

Contents

Preface	v
Acknowledgements	vii
List of abbreviations	ix
Chapter 1 Why link forced migration and environmental change?	1
Forced migration in the post-Cold War era	1
Environment and sustainable development post-Rio	5
Why forced migration and sustainable development?	8
Environmental explanations of migration: whose agenda?	10
Environmental consequences of migration: protection and burden-sharing	15
Refugees as 'exceptional resource degraders'	17
The structure of the book	20
Chapter 2 Forced migration and environmental change: the evidence	23
Environmental change and environmental refugees: the evidence	23
Environment and natural resources in refugee-hosting areas	35
Impacts of forced migration on natural resources: the evidence	38
Conclusion: what cause for environmental concern?	50
Chapter 3 Towards an environmental toolkit	52
Identifying environmental impacts: the current situation	52
Remote sensing and GIS	54
Environmental impact assessments	59
Guidelines for environmental management	65
Participatory environmental appraisal	71
Conclusion	75

Contents

Chapter 4	Environment and development: what is different about emergencies?	77
	Supply-side measures: the provision of energy to refugee camps	78
	Demand-side measures: stoves and the 'woodfuel gap'	82
	Woodland management and reforestation	87
	Community-based natural resource management	94
Chapter 5	Responding to refugee emergencies: the Rwandan crisis	101
	The Rwandan crisis and environmental concerns	101
	Site selection	103
	Initial environmental concerns: the conclusions of EIAs	110
	Turning EIA into environmental policy	115
	Woodfuel supply	119
	Environmental outcomes	121
	The lessons of Rwanda for environmental policy in emergencies	123
Chapter 6	Seven years on: refugees and natural resource management in West Africa	128
	The Senegal River valley	129
	The Forest Region of Guinea	136
	Agency strategies: the search for a sustainable system	141
	Indigenous strategies and initiatives: informal regulation	145
	Local institutions and environmental management	149
Chapter 7	Post-conflict environmental rehabilitation	152
	Issues in post-conflict environmental rehabilitation	152
	Environmental rehabilitation after refugees return	155
	Natural resource management in areas of return	162
	Analysis of environmental change after conflict	167
	Applying the 'environmental entitlements' approach	170
Chapter 8	Linking research and practice	173
	Practical concerns and policy options	175
	Ethical issues in promoting sustainability for refugees	179
	Questions of scale	181
	Theoretical concerns and research options	183
	Approaches in political ecology	185
	Conclusion	189
	References	191
	Index	221