

KEY-NOTE LECTURES

|                                                       |                                                                                            |   |
|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|
| Y. Ai*                                         | Implications of processing on pulse starch digestibility                                   | 5 |
| T. Benech Arnold, D. A. Navarro, C. A. Stortz* | Atypical sulfated galactans from the red seaweed Schizymenia dubyi (Nemastomatales) | 8 |

ORAL PRESENTATIONS

|                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                         |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| A. Skrynnikova, R. Bleha*, L. Sushytskyi, J. Čopíková, A. Sinica                                    | Polysaccharides from mushrooms Ganoderma linzhi : isolation and structural characterisation                      | 11 |
| B. Hajdari*, S. Henke, S. Gillarová, T. Svoboda, V. Pour, Z. Bubník                                 | Degradation of pectin by photocatalysis                                                                                 | 17 |
| M. Marcinkowska-Lesiak*, I. Wojtasik-Kalinowska, A. Onopiuk, A. Szpicer, A. Póltorak                | Effect of oxidized starch-based coatings on quality of stored strawberries                                              | 22 |
| T. Mirzayeva*, L. Sushytskyi, R. Bleha, F. Kvasnička, A. Sinica, K. Demnerová                       | Extraction and purification of glycosaminoglycans from animal sources                                                   | 28 |
| P. Smrčková*, K. Prokopová, E. Šárka                                                                | Influence of extrusion cooking on physicochemical properties of corn-spelt extrudates                                   | 34 |
| T. Svoboda*, S. Henke, S. Gillarová, I. Kříhová                                                     | Acid hydrolysis of guar gum: reaction kinetics and intermediate oligosaccharides quantification                         | 40 |
| A. Szpicer*, A. Onopiuk, I. Wojtasik-Kalinowska, M. Marcinkowska-Lesiak, A. Wierzbicka, A. Póltorak | The use of polysaccharides and polyphenols in modeling the physicochemical parameters of innovative pro-health biscuits | 44 |
| I. Wojtasik-Kalinowska*, A. Onopiuk, M. Marcinkowska-Lesiak, A. Szpicer, P. Daria, A. Póltorak      | Modeling the consistency of curd cheese using enzymes from the transferase class                                        | 50 |

POSTERS

|                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| H. M. Baranowska*, J. Le Thanh-Blicharz, K. Walkowiak, Ł. Masewicz          | Retrogradation of modified potato starch studied by LF-NMR                                                                     | 55 |
| L. Škuderová, R. Bleha, Ya. Troshchynska, G. Sagar, J. Čopíková*, A. Sinica | Galactomannans of legume seeds: properties and use in pharmacy                                                                 | 58 |
| V. Dvořáček*, A. Kotrbová Kozak, M. Jágr, P. Konvalina, I. Capouchová       | Near infrared spectroscopy as an effective tool for quantification of $\beta$ -glucan in oat grain during the breeding process | 63 |

|                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                   |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| S. Gillarová* , S. Henke, P. Krčová,T. Svoboda, Z. Bubník                                                                                 | Characterization of galactomannan hydrolysates of plant gums                                                                                      | 67  |
| I. Hambarliyska , N. Petkova*,M. Ognyanov, D. Vassilev                                                                                    | Chemical characterization and anticomplimentary activity ofinulin isolated from Cichorium intybus L. by green extractiontechniques | 75  |
| L. Jurkaninova* , I. Svec, M. Slukova,K. Prokesova                                                                                        | Comparison of the effect of selected recipe ingredients on thetexture of whole grain cereal biscuits                                          | 81  |
| Z. Košťálová* , Z. Hromádková                                                                                                                 | A comparative study of different polysaccharides focused oncarbohydrate analysis                                                              | 85  |
| E. Lavrova , L. Sushytskyi, R. Bleha,J. Čopíková, A. Sinica*                                                                              | Polysaccharides of medicinal fungi of genus Pleurotus :structure and physical properties                                               | 88  |
| J. Le Thanh-Blicharz* ,J. Lewandowicz                                                                                                     | The influence of chemical modification of potato starch onstabilization of emulsions                                                          | 94  |
| J. Lewandowicz* J. Le Thanh-Blicharz, H. M. Baranowska                                                                                    | Molecular dynamics vs. rheological properties of modifiedstarches: cluster analysis grouping                                                  | 98  |
| A. Onopiuk* , K. Kołodziejczak,I. Wojtasik-Kalinowska,M. Marcinkowska-Lesiak, A. Szpicer,A. Póltorak                              | The use of edible coatings based on chitosan and pullulan toextend the shelf life of apples                                                   | 102 |
| I. Polišenská* , O. Jirsa, P. Podloucká,J. Frydrych, I. Sedláčková,K. Vaculová                                                        | Starch content, chemical composition and baking suitabilityof six buckwheat varieties                                                         | 107 |
| A. C. Ribeiro* , T. G. M. Bonadio,D. C. Leite, N. P. Silveira                                                                             | A study of the behavior of smart starch-poly( N -isopropyl-acrylamide) hybrid microgels in drug delivery systems                       | 112 |
| H. Śmigielska* , G. Lewandowicz                                                                                                               | Characterization of starch preparations enriched with copperions                                                                              | 115 |
| K. Caltová , E. Šárka*, P. Smrčková,I. Marek, R. Bleha, V. Fíla, M. Lhotka                                                                | Preparation and characterization of modified starch forecological application                                                                 | 120 |
| I. Svec* , M. Slukova, P. Skrivan                                                                                                             | Pasting behaviour of sorghum, lupine, and chickpea flour –effect of flour dosage                                                              | 127 |
| T. Taubner* , M. Marounek,A. Synytsya                                                                                                     | Preparation and characterization of hydrophobic andhydrophilic amidated derivatives of carboxymethyl $\beta$ -glucan                          | 131 |
| Ya. Troshchynska* , I. Saloň,L. Sushytskyi, P. Smrčková, J. Havlín,F. Kvasnička, V. Kyselová,A. Michalcová, A. Sinica, J. Štětina | Effect of drying methods on the physical properties of flaxseedmucilage                                                                       | 135 |
| D. Vassilev* , N. Petkova, M. Koleva,P. Denev                                                                                             | New perspectives on application of carbohydrate fatty acidsesters for plastics bio-additives with plasticizing effect                         | 141 |
| R. Zucatti , D. C. Leite, N. P.Da Silveira*                                                                                               | Preparation and characterization of a gelatin-based microgelwith incorporation of phospholipid structures                                     | 145 |