

Kundera's essay has been written like a novel. In the course of nine separate sections, the same characters meet and cross paths with each other. Stravinsky and Kafka with their odd friends Ansermet and Brod; Hemingway with his biographer; Janacek with his little nation; and Rabelais with his heirs - the great novelists. In the light of their wisdom this book examines some of the great situations of our time.

'A defence of fiction and a lesson in the art of reading' NEW YORK TIMES

The Scottish born actor Graeme Malcolm was brought up in London where he found his talent at oration at a young age. Malcolm is an accomplished actor on stage and screen, as well as being a popular narrator. He has made Broadway appearances in plays such as Equus, The Real Thing and the musicals Aida and The King and I. Graeme's most recent television appearance was in Boardwalk Empire and much of his career has been devoted to the recording of audiobooks.

A CANONGATE RECORDING IN PARTNERSHIP WITH FABER AND FABER

ISBN 978-1-47124-336-3

This Recording is Unabridged. Typically Abridged audiobooks are not more than 60% of the author's work and as low as 30% with characters and plotlines removed.

Unabridged

7 compact discs (Approx 7.75 Hours)

Narrated by Graeme Malcolm

© 1993 Milan Kundera

English Translation © Linda Asher 1995

All adaptations of the work for film, theatre, television and radio are strictly prohibited.

Original French title: Les testaments trahis

The moral right of the author has been asserted

© 2013 Canongate Books Ltd in partnership with Faber and Faber Ltd

Modern Fiction

W. F. HOWES LTD. Unit 4, Rearsby Business Park, Gaddesby Lane, Rearsby, Leicester, LE7 4YH

Tel: 01664 423018 Email: books@wholestoryaudiobooks.co.uk

www.wholestoryaudiobooks.co.uk

WITH TRACKS EVERY 3 MINUTES FOR EASY BOOK MARKING