

Contents

| | | |
|----------------------------|---|-----|
| Introduction to the Series | | |
| | Frederick E. Hoxie | vii |
| Editor's Preface | | ix |
| Part One | Recent Trends | 3 |
| Chapter 1 | Indians and the Numbers Game: Quantitative Methods in Native American History Melissa L. Meyer and Russell Thornton | 5 |
| Chapter 2 | American Indian Women: Reaching Beyond the Myth Deborah Welch | 31 |
| Chapter 3 | Riel, Red River, and Beyond: New Developments in Métis History Dennis F. K. Madill | 49 |
| Chapter 4 | In Search of Multisided Frontiers: Recent Writing on the History of the Southern Plains Willard Rollings | 79 |
| Chapter 5 | Indians and the Law George S. Grossman | 97 |
| Chapter 6 | Scholars and Twentieth-Century Indians: Reassessing the Recent Past James Riding In | 127 |
| Part Two | Emerging Fields | 151 |
| Chapter 7 | The Importance of Language Study for the Writing of Plains Indian History Douglas R. Parks | 153 |

| | | |
|------------------|---|-----|
| Chapter 8 | That Other Discipline: Economics and American Indian History Ronald L. Trosper | 199 |
| Chapter 9 | Toward a History of Indian Religion: Religious Changes in Native Societies Robert Brightman | 223 |
| The Contributors | | 250 |
| Index | | 251 |