

CONTENTS

About the Author	ix
Foreword by Glenda Walsh	x
INTRODUCTION	1
About this Book	1
Aims of the Book	2
Early Years Practice in Context	3
PART 1 EARLY INFLUENCES	13
John Locke and the Emergence of Empiricism	14
Jean-Jacques Rousseau and the Concept of 'Child'	18
Johann Pestalozzi and the Importance of Nature	22
Friedrich Froebel and the Importance of Play	26
Rachel and Margaret McMillan and Social Reform	30
The Psychodynamic Tradition	33
Rudolf Steiner and the Changing Needs of Children	40
Maria Montessori: The Environment and Learning	44
PART 2 MODERN INFLUENCES	51
John Dewey and Child-centred Education	52
Burrhus Skinner and the Behaviourists	56
Jean Piaget: An Enduring Legacy	61
Lev Vygotsky: Learning and Social Constructivism	68
John Bowlby and Early Attachment	74
Albert Bandura and Social Learning Theory	78
Urie Bronfenbrenner: Learning in the Wider Context	82
Jerome Bruner and Constructivism	87
Howard Gardner and Theories of Multiple Intelligence	93
Reuven Feuerstein and Instrumental Enrichment	98
Nel Noddings and the Ethics of Care	102
Te Whāriki	105
Loris Malaguzzi and Reggio Emilia	108
Carol Dweck and Children's Mindsets	113
Guy Claxton: Building Learning Power	116

PART 3 CHALLENGES FOR THEORISTS IN A CHANGING WORLD	121
The Realities of Childhood Today	122
Emotional Intelligence	123
How Children Play	124
Learning and the Brain	127
The Emergence of Digital Learning	130
Glossary	135
Index	137