

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword	xiii
 INTRODUCTORY NOTE
THE LEGAL STRUCTURE AND THE ECONOMIC NATURE OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY	1
1. The legal structure of intellectual property	2
(a) Intellectual property: The branch of law that protects business differentiating intangible assets	2
(b) The intrinsically exclusive nature of intellectual property	12
2. The economic nature of intellectual property	13
(a) The economic function of intellectual property: To promote the creation and the preservation of business differentiation	13
(b) Intellectual property and the reduction of transaction costs	18
3. Intellectual property: a spontaneous legal tool that has embedded the structural fabric of every organized society since the dawn of civilization	22
 THE TRIPS REGIME OF ANTITRUST INTRODUCTION	31
1. Industrial property, an integral element of competition policy	31
(a) The first level of interoperability: Industrial property needs antitrust law	31
(b) The second level of interoperability: Antitrust law needs industrial property	32
(c) A special note on the interface between patent and competition law	33
(i) Patents and monopolies	34
(ii) Abuses of patent rights	42
(d) Patents and trademarks at a crossroads	45
(e) Industrial property, competition law and repression of unfair competition	47
	 vii

PART I
GENERAL PROVISIONS AND BASIC PRINCIPLES	48
Article 6
Exhaustion	49
1. The meaning of Article 6	51
2. Exhaustion	55
3. The legal implications of international exhaustion	64
4. A third modality of exhaustion: controlled international exhaustion	73
Article 7
Objectives	75
1. The scope and the meaning of Article 7	77
2. Transfer and dissemination of technology	83
3. The meaning of the expression ‘balance of rights and obligations’	89
Article 8
Principles	103
Paragraph 2	106
PART II
STANDARDS CONCERNING THE AVAILABILITY, SCOPE AND USE OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS	111
Section 2: Trademarks	115
Article 21
Licensing and Assignment	115
1. The scope of Article 21	115
2. Quality control	119
3. Compulsory licenses of trademarks	121
4. Compulsory assignments of trademarks	122
5. Alternative solutions to trademark compulsory licensing	125
(a) Prohibitions of use and cancellation of registration	125
(b) Limitations on injunctions	125
6. The implementation of Article 21	133

Section 5: Patents	137
Article 31
Other Use Without Authorization of the Right Holder	137
Paragraph (k)	137
1. The legislative history of Article 31(k)	137
2. Compulsory licenses and antitrust law	139
3. Remuneration	142
4. Adjudication	142
Paragraph (l)	143
Article 32
Revocation/Forfeiture	149
1. The meaning and the scope of Article 32	151
2. Revocation or forfeiture of patents to remedy antitrust violations. Divestiture and the fruits doctrine	156
Section 8: Control of Anti-Competitive Practices in Contractual Licences	161
Article 40	161
1. The meaning and scope of Article 40	162
2. Legislative history of Article 40	163
3. An exhaustive or indicative list of antitrust practices? The different approaches to this matter and the impact of the language of article 40.2 on the freedom of members to address it	165
4. International cooperation in the field of antitrust violations in licensing agreements	179
5. Work in the WTO on the interface between intellectual property and antitrust	183
THE TRIPS REGIME OF UNDISCLOSED INFORMATION	189
Section 7: Protection of Undisclosed Information	189
Article 39	189
Paragraph 1	189
1. Introduction	189
2. The legislative history of Article 10 bis of the Paris Convention	191
(a) Legislative history	191

(b) Does Article 10 bis of the Paris Convention provide for mandatory protection of trade secrets?	200
(c) Conclusions	204
3. Do paragraphs 1 and 2 cover different subject matter?	206
Paragraph 2	207
1. The legislative history of Article 39.2 of the TRIPS agreement	207
2. Protection of trade secrets under Article 39.2	224
3. Protection of confidential information in court procedures	237
Paragraph 3	240
1. The legislative history of Article 39.3	240
(a) The origins of the protection of test data	240
(b) The legislative history of Article 39.3	243
(i) Proposals on test data in the first round of discussions (1987–1990)	243
(ii) Proposals on test data in the second (and last) round of negotiations	250
2. Economic and social constraints over protection of test data	259
3. The scope, the reach and the application of Article 39.3	263
(a) Test data protection under Article 39.3 of the TRIPS Agreement: a sui generis mechanism	263
(b) Protection of undisclosed test data against unfair commercial use is mandatory as regards pharmaceutical and agricultural chemical products only	267
(c) Protection against unfair commercial use	270
(i) The meaning of ‘unfair commercial use’	270
(ii) The first possible modality of protection: data exclusivity	272
(iii) The second possible mechanism of protection: Right-to-remuneration	281
(d) Exclusivity of data does not mean either exclusivity of information or product or market exclusivity	284
(e) Requirements	286
(i) Submission must be mandatory	286
(ii) The nature of the product	287
(iii) Novelty	288
(iv) Secrecy of the data	292

(v) Considerable efforts required for obtaining the data	295
(vi) Approval of the relevant chemical entity	296
(vii) Opportunity	297
(f) Protection against disclosure	298
(g) Term of protection	299
(h) The relationship between test data protection and patent rights	301
(i) Exceptions and limitations to rights conferred	307
(i) Fair use of test data	307
(ii) Non-commercial use	313
(iii) International exhaustion	314
(j) A few additional issues	315
(i) Restoration of terms of protection	315
(ii) Core dossier registrations and the protection of supplementary data	317
(iii) Biological products	317
(k) Transition periods for least-developed country WTO Members (LDCs)	318
4. Recent developments concerning protection of test data. 'TRIPS plus' standards in the context of bilateral free trade agreements	319
5. The dispute settlement mechanism in the context of undisclosed information	323
(a) First lesson: Good intentions do not count	325
(b) Second lesson: More (protection) is always better than less	325
(c) Third lesson: International trade has reasons that the Reason does not know	325
Annex	329
Agreement on Trade-related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights	329
Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property	367
Declaration on the TRIPS Agreement and Public Health	381
Extension of the Transition Period under Article 66.1 of the TRIPS Agreement for Least-Developed Country Members for Certain Obligations with Respect to Pharmaceutical Products	383
Extension of the Transition Period Under Article 66.1 for Least-Developed Country Members	384

Reference	387
Jurisprudence	392
WIPO Documents	394
GATT Documents	394
WTO Documents	395
Index	399