culture: Arts as storied inquiry into aesthetic literacy and personal identity practice	56
About this chapter	56
About the authors	57
Introduction	58
Aesthetic moments and strategic reading and writing in cultural stories: Observing and transforming literacy practice	60
Exploring the work of Patricia Forde through inquiry- based approaches to reading and writing in culture: Literacy as a cognitive, psychological, linguistic, sociocultural and socio-political act	64
Writing our lives as storied works of art: Arts-based inquiries as a theoretical lens for exploring identity and affect in the work of Máire Zepf	76
Conclusion	90

PART II

Reading and writing widely for personal purposes

3 Reading, writing and genre as personally resonant and sociocultural practices: Telling the human story of literacy as personal and social practice	97
About this chapter	97
About the authors	98
Introduction	100
Understanding narrative and genre as frameworks for personal interpretation and social action within personally resonant and sociocultural reading and writing practices	102
Narrating inner stories and relational identities: Text as a complex and flexible personal meaning making machine and the work of Todd Hasak-Lowy	107

Genre and (auto)biography as personal learning artefacts for making the familiar strange in the scripts and stories of Paul Fleischman	118
Conclusion	129

4 Reading and writing for pleasure in reciprocal and affinity-based story communities: Exploring digital literacies, humour and authentic spaces for the sharing of stories	133
About this chapter	133
About the authors	134
Introduction	135
Affinity spaces for reading and writing for pleasure: Digital literacy in reciprocal reading and writing communities	136
From readers to writers: Exploring the stories of Joan Holub through fan fiction and remix in virtual and physical affinity spaces	141
The poems are told for you: (i)Poetry, parody and comedy in reading and writing for personal purpose and the poetry of KJ Shapiro	155
Conclusion	165

PART III

Reading and writing deeply to transform understanding

5 Reading and writing through the lenses of critical literacy, social justice and historical perspective: Cultural, social and historical contexts for literacy and identity	173
About this chapter	173
About the authors	174
Introduction	176
Real world interventions as literacy practice: Connecting critical literacy, social justice and identity	178
Going deeper into history through narrative nonfiction: Learning as identity, critical literacy and social justice in the stories of Deborah Heiligman and Michelle Markel	182

	From knowing to interpreting the past as an extended present through historical fiction: Historical literacy and social justice in the work of Marita Conlon McKenna	194
	Conclusion	204
6	Culturally sustaining reading and writing practice: Engaging with funds of knowledge and popular culture literacies to negotiate curriculum design with learners	209
	About this chapter	209
	About the authors	210
	Introduction	211
	The value of literacy in funds of knowledge-based culturally sustaining pedagogies	213
	Exploring funds of knowledge and literacy values: Collaborative explorations of authentic language, culture and personal experience in the work of Roddy Doyle	217
	Sharing words and worlds of experience in the work of Judi Curtin: Popular culture and Negotiated Integrated Curriculum (NIC)	224
	Conclusion	233
7	Reading and writing about dark knowledge: Exploring alternative ways of knowing through philosophy, psychology and mental health literacy	237
	About this chapter	237
	About the authors	238
	Introduction	240
	Exposing dark funds of knowledge as threshold concepts for literacy and learning: Exploring school and lifeworld knowledge and ways of knowing	241
	Communities of inquiry for reading deeply to transform understanding: Philosophically oriented real encounters with our world in the work of Kevin Brooks	243
	Authentic ways of knowing and deep funds of pedagogy: Connecting education, emotion and lived experience in the work of Neal Shusterman	253

Living with dark knowledge within: Positive pedagogies for Mental Health Literacy and well-being and the work of Cethan Leahy 264

Conclusion 276

Index 281

Five minutes with Sharon Tan 34

Five minutes with Margaret Wild 41

Five minutes with Patricia Funnell 53

Five minutes with Mike Cappi 77

Five minutes with David Heath-Lewis 104

Five minutes with Paul Fawcett 113

Five minutes with Joan Egle 144

Five minutes with Al Simpson 157

Five minutes with Deborah Hargrave 163

Five minutes with Michael Markel 187

Five minutes with Maria Louisa McKenna 193

Five minutes with Rachel Davis 217

Five minutes with Julia Carter 234

Five minutes with Anne Brooke 243

Five minutes with Peter Smeyers 253

Five minutes with Cethan Leahy 263