
CONTENTS

List of Abbreviations and Terms	xi
---------------------------------	----

Preface	xvii
---------	------

PART ONE: WASHINGTON

1	The Beginning of an Era	3
2	"... if China goes under ..."	6
	Roosevelt-Churchill-Chiang, 7
	Enter Stilwell, 9
	Exit Stilwell, Enter Wedemeyer, 13
	Modern Babylon, 14
3	Indochina: Pressure Point	17
	FDR and Colonialism, 17
	The French Position, 18
	Tug of War, 19
4	The Unintelligible Intelligence Community	23
5	OSS: The French Indochina Desk	28
	Policy: Get the Job Done, 28
	French Escamotage Casts Shadows, 30
	From Catroux to Decoux, 32
	"Call to Arms"—de Gaulle, 33
	Giraudistes and Gaullistes, 34
	Mordant's "Résistance", 36
	Japanese Reaction, 39

6	The Americans Discover Ho Chi Minh	43
	GBT: The Gordon Group, 43
	The Case of "Mr. Ho", 45
	OSS and "Mr. Ho", 49
	Ho Seeks Official Recognition, 53
	Ho Meets Chennault, 55

PART TWO: KUNMING

7	What Washington Did Not Know	61
	Chaos, 61
	What about "Mr. Ho"?, 67
	"General" Ho's Emissary, 68
8	The New French Problem	72
	The 9 March Coup, 72
	Changing Images, 75
9	A Tour of the China Border	79
	Disarray, 79
	AGAS House, 81
	Mr. Wang Yeh-li, 82
	A Village Teahouse, 83
	Sabattier's Army, 88
	A Portrait of the Colon, 90
	The Free French Dig In, 93
10	A "Think Tank" Session	96
	The OSS Team, 96
	CARBONADO, 98
	De Gaulle and the Russian Orbit, 101
	Ho's First Report, 102
11	The Reluctant Ally	103
	Euro-Asiatic Conflict, 103
	A Quid Pro Quo Arrangement, 104
	Trial Run, 105
	The French Stage a Sit-Down Strike, 107
	Sainteny's M.5, 108
	M.5 Gets Official Status, 109
	A Case of Legerdemain, 112
12	"Trusteeship" Redefined	116
	De Gaulle Pressures Truman, 116
	What Happened at Yalta? 118

	No Change, Says Truman, 119
	The Big Four Become Five, 121
13	The "Deer" Team at Kim Lung	124
	The Only Alternative—the Viet Minh, 125
	Ho's Jungle Lair, 127
14	Historic Decisions	130
	Decision at Potsdam—16th Parallel, 130
	A Third Force in Tonkin, 131
	The Party Convention at Tan Trao, 134
	The People's National Congress, 135
15	Unscheduled Peace	137
	A Veritable Pandora's Box, 137
	The Mercy Teams, 141
	Self-appointed Delegate, 141
	A Slight Delay Due to Rain, 144
PART THREE: HANOI
16	Uninvited Guests	151
	Flight to Hanoi, 151
	Off to a Rocky Start, 153
	Hotel Métropole, 156
	General Yuitsu Tsuchihashi, 158
17	Our Second Day in Hanoi	161
	First Impressions, 161
	How Hanoi Led the Insurrection, 163
	Rumors of an Abdication, 168
18	Calls and Callers	171
	Sainteny in "the Golden Cage", 171
	The Prisoners-of-War, 173
	The Soviet Representative, 178
19	The Tale of Two Cities	182
	A Press Conference, 182
	The Saigon "Revolution", 183
	The Mandate from Heaven, 188
	"City of Ho Chi Minh", 189
	Ho Is in Hanoi, 189
	Political Warfare, 190
	Who Is Imai?, 194

20	A Busy Sunday	196
	An Official Welcome, 196
	Seeing Ho Again, 199
	Undercurrents, 203
	Sainteny Wants to Meet Ho, 205
21	French Diplomacy at Low Tide	207
	Two Angatonists Meet, 207
	A French Bribe for the Americans, 210
22	Moving toward Surrender	212
	The Japanese Summoned to China, 212
	Chungking Prepares to Settle Accounts, 216
23	Conversations	220
	Ho Looks Ahead, 220
	Paris Ignores Sainteny, 224
24	Puzzles	228
	A Tempest in a Teapot, 228
	A Message for Mr. Truman, 230
	A Message for "Mr. Tam", 234
25	On the Eve of Independence	237
	Between Scylla and Charybdis, 237
	A Special Brand of Communism, 240
	Dinner at Bac Bo Palace. 243
26	Independence Day	248
	"Do you hear me distinctly . . . ?", 248
	Black Sunday in Saigon, 253
27	Aftermath to Black Sunday	256
	Speculations, 256
	The French Commissioners, 260
	Lu Han's Advance Party, 260
	Mounting Tension, 261
28	In Search of the Truman Policy	264
	Anxious Mood in China, 264
	Skirting the Issues, 266
	Project EMBANKMENT, 270

29	No One's Listening	274
	Too Busy To Be Bothered, 274
	Saigon—the American Version, 275
	Facts for Wedemeyer, 277
	Postwar Plans for OSS, 280
30	Warlords and Carpetbaggers	281
	Chinese Chameleons, 281
	Some French Liberals, 282
	A Squatters' Army, 284
	Hsiao Wen: The KMT Agent, 287
	Lu Han and the Spoilers, 290
31	DRV: Postpartum Problems	294
	Ho Forges Ahead, 294
	Advocate of Passive Resistance, 297
	Southern Opposition, 299
	Japanese Clandestine Apparatus, 301
32	South of the 16th Parallel	307
	"The Very Model of a Modern Major-General", 307
	The Road to Martial Law, 310
	Cédile's Coup, 315
	Counterattack, 318
	First American Casualty, 320
	"Cochinchina Is Burning", 322
33	Contrasting Scenes	326
	Bending the Truth, 328
	"Like a Flea on a Dog", 330
	Funds for Guns, 337
	Why Were the French Excluded?, 339
	Tilting—Lu Han vs. the KMT, 341
	An Arid Exchange, 343
	Unacceptable Credentials, 344
	A Tacit Agreement, 346
	Ho's Contingency Plans, 347
	Hanoi—Tangiers of the East, 351
	Tilting Again—Lu Han vs. the KMT, 353
34	End of Mission	356
	Putting Out Brush Fires, 356
	Ho Takes Hold, 358
	The Japanese Surrender, 360

Merger in the Making, 362
 Confusion from the Media, 363
 Going Home, 364

35	A Last Farewell	366
-----------	------------------------	------------

PART FOUR: AFTERMATH

36	America's Albatross	377
-----------	----------------------------	------------

	Appendix I, Chronology	451
--	------------------------	-----

	Appendix II, Biographical Briefs	475
--	----------------------------------	-----

	Appendix III, Political Parties	498
--	---------------------------------	-----

	Charts of Communist Organizations	535
--	-----------------------------------	-----

	Notes	539
--	-------	-----

	Bibliography	571
--	--------------	-----

	Index	577
--	-------	-----