

Contents

Table of Cases	ix
Table of Treaties	xiii
INTRODUCTION	1
I. CRITICAL DIAGNOSTICS	7
1. Introduction	7
2. The Themes of Succession	23
3. A Brief History	29
4. Succession, Identity, and Continuity	52
a) Three Notions of Territorial Sovereignty	61
b) Two Notions of Succession	64
c) Continuity and Succession	67
i) The Point of Differentiation	69
ii) From Status to Relations	75
5. Bedjaoui, O'Connell, and the 'End' of Succession	80
6. Conclusions	90
II. CODIFICATION AND DECOLONIZATION 1950–1974	93
1. The Move to Codification	94
2. Initial Steps: The International Law Commission Sub-committee	96
3. The International Law Association	105
4. A Change in Focus: The Waldock Reports	113
5. The Law of Treaties and Beyond	120
a) Devolution Agreements	122
b) Unilateral Declarations	128
6. New States	131
i) Treaties providing for Succession	132
ii) A Right of Participation	134
iii) The Legal Nexus	141
7. Semi-Sovereignty: Mandates, Trusteeships and Protectorates	147
8. Other Categories of Succession	155
a) Unions of States	157
b) The Dissolution of States	166
9. Dispositive Treaties	173
a) Boundary Treaties	176
b) Territorial Agreements	187

10. Final Moves: The Vienna Conference	194
11. Reception and Reflection	198
12. Conclusions	201
III. NEW BEGINNINGS, NEW ENDS	207
1. Introduction	207
2. Beyond Decolonization	213
3. The Perils of Formalism: Continuity, Personality, and Identity	216
4. Treaty Continuity and Automatic Succession	231
5. Functional Differentiation	244
6. Conclusions	256
CONCLUSIONS	259
Select Bibliography	268
Index	287