

Contents

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xv
CHAPTER 1: The Intellectual Property Culture	1
The Knowledge Economy: Understanding the Culture of Intellectual Property	2
Intellectual Property (IP) Is the Currency of the Knowledge Economy	6
Patents, Trade Secrets, and Copyrights as IP	8
The “Exclusive” Nature of IP Rights	9
Why Organizations Want a Healthy IP Culture	9
Keeping a Perspective	9
Some Essential Terms of Art	11
A Framework for IP Culture	12
CHAPTER 2: Building the Culture	13
Training Generally	14
Developing a Strong IP Culture	14
Key Ingredients: Everyday Work, Humor, and Images	14
Training Senior Management	17
Training Sales and Marketing Personnel	25
Training Potential Inventors	27
Agreements	29
Confidentiality Agreements	30
Organization/Employee Agreements	32
Independent Contractors and Temporary Employees	36
Ownership or Other Rights by Operation of Law	37
Hired to Invent (Employed Inventors)	37
Shop Rights	38
Corporate Officers	38
Inventor Compensation	39
Incentives or Awards to Employees	39
Foreign Inventors (Germany and Japan)	40
IP and IT Cooperation	41
Electronically Stored Information (ESI)	42
Document Retention Policies	44

CHAPTER 3: Making the Culture Contagious: Intellectual Property within an Organization	47
Processes and Basic Questions to Keep in Mind	48
Communication Is Key	49
What Information IP Counsel Communicates	51
Classes of Information	51
Publicly Available Information	51
Published Patents and Patent Applications	52
Published Papers or Conference Presentations	52
IP Resource and Training Materials	53
Training Materials	53
Explanations of IP Processes	54
Form Documents	55
Information about IP Counsel’s Work	55
What the Business Side Should Communicate	57
Information about Inventions	57
Invention Disclosure Form	60
Planning and Strategy Communication	64
Communicating IP Metrics and Budget	64
The Rest of the Company Should Also Be Communicating	66
IP Process and IP Leadership	67
An IP Committee	69
Defining an IP Policy	73
Making Filing and Maintenance Decisions	74
Making Enforcement Decisions	76
Identifying Goals: A Cost-Benefit Analysis	76
Patent Litigation Facts of Life	78
How Companies Can Keep Costs Down	79
Good Recordkeeping	79
Literature Libraries, Product Archives, and Prior Users	81
Patent Watches	82
Translations	82
Maintenance Fees and Annuities	83
CHAPTER 4: The Role of Counsel	87
In-House Advisor	88
In-House IP Advisor: The Role and Traits	88
Intra-Organizational Communication	89
Extra-Organizational Communication	89
Addressing Technological Developments	90
Governmental Authority Communications	90
Recordkeeping	91
Strategic Planning	91

What Type of In-House Advisor Is Right for You?	93
Measuring Success of In-House Advisors	94
The New In-House IP Advisor and Outside Counsel	99
Outside Counsel	100
How to Choose: "Choose the Attorney, Not the Firm"	101
Choose a Compatible Reflective Personality	105
Define the Role and Responsibilities of Outside Counsel	107
Communicate Reasonable Expectations to Counsel	107
Engagement Issues	108
Attorney-Client Privilege	110
Communications	111
Insights into Law Firm Economics	113
Understanding IP Counsel Invoices	115
CHAPTER 5: Earning Respect for Your Intellectual Property	119
Patents and Respect	120
Only Get Patents That You Will Walk into Court and Enforce	120
Constant Evaluation of the Portfolio	127
Deciding to Enforce: When to File and How to Prepare the Organization	128
Preparing for Litigation	131
Respect through Licensing	134
Licensee's Ability to Enforce	134
Confronting Others: Getting and Giving Notice	136
Why Send a Notice Letter?	137
What to Expect When Notice Is Sent	139
Common Responses to Notice Letter	140
No Response at All	140
"We Are Investigating Your Letter"	140
"We Will Respond by a Specified Date"	141
"We Need More Information"	141
"We Have Prior Art Demonstrating Invalidity of the Patent"	141
Declaratory Judgment Risks	142
Section 287: Patent Notice and Marking	144
State of Mind for Infringement	147
Duty to Investigate Third-Party Patents	147
Securing Advice of Counsel	149
CHAPTER 6: Giving Respect to Valid Patent Rights	151
The Need for an IP Tool-kit	151
Claim Construction: What Does That Patent Mean Anyway?	152
Patentee Is Own Lexicographer, or, Ascertain the Ordinary Meaning	154
The "Specification" or "Written Description"	155

The Prosecution History	156
Illustrations of Claim Construction	157
Dictionaries	158
Resolution of Claim Construction Disputes	160
Understanding Patent Validity	164
Voiding an Invalid Patent	168
Infringement	173
“But We Sell Only One Part; Someone Else Assembles It Elsewhere”	180
License When You Can	183
Designing Around a Competitor’s Patent: What’s the Problem?	184
CHAPTER 7: Constructively Sharing and Transferring Intellectual Property	187
Different Scenarios	188
Confidentiality Agreements	191
Materials Testing or Service Agreements	192
Joint Development Agreements	194
License Agreements	198
Exclusivity	199
Cross-Licensing	200
Grant-Backs	200
Reservations and Exceptions	201
Field of Use Limitations	201
Sublicensing	202
Grant Provisions	202
Royalty Payments	203
License Term and Termination	206
Compulsory Licensing	206
Joint Ownership	207
Implied Licenses	209
Transferring IP	210
Due Diligence	212
CHAPTER 8: Toward a Successful Intellectual Property Strategy	217
Introductory Strategy Considerations	218
Offensive or Defensive	219
Strategies	223
Invalidity Challenges: Defensive Strategies	223
Reexamination	226
Opposition/Post-Grant Review	228
Judicial Invalidity or Nullity Proceedings	232
Offensive Strategies	233
Continuation/Divisional Practice	234
Foreign Filings and Litigation	237

The Utility Model	238
Why a Utility Model?	239
Why Germany?	239
Measuring Success of a Strategy	240
Case Studies	243
Case Study 1: Licensing with Ensuing Pricing Disadvantage	244
Case Study 2: Cross-Licensing	245
Case Study 3: Total Exclusion	245
Case Study 4: Entering a Market Populated with Patents	246
Case Study 5: Reexamination, Inter Partes Review or Post-Grant Review to Reduce Damages Exposure	246
Case Study 6: Acquisition of Rights to Resolve Dispute	247
Case Study 7: Avoidance of Litigation	247
Case Study 8: Licensing to Foster Adoption of Technology	247
Case Study 9: Same as 8, with Collateral Sales of Goods	247
Case Study 10: Licensing to Maintain Innovation Advantage	248
CHAPTER 9: Trade Secrets and Other Intellectual Property	251
Intellectual Property Types	252
The Trade Secret and Patent Dichotomy	252
Trade Secret Protection	254
The Common Law	255
Economic Espionage Act: Federal Trade Secret Criminal Laws	258
Reasonable Security and the Other Crux of the Challenge to Keep Trade Secrets: Reverse Engineering	261
The Initial Shift Away from Trade Secrets	266
Trade Secret and Patent Coexistence	268
Building a Trade Secret Moat around a Patent Fort	268
Trade Secret Protection When Opting to Patent an Innovation	269
Trade Secrets, Patents, or Both	270
Copyrights	272
Trademarks	276
Distinguishing Trademarks, Service Marks, and Trade Dress	276
Trademark Counterfeiting	279
IP Overlap: Selecting the Best Intellectual Property Protection	279
Talk the Talk	281
CHAPTER 10: Confidential Information and Effective Corporate Trade Secret Programs	283
An Underpinning	283
Preliminary Definitional Matters	284
Measures to Preserve Confidentiality	287
Situations Posing Disclosure Risks	290
Potential Consequences of Disclosure	292

Important Confidentiality Lessons for Employees	293
Unsolicited Proposals or Disclosures	296
Securing Premises	298
Physical Security	299
Electronic Security and Document Control	302
Handling Employees	304
Practices for Information Disclosure	306
CHAPTER 11: Patenting Inventions	309
A Defining Moment	309
Requirements for Patentability	310
Inventorship Generally	311
Determinations of Inventorship	312
Utility Requirement	313
A Basic Novelty Discussion	317
Innovations Must Not Be Obvious	320
Obviousness	320
Harvesting Inventions from within an Organization	326
A Written Record of the Invention	326
Patent Searching	329
Drafting the Patent Application	333
Provisional Patent Applications	336
Patent Prosecution and Patent Office Rejection	340
CHAPTER 12: International Flavor	345
Differences in National Laws, Cultures, and Attitudes	346
Toward Harmonization	351
International Filing Options	353
National Patent Offices and the National Patent	354
Patent Cooperation Treaty	356
Procedural Overview	357
International Phase	357
PCT National Phase	360
Direct National Filing	360
Summary of PCT v. Direct Filing	361
Costs	365
Counsel Fees	365
Translation Fees	366
Filing Fees	367
Maintenance Fees	367
Making Decisions	368
To Foreign File or Not	368
PCT or Direct	369

European Patent Office	370
Maintaining Patents	370
Three Tips for Managing Investment Expenses	371
Make Hard Decisions	371
Choose Countries Where You Are Willing to Sue and Be Sued	371
Choke the Ability to Commercialize	371
Logistical Issues	372
Foreign Filing License for U.S.-made Inventions and Vice Versa	372
Filing into the United States from Overseas	373
What Is Needed for a Filing Date	374
The Multiple Dependent Claim Dilemma	374
APPENDICES	375
INDEX	427