Introduction

A blend of Czech, German and Jewish cultural influences in the Czech lands has always created an ideal environment for the development of the arts, science and architecture – especially in Prague, the nucleus of Czech history. How could one day ever be enough to absorb a thousand years' worth of history?

Prague is not the only treasury of cultural and natural wealth in the Czech Republic. But it is an ideal base for trips to places that are living chronicles of European history and culture as well as to places where you can enjoy adrenaline-fueled experiences and explore unique natural land formations.

You won't regret it! If you are charmed at first sight by Prague, then you will fall in love with the Czech Republic for the rest of your life.
