

Contents

Introduction: Magic books	I
1 Beginnings: East, West and Gutenberg	21
2 Queen Victoria in the trenches	38
3 Christmas, gift books and abolition	55
4 Shelfies: Anne, Marilyn and Madame de Pompadour	73
5 Silent Spring and the making of a classic	90
6 The Titanic and book traffic	105
7 Religions of the book	121
8 10 May 1933: burning books	135
9 Library books, camp, and malicious damage	152
10 Censored books: '237 goddams, 58 bastards, 31 Chrissakes, and 1 fart'	169
11 Mein Kampf : freedom to publish?	189
12 Talismanic books	205
13 Skin in the game: book-binding and African-American poetry	224
14 Choose Your Own Adventure: readers' work	243

CONTENTS

15	The empire writes back	261
16	What is a book?	276
	Epilogue: Books and transformation	294
	Notes	299
	Acknowledgements	319
	Index	321