

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
List of Figures	xiii
List of Tables	xv
Notes on Contributors	xvii
1 Populists and the Pandemic: How Populists Around the World Responded to COVID-19 Nils Ringe and Lucio Rennó	1
2 The United States: Trump, Populism, and the Pandemic Kenneth M. Roberts	19
3 Mexico: A Politically Effective Populist Pandemic Response Nicolás de la Cerda and Cecilia Martinez-Gallardo	29
4 Brazil: "We Are All Going To Die One Day" Frederico Bertholini	44
5 Argentina: Peronism and Inclusionary Populist Adaptation to the Pandemic Germán Lodola and Luisina Perelmiter	57
6 The United Kingdom: The Pandemic and the Tale of Two Populist Parties Tim Bale	68

7	Spain: Different Populist Responses with Similar (and Limited) Outcomes	79
	Carolina Plaza-Colodro and Nicolás Miranda Olivares
8	Italy: The Diverging Strategies of the Populist Radical Right During the Pandemic	92
	Lisa Zanotti and Carlos Meléndez
9	Poland: When Populists Must Manage Crisis Instead of Performing It	105
	Ben Stanley
10	Hungary: Creeping Authoritarianism in the Name of Pandemic Response	117
	Agnes Batory
11	Turkey: Governing the Unpredictable through Market Imperative	127
	Evren Balta and Soli Özel
12	Indonesia: From the Pandemic Crisis to Democratic Decline	138
	Eunsook Jung
13	India: The Good, the Bad, and the Deadly Consequences of India's Pandemic Response	148
	Saloni Bhogale and Pavithra Suryanarayan
14	The Philippines: Penal Populism and Pandemic Response	162
	Paul D. Kenny and Ronald Holmes
15	Russia: Muddling Through Populism and the Pandemic	173
	Anton Shirikov, Valeriia Umanets and Yoshiko Herrera
16	Nicaragua: Populist Performance and Authoritarian Practice During COVID-19	184
	Rachel A. Schwartz and Kai M. Thaler
17	Venezuela: A Populist Legacy and Authoritarian Response	196
	Caitlin Andrews-Lee
18	Tanzania: Narrating the Eradication of COVID-19	207
	Dan Paget

19	South Africa: From Populist Inertia to Insurrection Ryan Brunette and Benjamin Fogel	218
20	France: Balancing Respectability and Radicalization in a Pandemic Marta Lorimer and Ethan vanderWilden	228
21	Germany: The Alternative for Germany in the COVID-19 Pandemic Marcel Lewandowsky, Christoph Leonhardt and Andreas Blätte	237
22	Belgium: Against the Government and Its Parties, (Not So Much) with the People Judith Sijstermans and Steven M. Van Hauwaert	250
23	The Netherlands: Divergent Paths for the Populist Radical Right Sarah L. de Lange	262
24	Conclusion Nils Ringe, Lucio Rennó and Cristóbal Rovira Kaltwasser	273
	Index	293