

Contents

Table of Cases	xxix
Tables of Legislation	xxxi
List of Abbreviations	xlvi
1. Introduction	1
1.1 The Emergence of Weapons Law	1
1.2 Weapons Law in Context	2
1.3 Jus ad Bellum and Jus in Bello	4
1.4 Meaning of Weapon, Means and Methods of Warfare	4
1.5 Outline of the Text	4
1.6 Purpose of this Book	6
2. The Evolution of the Law of Weaponry	8
2.1 Introduction	8
2.2 The Earliest Rules	8
2.3 Lieber Code	9
2.4 St Petersburg Declaration 1868	10
2.5 Brussels Declaration 1874	11
2.6 Oxford Manual 1880	11
2.7 Hague Peace Conference 1899	12
2.8 Hague Peace Conference 1907 and the Martens Clause	13
2.9 Draft Hague Air Rules	15
2.10 1925 Geneva Gas Protocol	16
2.11 Environmental Modification Convention 1976	17
2.12 Additional Protocol 1	18
2.13 Conventional Weapons Convention 1980	18
2.14 Ottawa Convention 1997	20
2.15 International Criminal Court	20
2.16 Non-International Armed Conflicts	21
3. Components of the International Law of Weaponry	22
3.1 Introduction	22
3.2 Sources of the Law of Weaponry	23
3.3 Customary Law	23
3.3.1 Determining the existence of a customary rule	24

3.3.2	Treaty rules achieving customary status	25
3.3.3	The effect of customary rules	26
3.3.4	Sources of state practice	27
3.4	Treaties	28
3.4.1	Status of weapons treaty texts	29
3.4.2	Weapons declarations other than treaties	29
3.4.3	How weapons treaties are negotiated	30
3.4.4	Formalities of treaties	32
3.4.5	Statements of interpretation and reservations	32
3.4.6	Interpretation of treaties	33
3.4.7	Termination, amendment, or modification of a treaty	34
3.5	Language of Custom Based on Weapons Treaty Rules	35
3.6	ICRC Customary Law Study	36
3.6.1	The methodology	36
	Uniformity	37
	'Extensive and representative'	38
3.6.2	The legal status of the Study Report	38
3.7	UN Secretary-General's Bulletin	39
4.	The Use of Weapons and the Law of Targeting	41
4.1	Introduction	41
4.2	Targeting Rules Under AP1	42
4.2.1	The basic principle	42
4.2.2	Some definitions	43
4.2.3	Protection of the civilian population	43
4.2.4	Indiscriminate attacks	43
4.2.5	Human shields and precautions against the effects of attacks	44
4.2.6	Military objectives and the protection of civilian objects	45
4.2.7	Protection of cultural objects and places of worship	46
4.2.8	Protection of objects indispensable to the survival of the civilian population	46
4.2.9	Natural environment	47
4.2.10	Protection of works and installations containing dangerous forces	47
4.2.11	Precautions in attack	48
4.2.12	Non-defended localities and demilitarized zones	49
4.3	Customary Law Relating to Targeting	49
4.4	Reprisals	50
4.4.1	The UK position on reprisals	51
4.4.2	Reprisals in relation to weapons use	53

5. Customary Principles—Superfluous Injury and Unnecessary Suffering	55
5.1 The Early Workings of the Principle	55
5.1.1 The 1899 and 1907 Peace Conferences	57
5.2 The Modern Law in Additional Protocol 1	58
5.2.1 Interpretations in commentaries and manuals	59
5.2.2 Analysing the language	61
5.3 Does the Rule Make Sense?	63
5.4 The SIrUS Project	65
5.5 The Continuing Importance of the Principle	66
5.6 ICRC Customary Law Study	67
5.7 Is There a Time Dimension to the Principle?	68
6. Customary Principles—Indiscriminate Weapons	69
6.1 Introduction	69
6.1.1 The significance of the principle	69
6.1.2 Technology and reliability of weapons	71
6.1.3 The obligation for states	71
6.2 Evolution of the Principle of Discrimination	72
6.2.1 The Lieber Code 1863	72
6.2.2 St Petersburg Declaration 1868	73
6.2.3 Brussels Declaration 1874	73
6.2.4 Hague Regulations, 1899 and 1907	73
6.2.5 Draft Hague Air Rules 1923	74
6.2.6 The position in 1974	75
6.3 The Rule of Distinction in AP1	76
6.3.1 Indiscriminate weapons under AP1	77
6.3.2 Examples of indiscriminate attacks and weapons law	78
6.4 Clarifying the AP1 Rule	80
6.5 ICRC Customary Law Study	82
6.6 The Rule and Nuclear Weapons	83
6.7 Significance of the Rule	84
6.8 Rome Statute	84
7. Weapons and the Environment	86
7.1 Introduction	86
7.2 The Position before 1976	87
7.2.1 Early texts	87
7.2.2 Hague Peace Conferences 1899 and 1907	89
7.2.3 1925 Geneva Gas Protocol	91

7.3	ENMOD	92
7.4	Articles 35 and 55 of AP1	94
7.5	Environmental Concerns and the Gulf War 1990–91	96
7.6	AP1 Environmental Rules and Nuclear Weapons	97
7.7	Reprisals	98
7.8	ICRC Guidelines for Military Manuals	99
7.9	ICRC Customary Law Study	100
7.10	Peacetime Environmental Law in Armed Conflict	104
7.11	Conclusion	105
8.	Conventional Weapons Convention	106
8.1	Introduction	106
8.2	A Brief History	107
8.3	Examining the Convention's Provisions	108
8.3.1	The Preamble	108
8.3.2	Scope of application	109
8.3.3	Participation in CCW and entry into force	111
8.3.4	Application in conflict	112
8.3.5	Amendments and new protocols	113
8.3.6	Review conferences	114
8.4	Status of Weapons Prohibited by the Protocols	115
8.5	Conclusion	116
9.	Poison, Poisoned Weapons, Asphyxiating Gases, Biological and Chemical Weapons	117
9.1	Poison and Poisoned Weapons	117
9.1.1	Introduction	117
9.1.2	Emergence of the modern law	118
9.1.3	Significance of the rule	119
9.1.4	Meaning of the rule	120
9.2	Asphyxiating Gas	121
9.2.1	Participation in the Protocol	125
9.3	Bacteriological or Biological Weapons	125
9.3.1	The treaty provisions	125
9.3.2	Participation in the Convention	128
9.3.3	Customary status of the rule	129
9.4	Chemical Weapons	129
9.4.1	Objectives of the Chemical Weapons Convention	130
9.4.2	General obligations	130
9.4.3	Scheme of the Convention	133
9.4.4	Riot control agents under CWC	135
9.4.5	Participation in the Convention	137

9.4.6	Status of the rule in customary law	137
9.4.7	The rule's status in non-international armed conflict	138
9.4.8	Compliance	138
10.	Firearms, Bullets, and Analogous Projectiles	140
10.1	Introduction	140
10.2	Firearms	140
10.3	Explosive Bullets	141
10.4	Bullets that Expand or Flatten Easily in the Human Body	144
10.4.1	Hague Declaration IV, 3	144
10.4.2	The customary law rule	146
10.5	Testing	150
10.6	Applying Weapons Law Rules by Analogy	152
10.7	Initiatives Within CCW	153
11.	The Rules Relating to Mines, Booby-traps, and Other Devices	155
11.1	Introduction	155
11.2	Mines, Booby-traps, and Other Devices under Protocol II	157
11.2.1	Definitions	157
11.2.2	General restrictions on use	159
11.2.3	Restrictions on using mines other than remotely delivered mines, booby-traps, and other devices in populated areas	160
11.2.4	Restrictions on use of remotely delivered mines	161
11.2.5	Prohibition of the use of certain booby-traps	162
11.2.6	Recording and publication obligations	164
11.2.7	Protection of UN forces and missions	164
11.3	Amended Protocol II	165
11.3.1	Scope of application	166
11.3.2	Definitions	166
11.3.3	General restrictions	168
11.3.4	Addressing mine clearance dangers	169
11.3.5	Other general restrictions	170
11.3.6	Restrictions on use of anti-personnel mines	170
11.3.7	Restrictions on non-remotely delivered anti-personnel landmines	171
11.3.8	Restrictions on use of remotely delivered mines	173
	Recording	173
	Self-destruction and self-deactivation of remotely delivered mines	175
11.3.9	Prohibitions on use of booby-traps and other devices	175
11.3.10	Other provisions of APII	176
11.3.11	Warning signs	176

11.4	Participation in the Protocols	177
11.5	Customary Law Rules	178
11.5.1	Landmines	178
	Customary status of the landmine rules	179
11.5.2	Booby-traps	180
11.5.3	Application to non-international armed conflicts	181
11.6	Compliance	181
11.7	Anti-personnel Landmines and the Ottawa Convention	181
11.7.1	Preamble	182
11.7.2	General obligations	183
11.7.3	Definitions	185
11.7.4	Exceptions	186
11.7.5	Destruction of mines	187
	Destruction of stockpiles	187
	Destruction of anti-personnel landmines in mined areas	188
11.7.6	International cooperation and assistance	189
11.7.7	Transparency measures	190
11.7.8	Facilitation and clarification of compliance	191
11.7.9	National implementation measures	192
11.8	Participation in the Ottawa Convention	193
11.9	Mines Other Than Anti-Personnel Mines	193
12.	Rules Relating to Other Specific Technologies	195
12.1	Introduction	195
12.2	Non-Detectable Fragments	196
12.2.1	Protocol I and its interpretation	196
12.2.2	Participation in the Protocol	198
12.2.3	Status of the rule in customary law	198
12.2.4	Application to non-international armed conflicts	199
12.2.5	Compliance	199
12.3	Incendiary Weapons	199
12.3.1	Protocol III and its interpretation	200
12.3.2	Participation in Protocol III	205
12.3.3	Status of the rule in customary law	205
12.3.4	Application to non-international armed conflicts	208
12.3.5	Compliance	209
12.4	Laser Weapons	209
12.4.1	Protocol IV and its interpretation	209
12.4.2	Participation in Protocol IV	213
12.4.3	Status of the rule in customary law	213

12.4.4 Application to non-international armed conflicts	214
12.4.5 Compliance	214
13. Nuclear Weapons	215
13.1 Introduction	215
13.2 Nuclear Weapons and AP1	216
13.3 AP1 Ratification Statements by NATO States	217
13.4 The International Court of Justice Advisory Opinion	220
13.5 The UK Position	222
13.6 Nuclear Disarmament and the Future	223
14. Applying Weapons Law to Particular Weapon Systems	224
14.1 Introduction	224
14.2 Missiles, Bombs, and Artillery	224
14.2.1 Superfluous injury or unnecessary suffering	224
14.2.2 The discrimination rule	225
14.2.3 Reliability of the weapon	227
14.2.4 Environmental considerations	228
14.2.5 Weapons-specific rules	229
14.3 Unmanned Vehicles	229
14.4 Unmanned Combat Vehicles	230
14.5 Blast Weapons	233
14.5.1 Superfluous injury/unnecessary suffering	234
14.6 Lasers and Directed Energy Weapons	235
14.7 Computer Network Attack	237
14.8 Herbicides	238
14.9 Flechettes	241
14.10 Depleted Uranium	242
14.11 White Phosphorus	244
14.12 Non-lethal Weapons	246
15. Cluster Munitions	251
15.1 Introduction	251
15.2 Definition	251
15.3 The Problem	252
15.4 Operational Experience	253
15.5 Military Utility of Cluster Munitions	254
15.6 Early CCW Discussions About Cluster Munitions	255
15.7 Other Developments	258
15.8 Further Developments in CCW	259

15.9	The Oslo Process	260
15.10	Interpreting the Oslo Declaration	261
15.11	The UK position	262
15.12	The Convention on Cluster Munitions	262
15.13	Continuing CCW Discussions	278
15.14	Conclusion	278
16.	Weapons in Sea Warfare	280
16.1	Introduction	280
16.2	Sea Mines	281
16.2.1	Automatic submarine contact mines	281
16.2.2	Hague Convention VIII, 1907	281
16.2.3	Post-conflict clearance	285
16.2.4	The technology gap	285
16.2.5	General participation	286
16.2.6	Sea mines and the San Remo Manual, 1994	287
16.2.7	The UK Manual	288
16.2.8	Customary law relating to sea mines	288
16.3	Nuclear Mines	290
16.4	Submarines	290
16.4.1	The early treaties	290
16.4.2	Customary law of submarine warfare	293
16.4.3	The San Remo Manual	293
16.4.4	Submarines and the UK Manual	294
16.5	Missiles and Other Projectiles	294
16.6	Torpedoes	295
16.7	Conclusion	296
17.	Unexploded and Abandoned Weapons	297
17.1	Introduction	297
17.2	The Explosive Remnants of War Problem	299
17.3	Protocol V to CCW	301
17.3.1	Scope of Application	302
17.3.2	Definitions	303
17.3.3	Clearance, removal, or destruction of ERW	305
	Where a state party controls ERW-affected territory	305
	Where the user does not control the territory	306
17.3.4	Recording, retaining, and transmitting information	307
	Voluntary best practice	308
17.3.5	Other precautions	309
	Legal provisions	309
	Voluntary best practice	309

17.3.6	Protection of humanitarian missions	310
17.3.7	Existing ERW	310
17.3.8	Cooperation and assistance	311
17.3.9	Generic preventive measures	312
17.4	Conclusion	312
17.5	Participation in Protocol V	313
	Appendix to Chapter 17	313
18.	Non-International Armed Conflict	318
18.1	What is Non-International Armed Conflict?	318
18.2	The Treaty Law of Weaponry Applicable in Non-International Armed Conflicts	318
18.2.1	Applicability of the early treaties	319
18.2.2	Biological Weapons Convention 1972	319
18.2.3	Additional Protocol 1	319
18.2.4	Additional Protocol 2	320
18.2.5	Conventional Weapons Convention 1980 and its interpretation	320
18.2.6	Chemical Weapons Convention 1993	321
18.2.7	Ottawa Convention 1997	322
18.3	The Customary Law Position	322
18.3.1	Superfluous injury	322
18.3.2	Indiscriminate weapons	323
18.3.3	Nuclear weapons	323
18.3.4	Poisons	324
18.3.5	Biological weapons	324
18.3.6	Riot control agents	324
18.3.7	Herbicides	325
18.3.8	Expanding bullets	326
18.3.9	Exploding bullets	326
18.3.10	The CCW rules	326
	Non-detectable fragments	327
	Booby-traps	327
	Landmines	328
	Incendiary weapons	329
	Blinding laser weapons	330
18.4	Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court	330
18.5	Conclusion	330
19.	Compliance with International Weapons Law	332
19.1	Introduction	332

19.2	Treaty Provisions Relating to Compliance	332
19.2.1	Early treaties	333
19.2.2	Environmental Modification Convention 1976	334
19.2.3	Additional Protocol 1	334
19.2.4	Conventional Weapons Convention 1980	335
19.2.5	Protocol V to CCW	337
19.2.6	Third CCW Review Conference Compliance Decision	337
19.2.7	Ottawa Convention	339
19.2.8	Chemical and biological weapons	339
19.2.9	Summary	339
19.3	Legal Advice to Commanders	339
19.4	Domestic Legislation	340
19.5	Legal Reviews of Weapons, Means, and Methods of Warfare	340
19.5.1	The AP1 Obligation	342
19.5.2	Things requiring review and timing of reviews	344
19.5.3	The rules that are applied	345
19.5.4	A critique of the criteria suggested in the ICRC Guide	347
19.5.5	Data to support the legal review	349
19.5.6	Weapons review procedures	350
19.5.7	Ensuring that the review is sought	351
19.5.8	The reviewing authority	351
19.5.9	Stages of procurement when a review is needed	352
20.	Technology, Humanitarian Concern, and International Weapons Law	353
20.1	Technology and Battlefield Advantage	353
20.2	The Humanitarian Side of Technological Advance	357
20.3	Technology Informing the Law	358
20.4	Law, Technology, and the Humanitarian Dimension	361
20.5	Technology and the Law—Which Comes First?	363
20.6	New Treaties for New Technologies	363
20.7	Technological Advance—Revisiting a Treaty	365
20.8	If Humanitarian Concern Does Not Lead to a Treaty	367
20.9	Where All the Factors Come Together	368
20.10	Conclusion	370
21.	The Future of Weapons Law	371
21.1	Introduction	371
21.2	What Is Progress in Weapons Law?	372
21.3	How Are Changes in Treaty Law Initiated?	375
21.4	The Role of States	379

21.5	What Happens When Consensus Fails?	380
21.6	The Alternative 'Gradualist' Approach	381
21.7	Soft Law	382
21.8	Does Any of This Matter?	385
21.9	The Path to Progress	386
21.10	Conclusion	387

Bibliography	389
---------------------	-----

Index	405
--------------	-----