

---

Contents

---

Introduction	1
1 Assumptions, explanations, standpoint	4
1.1 Constitutionalism as a discourse	4
1.2 The (semi)peripheral perspective	15
1.3 A post-Marxist critical approach	26
2 (Demo-)liberal constitutionalism—genealogy and hegemony	34
2.1 Revolution—Westernization-Americanization	34
2.2 The Enlightenment and the theological roots of hegemonic solutions	44
2.3 Hegemony	52
3 The crisis of (demo-)liberal constitutionalism	64
3.1 The crisis—attempts at a diagnosis	64
3.2 Illiberalism—a (semi)peripheral version	77
3.3 The dispute over the nature of illiberal constitutionalism	82
4 COVID-19 as a Derridean specter	91
4.1 Hauntology and biopolitics	91
4.2 The pandemic—exceptional solutions and the illiberal narrative	96
4.3 The pandemic and panopticism	103
5 The reaction and possible future developments	110
5.1 Hysteria and the metaphysical defense of a phantasm	110
5.2 Scenarios	117
Conclusion	126
Index	131