

CONTENTS

Table of Cases	xxxi
Table of Statutes, Regulations and Rules	lxxxi
Table of Treaties and Conventions	xcix
Abbreviations	ci

1. Introduction and Modern Historical Outline

A. Introduction	1.01
B. Contract and Tort in English Product Liability Law	1.03
C. Winterbottom v Wright and Exceptions to the Early Rule of Non-liability	1.08
(1) Appliances on premises	1.13
(2) Inherently dangerous chattels	1.15
D. The Decision in Donoghue v Stevenson	1.18
E. The Movement Towards Strict Liability	1.24
F. Developments in the United States	1.29
(1) Introduction	1.29
(2) Developments before Macpherson v Buick Motor Co	1.30
(3) Express and implied warranties	1.36
(4) Strict liability and Restatement, Second, Torts § 402A	1.40
(5) Restatement, Third, Torts: Products Liability	1.43

I LIABILITY IN CONTRACT AND FOR MISREPRESENTATIONS

2. Privity of Contract

A. Introduction	2.01
B. Implications of Privity of Contract	2.03
(1) Dispensing with vertical privity requirements	2.07
(a) Business to business contracts	2.08
(b) Business to consumer contracts	2.09
(2) Dispensing with horizontal privity requirements	2.14
(3) The Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999	2.22

3. Express Warranties and Misrepresentations
A. Introduction	3.01
B. Liability as Between Sellers and Purchasers	3.02
(1) Puffs and statements of opinion	3.02
(2) Warranties and mere representations	3.05
(a) Representation or term: promissory intent, reliance, or basis of bargain	3.06
(b) Classification of terms: conditions, warranties, and innominate terms	3.14
(3) Liability for misrepresentations	3.18
(a) The Hedley Byrne case	3.19
(b) The Misrepresentation Act 1967	3.21
(4) Rescission and damages	3.25
(a) Rescission	3.25
(b) Damages	3.30
C. Liability as Between Manufacturers and Remote Consumers	3.38
(1) Express warranties in American law	3.38
(2) English and Commonwealth developments	3.46
(a) Contracts of sale	3.47
(b) Collateral contracts	3.48
(c) Commonwealth examples	3.51
(3) Manufacturers' guarantees	3.53
(a) Claims on guarantees	3.54
(b) Excluding liability	3.59
(c) Extended warranties	3.61
 4. Implied Terms as to Correspondence with Description, Satisfactory Quality, and Fitness for Purpose
A. Introduction	4.01
B. Contracts of Sale Distinguished from Other Transactions	4.02
(1) Near sales transactions and promotional gifts	4.03
(2) Contracts of exchange or barter	4.06
(3) Contracts for work and materials	4.07
(4) Contracts for services	4.11
(5) Contracts of hire-purchase and of hire	4.14
C. The Implied Condition of Correspondence with Description	4.17
(1) Representations, warranties, and descriptions	4.19
(2) When is a sale by description?	4.23
(3) Description, quality, fitness for purpose, and the effect of non-compliance	4.29
(4) Adopting a manufacturer's descriptions	4.37
(5) Private sales	4.38

D. The Implied Condition of Satisfactory Quality	4.39
(1) Introduction	4.39
(2) Sale in the course of a business	4.43
(3) Goods supplied under the contract	4.47
(4) Satisfactory quality	4.48
(a) The standard demanded	4.48
(b) Aspects of the quality of goods	4.56
(c) Modifications for consumer sales	4.75
(d) Second-hand goods	4.79
(5) Notification of defects and inspection	4.82
E. The Implied Condition of Reasonable Fitness for Purpose	4.85
(1) Introduction	4.85
(2) Making known a particular purpose	4.87
(3) Reasonable reliance on skill or judgment	4.92
(a) Partial reliance	4.96
(b) Purchases under patent or trade names	4.98
(4) Notification of defects and inspection	4.100
(5) The standard demanded	4.101
(6) Consumer sales	4.105
(7) The strict nature of contractual liability	4.107
 5. Remedies for Breach of the Implied Terms
A. Introduction	5.01
B. Commercial Sales	5.02
(1) Rejection, rescission, and repudiation	5.02
(2) Limits to the right to reject	5.04
(a) Rejection	5.05
(b) Slight breaches	5.06
(c) Examination and acceptance	5.07
C. Consumer Sales	5.19
(1) Introduction	5.19
(2) Additional rights of buyer	5.20
(3) Relationship to existing remedies	5.25
D. Other Transactions	5.29
E. Damages	5.33
 6. Exemption Clauses and Unfair Contract Terms
A. Introduction	6.01
B. Control Through the Requirements of Incorporation and the Common Law Rules of Construction	6.07
(1) Incorporation	6.07
(2) The contra proferentem rule	6.10

(3) Fundamental terms and fundamental breach	6.15
(a) Fundamental terms	6.16
(b) Fundamental breach	6.17
(c) The legal consequences of breach	6.18
C. Statutory Control of Exemption Clauses and Unfair Contract Terms	6.23
(1) Introduction	6.23
(2) The Unfair Contract Terms Act 1977	6.24
(a) The scope of control	6.24
(b) Varieties of exemption clause	6.25
(c) Dealing as consumer	6.30
(d) Dealing otherwise than as consumer	6.41
(3) Unfair Terms in Consumer Contracts Regulations 1999	6.53
(a) The scope and effect of the Regulations	6.53
(b) Unfair terms in consumer sales	6.55
(4) The Misrepresentation Act 1967	6.57

II STRICT LIABILITY IN TORT

7. Introduction to Strict Product Liability

A. Primary Cause of Action	7.01
B. Justification for Reform	7.06
(1) Thalidomide and the inadequacies of the tort of negligence	7.06
(2) Fault liability versus strict liability	7.07
C. Reform Proposals	7.09
(1) The proposals of the Law Commissions and Pearson Commission	7.09
(2) National European developments	7.11
(3) Council of Europe (Strasbourg) Convention on Products Liability	7.14
(4) Evolution of European Community Directive on Product Liability	7.16
D. Product Liability Directive	7.18
(1) General	7.18
(2) Basis for legislation	7.19
(3) Implementation of Product Liability Directive	7.21
(a) Member States' implementing laws	7.21
(b) Optional provisions	7.22
(c) Pre-existing laws of Member States	7.24
(d) A maximum harmonization Directive	7.25
(e) Interpretation of national implementing legislation	7.33

E. European Community Developments since the Product Liability Directive	7.37
(1) Initial reviews of the Directive	7.37
(2) Green Paper	7.40
(3) Second Commission Report	7.42
(4) Report on Product Liability in the European Union for the European Commission (February 2003)	7.47
F. Implementation of the Product Liability Directive in the United Kingdom: the Consumer Protection Act 1987	7.52
8. Persons Subject to Liability
A. Primary and Secondary Producers Distinguished	8.01
B. Primary Producers: Producer, Own-Brander, Importer	8.05
(1) Producer	8.05
(a) Definition	8.05
(b) Manufacturers	8.06
(c) Producers of non-manufactured products	8.11
(2) Products marketed under trade or brand names	8.16
(a) Definition and rationale	8.16
(b) Conditions for liability	8.18
(3) Importers from outside the Member States	8.26
(a) Definition and rationale	8.26
(b) Scope: imported into the Community	8.27
(c) Evaluation of policy	8.29
C. Secondary Producers: Suppliers	8.32
(1) General: subsidiary liability	8.32
(2) The broad definition of the term 'supplier'	8.34
(3) The requirement of a request	8.39
(4) Conditions concerning request	8.43
(a) General	8.43
(b) Reasonable time period	8.45
(5) Compliance with request	8.46
(6) Sellers of finished products	8.50
D. Supplying and Putting into Circulation	8.52
(1) Context in which issue arises	8.52
(2) The language of the Directive: putting into circulation	8.54
(3) Supply under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	8.60
(4) Special forms of supply	8.64
(a) Gas and water	8.64
(b) Finance agreements, including hire-purchase	8.65
(c) Ships, aircraft, and motor vehicles	8.66
(d) Continuation or renewal of hire or loan, etc	8.67
(e) Supply of goods incorporated into a building or structure	8.68

E. The Crown	8.69
(1) Liability in general	8.69
(2) Liability under Consumer Protection Act 1987	8.70
F. Joint and Several Liability	8.71
(1) Introduction and rationale	8.71
(2) Contribution and recourse	8.75
(3) Assessment of contribution: apportionment	8.80
(4) Indemnity	8.87
G. Persons Falling Outside the Scope of the 1987 Act	8.88
(1) Introduction	8.88
(2) Corporate personality	8.89
(a) The United Kingdom	8.89
(b) The position in the United States	8.91
(c) A brief comparison	8.100
9. Products within the Strict Liability Regime
A. Definitions of Product	9.01
B. Products to which Strict Liability Applies	9.05
(1) Primary agricultural and natural products	9.05
(a) Legislative history	9.05
(b) The views of law reform bodies and justifications for exclusion of primary agricultural produce	9.08
(c) Scope of exclusion prior to repeal	9.12
(d) Justifications for removing the exclusion of primary agricultural produce	9.19
(2) Immovables and building materials	9.21
(a) Nature of exclusion	9.21
(b) Building materials	9.24
(c) Should the Directive be extended to cover real property?	9.26
(3) Components and raw materials	9.33
(a) Arguments for and against justifying an exemption for component parts and raw materials	9.33
(b) Position under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	9.36
(c) Liability of component suppliers in the United States	9.37
(4) Ships and aircraft	9.41
(a) Ships	9.41
(b) Aircraft	9.42
(5) Medicinal products	9.44
(a) Historical background: a special case?	9.44
(b) European pharmaceutical product liability regimes	9.47
(c) Position under the Product Liability Directive and the Consumer Protection Act 1987	9.54
(d) Vaccine damage	9.58

(e) The position in the United States	9.61
(f) Human blood, plasma, human tissue and organs	9.68
(6) Intellectual Products	9.78
(a) Introduction	9.78
(b) Are intellectual products within the ambit of strict product liability?	9.80
(c) Advice	9.84
(d) Publications	9.87
(e) Computer software	9.97
(7) Electricity	9.104
(8) Nuclear installations	9.107
(9) Craft products	9.109
(10) Second-hand products and waste	9.110
(a) Liability of producers	9.110
(b) Liability of mere suppliers	9.116
(11) Cigarettes and tobacco products	9.122
 10. The Requirement of a Defect: Introductory Issues
A. Introduction	10.01
(1) Preliminary issues	10.01
(2) Proof that the product was defective	10.06
B. The Definition of a Defect	10.13
(1) General observations	10.13
(2) Alleged vagueness of defectiveness standard	10.18
(3) Overtones of a negligence standard	10.19
C. Consumer Expectations Versus Risk-Utility	10.20
(1) Introduction	10.20
(2) Consumer expectations	10.21
(a) General observations	10.21
(b) The experience of the United States	10.24
(3) Risk-utility	10.32
(a) General observations	10.32
(b) The experience of the United States	10.34
(c) Problems with risk-utility approach	10.40
D. Defectiveness under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	10.44
(1) Introduction	10.44
(2) Expectations of 'persons generally'	10.45
(3) Risks affecting safety	10.50
E. Circumstances Taken into Account in Assessing Defectiveness	10.51
(1) Introduction	10.51
(2) Express factors in determining defectiveness	10.52
(a) Marketing, presentation, instructions, and warnings	10.53
(b) Reasonably expected use	10.60

(c) Time of supply of product by producer to another	10.62
(3) Relevant but non-specified circumstances	10.68
(a) Obvious or hidden dangers	10.69
(b) Regulations and equivalent safety standards	10.75
(c) Cost and practicability of a safer design and risk-utility analysis	10.82
(4) Apparently irrelevant circumstances	10.83
F. Application of the Defectiveness Standard to the Alternative and Traditional Defect Taxonomies	10.90
(1) General observations	10.90
(2) An alternative to the classification of defects: Burton J's standard/non-standard product dichotomy in A v National Blood Authority	10.91
11. Manufacturing or Production Defects and Design Defects
A. Manufacturing or Production Defects	11.01
(1) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	11.01
(2) The experience of the United States	11.07
B. Design Defects	11.10
(1) General observations	11.10
(2) Problems in applying a consumer expectation test	11.15
(3) Design defects and risk-utility	11.19
(a) The dominance of the risk-utility test in design defect cases	11.19
(b) Problems with risk-utility and design defects in practice	11.20
(4) The cost and practicability of a safer design	11.23
(a) Consumer Protection Act 1987	11.23
(b) The experience of the United States	11.26
(5) Lessons from the American experience: the combining of consumer expectation and risk-utility tests	11.32
(a) General observations	11.32
(b) Defining one test in terms of the other	11.34
(c) Two independent 'prongs' of liability	11.36
(d) Choice of test linked to complexity of design	11.39
(e) Support for a continued consumer expectation–risk-utility approach for complex cases under Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	11.41
(6) The Restatement, Third, Torts: Products Liability and Design Defects	11.42
(7) Inherently dangerous products	11.47
(a) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	11.47
(b) The Restatements : Developments in the United States	11.49
(8) Foreseeable acts of third parties or victims	11.53
(a) General observations	11.53

(b) Tampering	11.55
(c) Modification, installation, or maintenance	11.56
(d) Design facilitating misuse	11.58
(e) Foreseeable product misuse by victim	11.59
(9) The position of third parties or bystanders	11.62
12. Defects in Warnings and Instructions for Use
A. Introduction	12.01
(1) Importance of warnings and instructions	12.01
(2) Relation between designs and warnings	12.04
(3) Functions of warnings	12.06
(4) Criticism of standards governing failure to warn	12.07
(5) Failure to warn in negligence and strict liability	12.08
(6) Unknown and unknowable risks	12.12
(7) Obvious risks	12.13
B. Strict Liability	12.14
(1) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	12.14
(2) Developments in the United States	12.21
(a) Circumstances in which duty to warn arises	12.21
(b) Consumer expectations	12.23
(c) Risk-utility: manufacturer's warning obligations limited by the present state of human knowledge	12.28
C. Persons to Be Warned	12.32
(1) Introduction	12.32
(2) Foreseeability of user doctrine	12.33
(3) Sophisticated or professional user doctrine	12.37
(a) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	12.37
(b) Developments in the United States	12.38
(4) Bystander doctrine	12.43
(5) Learned intermediary doctrine	12.45
(a) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	12.45
(b) Developments in the United States	12.51
(6) Allergic or idiosyncratic users	12.58
(a) General observations	12.58
(b) Idiosyncratic and allergic users distinguished	12.61
(c) 'Substantial' or 'appreciable' number test	12.62
D. Adequacy of Warnings	12.65
(1) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	12.65
(a) General factors	12.65
(b) Specific factors	12.66
(2) United States case law	12.70
(a) General factors	12.70

(b) Watered down or ambiguous language	12.73
(c) Undermining warning's effectiveness	12.74
(d) Bilingual warnings or universal symbols	12.75
E. The Causation Requirement	12.77
(1) Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987	12.77
(a) General observations	12.77
(b) Consumers' inattention to warnings	12.78
(c) A subjective test?	12.80
(2) Developments in the United States	12.81
(a) Requirements for cause of action	12.81
(b) Two-pronged causation test	12.84
(c) Presumptions	12.85
F. Strict Liability in Tort: No Post-Marketing Obligation to Warn of Subsequent Dangers	12.89
 13. Statutory Defences to Liability
A. Introduction	13.01
B. Compliance with Mandatory Statutory or Community Requirements	13.03
C. No Supply of the Product	13.06
(1) Introduction	13.06
(2) Some specific examples	13.08
D. Supply Otherwise than in the Course of a Business, etc	13.10
(1) Introduction	13.10
(2) First limb: otherwise than in the course of a business of that person's	13.12
(3) Second limb: things done otherwise than with a view to profit	13.13
E. Product not Defective at the Time of Supply	13.16
(1) Introduction	13.16
(2) Persons potentially liable under section 2(2) of the Act	13.17
(3) Mere suppliers potentially liable under section 2(3) of the Act	13.21
F. The Development Risk Defence	13.25
(1) Nature and scope of the defence	13.25
(a) Introduction	13.25
(b) Background and definition	13.26
(c) Some criticisms of the statutory wording	13.31
(d) Development risk and the state of the art defence	13.36
(e) Optional nature of the defence	13.39
(f) Member States which have derogated from the defence	13.40
(g) The relevant time at which to apply the test	13.42

(2) Infringement Proceedings in the European Court of Justice:
Commission v United Kingdom	13.44
(a) Initial stages	13.44
(b) Advocate General's opinion	13.47
(c) The judgment of the European Court of Justice	13.52
(3) European Commission reform proposals	13.59
(a) Green Paper	13.59
(b) Second Report	13.60
(c) Report on Product Liability in the European Union for the European Commission (February 2003)	13.61
(4) Defects which might be expected to be discovered	13.62
(a) General observations	13.62
(b) Discoverability and economic feasibility	13.64
(c) Discoverability of unknown and unknowable defects	13.65
(d) Defects hidden from view by limited scientific and technical knowledge	13.77
(e) Defects hidden from view by limited general knowledge	13.78
(5) The meaning and implications of scientific and technical knowledge	13.79
(a) General observations	13.79
(b) The constituents of knowledge	13.82
(c) Knowledge in the context of an adverse drug reaction	13.85
(d) Knowledge and accessibility	13.86
(e) The example of thalidomide	13.88
(6) Defects which are known of, but undetectable in any particular case	13.91
(a) Introduction	13.91
(b) Defects which are undetectable	13.93
(c) Comparative jurisprudence	13.98
(d) Conclusions	13.104
G. Component Producers	13.106
(1) Introduction	13.106
(2) First limb: defect in subsequent product	13.108
(3) Second limb: wholly attributable to the design of the subsequent product, etc	13.110

III LIABILITY IN TORT FOR NEGLIGENCE

14. The Producer's Liability in Negligence

A. Introduction	14.01
B. The Donoghue v Stevenson Principle	14.02
(1) Products	14.03
(2) Claimants	14.05
(3) Producers and other defendants	14.07

C. Product Liability and the General Law of Negligence	14.09
D. Types of Defects and the Standard to be Applied	14.16
(1) Introduction	14.16
(2) The standard to be applied	14.17
E. Manufacturing or Production Defects	14.27
(1) Introduction	14.27
(2) Foreign objects and substances	14.28
(3) Impurities and natural substances	14.29
(4) Weak or defective materials	14.32
(5) Assembly and construction	14.33
(6) Containers and packaging	14.34
(7) Manufacturers of components and materials	14.36
(8) Liability of manufacturers of end products for components, containers, and processing	14.38
(a) The duty to exercise reasonable care	14.38
(b) Non-delegable duties	14.41
F. Design Defects	14.48
(1) Introduction	14.48
(2) Materials and ingredients	14.50
(a) Materials of insufficient strength or durability	14.50
(b) Inflammable, explosive, and corrosive materials	14.53
(c) Materials carrying long-term health hazards	14.55
(d) Medicinal products	14.56
(e) Animal feeding compounds and medicines	14.57
(f) Fertilizers, herbicides, insecticides, etc	14.58
(3) Design specifications and concealed dangers	14.59
(4) Absence of safety features and devices	14.63
(a) Motor vehicle design	14.64
(b) Other areas	14.73
(5) Components	14.77
G. Defects in Warnings and Instructions for Use	14.78
(1) Introduction	14.78
(2) Warnings and instructions when the product is marketed	14.79
(a) The need for adequate warnings and instructions	14.79
(b) Some factors affecting the need for and adequacy of warnings	14.95
(3) Warnings of subsequently discovered dangers	14.116
H. Proof of Negligence	14.124
(1) Introduction	14.124
(2) Two possible exceptions	14.125
(a) Liability under Rylands v Fletcher	14.126
(b) Inherently dangerous chattels	14.127
(3) The duty to test, inspect, and discover	14.130
(4) The safety record of the product	14.139

(a) Absence of previous accidents	14.139
(b) Previous accidents	14.141
(c) Subsequent accidents and remedial measures	14.142
(5) Industrial, regulatory, and statutory standards	14.145
(a) Introduction	14.145
(b) Industrial standards	14.146
(c) Regulatory and statutory standards	14.147
15. The Liability in Negligence of Persons Other than Producers
A. Introduction	15.01
B. Basic Duties Common to all who Supply or Control the Use of a Product	15.02
(1) The duty to refrain from deceit	15.02
(2) The duty to disclose known dangers	15.04
(3) The duty not to supply a dangerous article into irresponsible hands	15.06
C. The Liability of Particular Persons or Bodies	15.08
(1) Retailers	15.08
(2) Product hire or lease	15.14
(3) Donors and gratuitous bailors	15.16
(4) Intermediate distributors and importers	15.18
(5) Repairers, servicers, reconditioners, assemblers, installers, and contractors	15.23
(6) Product designers	15.25
(7) Inspectors, engineers, certifiers, testing agencies, endorsers, and persons occupying a similar position	15.28
(8) Building contractors and builder-vendors	15.34
 IV LIABILITY IN TORT: ISSUES COMMON TO STRICT LIABILITY AND LIABILITY IN NEGLIGENCE
16. The Types of Damage or Loss Compensated
A. Introduction	16.01
B. Death and Personal Injury	16.05
(1) Introduction	16.05
(2) Psychiatric injury and illness	16.11
(3) Pre-natal and pre-conception injuries	16.19
(4) Allergies and peculiar susceptibilities	16.27
C. Damage to or Loss of Property	16.32
(1) Introduction	16.32
(2) Damage to property	16.33
(3) Loss of property	16.38
(4) The type of property lost or damaged	16.42

(5) The £275 or 500 ECU limit	16.47
(6) The lack of a financial or global ceiling	16.50
(7) Damage to the defective product, averting dangers, the costs of repair, sub-standard goods, and related matters	16.52
(a) Introduction	16.52
(b) The position in the United Kingdom	16.55
(c) Contrasting Canadian decisions	16.76
(d) Developments in the United States	16.82
(8) Summary	16.90

17. Causation, Remoteness of Damage and Defences

A. Causation and Remoteness of Damage	17.01
(1) Introduction	17.01
(2) Causation in fact	17.04
(a) Introduction	17.04
(b) Proving a causal link between product and damage	17.05
(c) 'But-for' test	17.14
(d) Reducing difficulties of proving causation: material contribution and material increase in risk, alternative causation and multiple or indeterminate defendants	17.20
(e) Loss of a chance	17.37
(f) Defective condition of product must be traced to manufacturer	17.42
(g) Proof that the defendant is the manufacturer	17.45
(3) Remoteness of damage	17.57
(a) Preliminary points	17.57
(b) General principles	17.58
(c) 'Scope of the duty' of care, 'scope of liability' and purpose of the relevant cause of action	17.63
(d) Product liability cases and remoteness	17.64
(e) Supervening causes: intervening acts of third parties	17.67
(f) Intermediate examination	17.72
(g) Failure to warn and causation	17.84
(4) Strict liability and causation under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	17.87
(a) General principles	17.87
(b) Onus of proof	17.88
(c) Intermediate examination	17.94
(d) Remoteness	17.95
(5) Conclusion	17.96
B. Contributory Negligence and Abnormal Use	17.98
(1) Introduction	17.98
(2) Claims in negligence	17.101
(3) Contributory fault and strict liability	17.104

C. Voluntary Assumption of Risk: Knowledge and Exemption Clauses	17.109
(1) Voluntary assumption of risk	17.109
(a) Claims in negligence	17.109
(b) Claims under the 1987 Act	17.110
(2) Knowledge of the claimant	17.112
(a) Claims in negligence	17.112
(b) Claims under the 1987 Act	17.114
(3) Exemption and limitation clauses	17.115
D. Limitation Periods	17.117
(1) Introduction	17.117
(2) Claims under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	17.118
(a) General observations	17.118
(b) Personal injuries	17.119
(c) Death: claims under the Fatal Accidents Act 1976	17.125
(d) Loss of or damage to property	17.126
(e) The ten-year long-stop	17.129
(3) Claims in negligence	17.137
(a) Personal injuries and death	17.137
(b) Damage to property and economic loss	17.138
(4) Law Commission recommendations	17.145

V CONFLICT OF LAWS

18. Product Liability and the Conflict of Laws

A. Introduction	18.01
B. The Jurisdiction of English Courts: General Comment	18.02
C. The European Regime of Jurisdiction	18.03
(1) Introduction	18.03
(2) The Brussels I Regulation and the Brussels and Lugano Conventions: which scheme applies?	18.05
(3) Intra-United Kingdom jurisdiction disputes	18.07
(4) Scope of discussion: the Brussels I Regulation	18.08
(5) Interpretative methodology	18.09
(6) A hierarchical system	18.10
(7) The Regulation applied	18.11
(a) Scope	18.11
(b) Other Conventions	18.13
(c) Exclusive jurisdiction	18.14
(d) Submission	18.15
(e) Insurance contracts	18.16
(f) Consumer contracts	18.17
(g) Employment contracts	18.25

(h) Jurisdiction clauses	18.26
(i) The defendant's domicile	18.29
(j) Derogation to the common law	18.35
(k) Special jurisdiction	18.36
(l) Identical or related proceedings elsewhere; the court first seised rule	18.72
(m) A residual discretion to stay proceedings?	18.80
D. Jurisdiction at Common Law	18.82
(1) General comment	18.82
(2) Service as of right	18.83
(a) General comment	18.83
(b) Territorial connection	18.84
(c) Submission	18.88
(3) Staying proceedings where the court has jurisdiction as of right	18.89
(a) The Spilada test	18.89
(b) The first limb of the test	18.90
(c) The place of the tort and the natural forum	18.96
(d) The second limb of the Spilada test	18.101
(4) Staying proceedings where the parties have contractually agreed to litigate in a non-Member State	18.103
(5) Jurisdiction by service of the claim form out of the jurisdiction with the permission of the court: CPR, r 6.20	18.104
(a) General comment	18.104
(b) CPR, r 6.20(3): co-defendants	18.105
(c) CPR, r 6.20(5)–(7): contractual claims	18.107
(d) CPR, r 6.20(8): tortious claims	18.108
(e) The exercise of the court's discretion to permit service out of the jurisdiction	18.122
E. Reverse Forum Shopping: Anti-Suit Injunctions and Negative Declaratory Relief	18.126
(1) Introduction	18.126
(2) Anti-suit injunctions	18.127
(a) Nature	18.127
(b) Where proceedings may be brought in a non-Member State or in England	18.128
(c) Proceedings are brought in a non-Member State and the English courts are not available	18.129
(d) The overseas proceedings are in breach of an English jurisdiction clause	18.132
(e) Restraint of proceedings in a European Member State	18.135
(3) The declaration of non-liability	18.136
(a) Nature	18.136
(b) Jurisdiction	18.137
(c) The grant of relief	18.138

F. Jurisdiction to Grant Interim Relief in Support of Overseas Proceedings	18.139
(1) General remark	18.139
(2) Substantive proceedings in a European Member State	18.140
(3) Substantive proceedings in a non-Member State	18.141
(4) Discretion to refuse interim relief	18.142
(5) Enforcement of interim awards	18.143
G. Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Judgments	18.144
(1) The schemes of recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments	18.144
(2) Recognition or enforcement?	18.145
(3) Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments under the European regime	18.146
(4) Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments under the statutory schemes and at common law	18.149
(5) Intra-United Kingdom judgments	18.151
(6) The effect of foreign judgments in an English court	18.152
(a) Cause of action estoppel	18.153
(b) Issue estoppel	18.154
H. Choice of Law—General Remarks	18.155
(1) Substance and procedure: proof of foreign law	18.155
(2) Classification	18.156
I. Choice of Law in Tort	18.157
(1) Introduction	18.157
(2) The common law	18.158
(a) General rule	18.158
(b) Exceptions	18.159
(c) Common law rules applicable to defamation claims and torts pre-dating the Act	18.160
(3) Statutory reform: The Private International Law (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1995, Part III	18.161
(a) Introduction	18.161
(b) The scope of the Act	18.162
(c) Torts occurring in England	18.169
(d) The governing law: general rule	18.170
(e) Application of the general rule to product liability	18.172
(f) Displacement of the general rule	18.178
(g) Application of the exception to product liability	18.181
(h) Exclusion of the doctrine of renvoi	18.183
(i) Limits on the role of the governing law	18.184
(4) Contractual defences to tort claims: manufacturer purports to exclude liability to purchaser in tort	18.188

J. Choice of Law in Contract	18.190
(1) The legislation	18.191
(2) Scope of the Convention; specific exclusions	18.193
(3) The applicable law	18.194
(a) Express or implied choice	18.194
(b) Limit on freedom of choice	18.195
(c) Changing the governing law	18.196
(d) The applicable law in the absence of choice: characteristic performance	18.197
(4) Exclusion of renvoi	18.199
(5) Essential validity	18.200
(6) Scope of the applicable law	18.201
(a) 'Interpretation'	18.202
(b) 'Performance'	18.203
(c) 'Within the limits of the powers conferred on the court by its procedural law, the consequences of breach, including the assessment of damages in so far as it is governed by rules of law'	18.204
(d) 'The various ways of extinguishing obligations and prescription and limitation of actions'	18.206
(7) Formal validity: commercial contracts	18.207
(8) Consumer contracts	18.208
(a) 'Consumer contracts': the pre-conditions	18.209
(b) Choice of law upheld but subject to the mandatory rules of the consumer's habitual residence	18.212
(c) No choice of law	18.214
(d) Formal validity of consumer contracts	18.215
(9) Mandatory rules and public policy	18.216
(a) Introduction	18.216
(b) Mandatory rules	18.217
(c) Public policy	18.222
K. The Application of the Unfair Contract Terms Act 1977 in International Product Liability Cases	18.223
(1) Relevance and importance to product liability	18.223
(2) Exclusion of certain international sale of goods contracts: section 26	18.225
(3) The ambit of UCTA: section 27	18.227
(a) Contracts governed by the law of the United Kingdom only by virtue of a choice of law by the parties	18.227
(b) Application of UCTA notwithstanding a choice of the law of a foreign state	18.228

L. The Ambit of the Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987 in Cross-Border Matters	18.231
(1) The territorial scope of the Product Liability Directive	18.231
(a) The Product Liability Directive	18.231
(b) The Consumer Protection Act 1987	18.232
(2) Are the rules contained in the Product Liability Directive and Consumer Protection Act 1987 domestic mandatory rules, international mandatory rules or neither?	18.233
(a) Construction	18.233
(b) Application	18.236

VI PRODUCT SAFETY AND THE CRIMINAL LAW

19. Provisions Covering General Product Safety
A. Introduction	19.01
B. Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974	19.02
C. Consumer Protection Act 1987, Part II	19.03
(1) Introduction	19.03
(2) Safety regulations	19.04
(3) Prohibition notices and notices to warn	19.07
(4) Suspension notices and forfeiture orders	19.10
(5) Defences, common-form provisions, and enforcement	19.12
D. General Product Safety	19.15
(1) Introduction	19.15
(2) Section 10 of the 1987 Act and the general safety requirement	19.16
(3) The General Product Safety Regulations	19.18
(4) Directive 2001/95/EC on general product safety	19.19
(a) Introduction	19.19
(b) Relationship with sectoral directives	19.20
(c) Products covered	19.21
(d) Definition of a 'safe product'	19.23
(e) Presumptions of conformity	19.28
(f) Definitions of 'producer' and 'distributor'	19.31
(g) Obligations of producers and distributors	19.33
(h) Withdrawal and recall of products	19.37
(i) Exchange of information and rapid intervention situations	19.42
(j) Delayed implementation	19.43

Contents

---

Appendix 1 Extracts From Consumer Protection Act 1987	895
Appendix 2 Council Directive 85/374/EEC of 25 July 1985 on the approximation of the laws, regulations and administrative provisions of the member states concerning liability for defective products	915
Appendix 3 Directive 2001/95/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 3 December 2001 on general product safety	923
Index	941