

Contents

Preface..... iii

List of Abbreviationsx

Overview: East Asia in 20091

1. US Policy toward East Asia under the Obama Administration3

2. China: Development amid Contradictions5

3. The Growing Momentum toward Nuclear Disarmament.....7

Chapter 1: New Trends toward Nuclear Disarmament.....9

1. The Growing Momentum toward Nuclear Disarmament.....12

 (1) Nuclear Disarmament Proposals and President Obama’s Prague Speech12

 (2) Japan’s Position on the Issue of Nuclear Disarmament.....16

2. Steps Toward Nuclear Disarmament Taken by Nuclear-Weapon States18

 (1) Voluntary Steps to Disarmament taken by the United States and Russia18

 (2) US-Russian Negotiations on a Follow-up Treaty to START I.....20

 (3) Approaches to Nuclear Arms of the United Kingdom, France, and China27

3. Moves to Enforce the CTBT29

4. The Impact of Nuclear Disarmament on International Security32

 (1) Disarmament and the “Nuclear Umbrella”32

 (2) The Issue of “First Use” and “No First Use” of Nuclear Weapons35

Chapter 2: Pakistan’s Fight against Terrorism39

1. Islam and Politics in Pakistan.....42

2. Pakistan’s Perception of the Strategic Environment, and Its Support for Militants.....45

 (1) The Importance of Afghanistan for Pakistan.....45

 (2) Afghanistan and Kashmir—Jihad on Two Fronts.....48

 (3) Reorienting Relationships with the Militants following 9/1150

Contents

3. The Rise of Islamism and Terrorism in the Tribal Areas.....53

 (1) Administration in the Tribal Areas53

 (2) Politics in the NWFP and Pashtun Nationalism.....56

 (3) Inconclusive Military Operations in Waziristan.....58

 (4) Successful Military Operations in Swat.....60

4. The Current PPP Government and the Fight against Terrorism.....62

Chapter 3: The Korean Peninsula—Strengthened Military-First Politics and “Grand Bargain” Proposal.....69

1. Deepening Crisis of Six-Party Talks72

 (1) North Korea’s Missile Launches and Nuclear Test.....72

 (2) North Korea’s Reversion to the “China Card”.....77

 (3) Strengthening Military Cooperation with Myanmar.....80

 (4) Maintenance of Hard Line against South Korea and Japan81

2. Accelerated Solidification of the Regime.....83

 (1) Start of Preparations for Succession.....83

 (2) Accelerated Solidification of the Regime to Create a Strong and Prosperous Great Power.....87

3. South Korea: Proposal of “Grand Bargain” with North.....89

 (1) Efforts to Resolve North Korean Nuclear Problem and Lack of Results89

 (2) Announcement of Joint Vision for US-ROK Alliance91

 (3) Defense Reform Master Plan Focused on North Korea’s Nuclear and Missile Capabilities95

Chapter 4: China—Insecurity amid a Rise to Great Power Status99

1. Contradictions Confronting the “Chinese Nation”.....102

 (1) Ethnic Issue Erupts in China’s Sixtieth Anniversary Year102

 (2) Improvements and Limits in Relations with Taiwan106

2. The Financial Crisis: A Mixture of Opportunities and Challenges.....111

 (1) The Chinese Economy on the Road to Recovery111

 (2) A “Positive, Cooperative, and Comprehensive” US-China
Relationship.....115

 (3) Assertive Diplomacy as an Emerging Power.....119

3. The PLA's Display of Confidence	124
(1) China's Deepening Faith in Its Military Power.....	124
(2) Change in Military Strategies.....	126
(3) Enhancement of the Core Military Capability	129
(4) Progress in Organizational Reform	133
Chapter 5: Southeast Asia—Signs of a Changing Myanmar Problem.....	137
1. Domestic Political Change in Southeast Asia	140
(1) Myanmar at a Crossroads—Dialogue with the United States; Nuclear Suspicions	140
(2) Increased Stability in Indonesia following the Presidential Election.....	146
(3) Political Chaos Continuing in Thailand.....	149
2. Moves toward an ASEAN Community	152
(1) Roadmap to an ASEAN Community.....	152
(2) The Launching of an ASEAN Human Rights Body.....	156
(3) Reform of the ARF	157
(4) Progress by the ASEAN Defence Ministers Meeting.....	159
3. Military Trends in Southeast Asia since the Global Economic Crisis.....	162
(1) Southeast Asia as a Weapons Market and as a Base for Defense Manufacturing and Development.....	162
(2) Greater Military Cooperation in the Area of Non-Traditional Security.....	166
Chapter 6: Russia—Formulation of a New National Security Strategy.....	171
1. New Challenges for “Tandem” Governance.....	174
(1) The Russian Economy: Hit Hard by the Financial and Economic Crisis	174
(2) Manual Control by Prime Minister Putin	178
(3) Formulation of National Security Strategy through to 2020	180
(4) The Pursuit of Strategic Parity in Relations with the United States	183
2. Probing for an Independent East Asian Policy	187
(1) China-Russia Relations Enter a New Phase	187

Contents

- (2) Investing in the East Asian Energy Market190
 - (3) Prime Minister Putin’s Visit to Japan and Cooperation on Resources between Japan and Russia.....194
- 3. The Formulation of a New Military Strategy and Efforts by the Russian Military to Enhance its Capabilities197
 - (1) Developments Surrounding the Formulation of a New Version of Military Doctrine.....197
 - (2) Gradual Progress in Military Innovation.....198
 - (3) Stepped Up Military Exercises in the West and Southwest.....201
 - (4) Strengthening External Military Cooperation.....204
 - (5) Seeking Wider Marketing Channels for Weapons Exports;
Issues Facing the Defense Industry205

- Chapter 7: The United States—The Obama Administration Strives for Change209
 - 1. The Afghanistan-Pakistan Issue Receives Top Priority212
 - (1) A New Strategy for Afghanistan and Pakistan212
 - (2) United States’ Afghanistan-Pakistan Strategy Faces Critical
Test218
 - (3) Issues and Prospects Going Forward.....221
 - 2. The Obama Administration’s Defense Policy and Future
Developments223
 - (1) Rethinking of Major Weapons Procurement Plans.....223
 - (2) Adapting to Irregular Warfare, and Balancing Present and Future Needs.....228
 - (3) Moves Toward Nuclear Disarmament and the Reexamination of the Proposed Missile Defense Systems in Europe230
 - 3. Change and Continuity in the United States’ East Asian Policy234
 - (1) United States Puts Focus on East Asia234
 - (2) Relationships with the countries of East Asia235

- Chapter 8: Japan—Security Policy under a New Government243
 - 1. Impact of Change of Government246
 - (1) Civilian Involvement in Afghanistan.....246

(2) Review of National Defense Program Guidelines.....	250
(3) Recent Development of Japan-US Relations: The Issue of the Relocation of MCAS Futenma	254
2. Japan's Security and Extended Deterrence.....	256
(1) The Growing Awareness of the Nuclear Weapons Issue	256
(2) Future Questions relating to Extended Deterrence under the Japan-US Alliance	259
3. North Korea's Nuclear and Missile Development and Japan's Security	262
(1) North Korea's Missile Launch, and Japan's Issuance of a Ballistic Missile Destruction Order	262
(2) Developments in International Cooperation—UNSC Resolution 1874 and Its Implementation.....	264
(3) Future Handling of the North Korean Nuclear Issue— The Importance of Cooperation between Japan, the United States, and South Korea	266

Commentaries and References

The Fissile Material Cutoff Treaty	15
Strengthening of Military-first Politics in 2009 revisions of the North Korean Constitution	84
Operations by the South Korean Navy to Eradicate Piracy in the Sea off Somalia.....	98
Domestic Production in China of Large Military Transport Aircraft	136
Elements of Cooperation in the ASEAN Political-Security Community (Excerpts)	153
“ARF Concept and Principles of Preventive Diplomacy” (Outline).....	159
Russia's View of the Increasing Importance of the Arctic	196
Mine Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) Vehicles.....	227
The Changing Security Environment and the Role of Forward-Deployed Military Forces	268