

Table of Contents

Notes on Contributors	xxix
Editor's Preface	xxxiii
List of Abbreviations	xxxv
METHODOLOGY	1
Chapter 1
Comparativism in Labour Law and Industrial Relations
R. Blanpain	3
I. In Search of a Definition	4
II. Uses of the Comparative Method	5
A. Better Insight into One's Own National System	5
B. International Private Labour Law	6
C. Multinational Enterprises and International Unions: Globalization	6
D. Forecast of Further Developments	7

	E. To Guide or Promote Social Change at Home: Assistance	8
	F. As an Instrument in the Formulation and the Application of International Labour Standards: Horizontal and Vertical Comparison	8
	1. The International Labour Organisation (ILO)	9
	2. The Council of Europe and the European Communities	10
III.	What and How to Compare?	12
	A. Comparison of Functions Rather Than Institutions	12
	B. Comparison of What Is 'Going On'	13
	C. Looking for 'Models'	13
	D. An Integrated and Global Approach	15
	E. Group Collaboration	15
	F. Educational Visits	16
IV.	The Traps	16
	A. Language and Terminology	16
	B. Parochialism and Ideological Hangovers	17
V.	The Transplantability Issue	18
VI.	The Status of the 'Academic Art'	20
VII.	De Comparatione Ferande : Guidelines	21
	A. Teaching	21
	B. Research	22
	Conclusions	22
	Select Bibliography	23

Chapter 2

Comparative Labour Law: Sources and Documentation

	M. Colucci	25
	Introduction	25
	A. International Sources	25
	1. ILO Publications	25
	2. The Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development	28
	B. Regional Sources	28
	1. The European Union	28
	2. APEC	30
	3. Africa and South America	30
	C. Private Collections	30
	D. Books	31
	E. Bulletins	32

F. Academic Journals	32
G. E-Journals	33
H. International Societies and Meetings	34
I. Research Websites	34
1. International, Comparative and Foreign Law: General	34
2. United States Government Sites	35
3. ILO Publications <www.ilo.org>	36
4. International Institute for Labour Studies	36
5. European Union <www.europa.eu>	37
6. Private Collections	37
7. Books	37
8. Journals available at <www.labourlawjournals.com>	37

ACTORS 39

Chapter 3

International Employers' Organizations

G. Rynhart 41

I. Introduction: Definition	41
II. Historical Development: From Guilds to Employers' Organizations	42
III. Functions of Employers' Organizations	44
A. Promoting Business Interests	44
B. Representative Function in the Political Structure	45
C. Representative Function in the Industrial Relations System	46
Collective Bargaining: Current Trends	47
D. Internal Functions of Employers' Organizations	49
E. Speaking for All Business	50
F. Technical Assistance	51
IV. Structure of Employers' Organizations	51
A. Unity of the Central Organization at the National Level	52
1. Coverage of the Central Organization	52
2. Parallel Organizations	52
B. Membership of Employers' Organizations	53
1. Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises	53
2. Public Sector Enterprises	54
C. Employers' Organizations at the Sectoral and Regional Levels	55

	D. Means and Resources	56
	E. Mergers and Changing Structures	57
V.	Regional Employers' Organizations	58
VI.	International Employers' Organizations	60
	A. Historical Development	60
	B. International Employers' Organizations at the Global Level	60
	C. The International Organization of Employers (IOE)	61
VII.	Future Challenges for Employers' Organizations	64
	A. Service Delivery	64
	B. Collective Interests vs. Individual	65
	C. The Role of Business in Society	65
	D. Changing Trends in Trade Unions	66
VIII.	Explaining Change	67
	Select Bibliography	67

Chapter 4

The International Trade Union Movement

J.P. Windmuller, S.K. Pursey and J. Baker 69

I.	Historical Overview	69
	A. To 1914	69
	B. From 1914 to 1939	70
	C. After 1939	71
II.	The International Trade Union Confederation	72
	A. Aims and Activities	73
	1. Overall Goals	73
	2. Representational and Organizational Work	74
	B. Structure and Government	75
	1. Membership and Finances	75
	2. Governing Bodies and Secretariat	76
	3. Regional Organizations	76
III.	The World Federation of Trade Unions	77
	A. Aims and Activities	77
	B. Structure and Government	79
	1. Membership and Finances	79
	2. Governing Bodies and Secretariats	79
	3. Trade Union Internationals	80
IV.	Other International, Regional or Subregional Organizations	80
	A. The Trade Union Advisory Committee to the OECD (TUAC-OECD)	80
	B. The European Trade Union Confederation	81
	C. The Organization of African Trade Union Unity	83
	D. The International Confederation of Arab Trade Unions	84
	E. Subregional Bodies	84

VI.	Global Union Federations	85
	A. Organization and Structure	85
	1. Relations with Global Internationals	85
	2. Membership and Finances	86
	3. Governing Bodies and Trade Groups	87
	B. Aims and Activities	87
	1. Solidarity and Organizational Work	88
	2. Information and Research	88
VII.	Conclusions	89
	Select Bibliography	92
	List of International Union Websites	93

Chapter 5

Human Resource Management in Context

R.S. Schuler and S.E. Jackson

95

I.	Introduction	95
II.	What Is Human Resource Management (HRM) and How Does It Operate?	96
	A. What Are the Activities That HRM Entails?	96
	1. Strategic Analysis	96
	2. Strategic Implementation	97
	a. A Four-Task Model for HR	97
	b. Organizational Improvements	100
	c. Empowerment	100
	3. A Link-to-the-Organization Role	100
	B. Staffing the HR Management Department	101
	1. Specialists vs. Generalists	101
	2. Centralization vs. Decentralization	102
	C. Partnership in HR	103
	D. HR Management Reflects Changing Context	105
	1. Globalization of Industry and Globalization of the Workforce	105
	2. Organizational Changes	106
	a. Layoffs and Job Elimination	106
	b. Mergers and Acquisitions	106
	c. Innovation in Technology	107
	d. Innovation of Practices	107
	e. Teams	108
	3. Outsourcing and Offshoring	108
	Legal Issues	109

E.	Forces Impacting HR Management	110
1.	Pressures for Social Responsibility	110
2.	Elements of the Stakeholder Model	111
a.	The Organization as a Stakeholder	111
b.	Employees as Stakeholders	111
c.	Customers as Stakeholders	112
d.	Investors as Stakeholders	112
e.	Strategic Partners as Stakeholders	113
f.	Society as a Stakeholder	113
F.	Strategic Human Resource Management	114
G.	Strategic International Human Resource Management	115
H.	Cross-Border Alliances: International Mergers and Acquisitions and International Joint Ventures	118
III.	What Are Some of the Theoretical Frameworks That Are Applicable in Studying the Human Resource Management Field?	118
A.	Resource-Based View	118
B.	Institutionalist Theory	119
C.	Agency Theory	120
D.	General Systems Theory	121
E.	Human Capital Theory	121
F.	Life Cycle Theory	122
G.	Role Behaviour Theory	122
H.	Transactions Cost Theory	123
I.	Strategic Contingency Theory	123
J.	Organizational Learning Theory	124
K.	Information Processing Perspective	124
IV.	What Are Some of the Key Issues Relevant to the Practice of Human Resource Management That Are Likely to Be Prevalent in the Early 21st Century?	125
A.	Leadership	125
B.	Pay for Performance	125
C.	Effectiveness of Human Resource Management Using Multiple Stakeholders	126
D.	Technology and Knowledge Transfer	126
E.	Flexible Work Arrangements	127
F.	Managing Human Resource in Knowledge-Intensive Environments	128
G.	No One Best Way: Context Is Critical	129
V.	Summary	130
	Select Bibliography	131

SOURCES OF REGULATION 135
Chapter 6International Labour Law
L. Swepston 137

I.	Introduction	137
	A. Definition	137
	B. Historical Development	137
	C. The Purposes of International Labour Law	138
II.	The Sources of International Labour Law	139
	A. ILO Sources	139
	1. The Constitution of the ILO	139
	2. Conventions and Recommendations	139
	3. Declaration of Fundamental Principles and Rights	141
	4. Other Instruments	142
	5. Interpretation	142
	6. Case Law	143
	7. Instruments Adopted at Special Conferences	143
	B. United Nations Instruments	143
	C. European Instruments	144
	1. Council of Europe Instruments	144
	2. European Communities Standards	144
	D. Instruments in the American Region	145
	E. Instruments in the African Region	145
	F. Instruments in the Arab Region	145
	G. Bilateral Treaties	145
	H. Generalized Systems of Preference and Other Trade Questions	146
	I. Relation between Sources	146
III.	The Content of International Labour Law	146
	A. Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organize	146
	B. Forced Labour	147
	C. Discrimination in Employment and Occupation	148
	D. Child Labour	149
	E. Employment	149
	F. Wages	150
	G. General Conditions of Work	150
	H. Occupational Safety and Health	151
	I. Social Security	152

	J. Social Policy	152
	K. Industrial Relations	152
	L. Employment of Women	153
	M. Older Workers	153
	N. Migrant Workers	153
	O. Other Special Categories of Workers	154
	P. Labour Administration	155
IV.	The Implementation of International Labour Standards	155
	A. Obligations in Respect of Standards	155
	B. Ratification of Conventions	156
	C. Reports on Ratified Conventions	156
	D. The Incorporation of International Conventions in National Law as a Result of Ratification	157
V.	The Supervisory Machinery of the ILO	157
	A. Procedures Based on the Examination of Periodic Reports	157
	B. Procedures Based on the Examination of Complaints	158
	C. Special Machinery in the Field of Freedom of Association	159
	D. Special Studies and Inquiries, Promotional Measures, Technical Cooperation	159
VI.	Supervisory Machinery Established by Other Organizations	160
	Select Bibliography	160

Chapter 7

The European Union and Employment Law

R. Blanpain	163
--------------------	-----

I.	Introductory Remarks	163
II.	Competences Regarding Labour and Employment Matters	165
	A. Legislative Competence	165
	1. Qualified Majority	165
	2. Unanimous Voting	165
	3. Excluded Matters	166
	B. Guidelines and Peer Pressure: Employment Policies	166
	C. The European Social Fund	166
III.	The Role of Social Partners: Consultation and Collective Bargaining	168
IV.	The 'Acquis Communautaire'	169
	A. In General	169
	B. Free Movement of Workers	170

C.	Equal Treatment: A General Framework Irrespective of Race or Ethnic Origin	172
D.	Equal Treatment for Men and Women	174
E.	Restructuring of Enterprises	178
	1. Collective Redundancies	178
	2. Transfer of Undertakings and Acquired Rights	179
V.	The Social Dialogue	181
	A. In General	181
	B. The Sectoral Social Dialogue	184
	C. The European Company Statute (SE)	185
VI.	Conclusions	187
	Select Bibliography	187

Chapter 8

Multinational Enterprises and Codes of Conduct

R. Blanpain 189

I.	Introduction	189
II.	The Employment and Industrial Relations Chapter	191
	A. Content of the Chapter	191
	1. Freedom of Association	192
	2. Child Labour	192
	3. Forced Labour	192
	4. Discrimination	192
	5. Collective Bargaining	193
	6. Provision of Information–Consultation	193
	7. Health and Safety	193
	8. Observance of Employment Standards	193
	9. Skills and Training	194
	10. Reasonable Notice and Cooperation in Case of Major Changes	194
	11. Access to Decision Makers	194
	B. The Clarification Process	194
III.	Development in Other International Organizations	199
	A. International Labour Office	199
	1. The ILO Tripartite Declaration of 1977	199
	2. The ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and Its Follow-Up (1998)	199
	a. The ILO Declaration	199
	b. The Follow-Up to the Declaration	201
	3. NAFTA: The Labor Side Agreement	202

IV.	Corporate Codes of Conduct	202
V.	Implementation Procedures	204
	A. Procedural Guidance for National Contact Points (NCPs)	204
	1. Core Criteria for Functional Equivalence in the Activities of NCPs	205
	2. Institutional Arrangements	205
	3. Information and Promotion	206
	4. Implementation in Specific Instances	206
	5. Reporting	210
	B. Procedural Guidance for the CIME	210
VI.	Conclusions	211

Chapter 9

Conflicts of Laws in Employment Contracts and Industrial Relations

M. Franzen 215

I.	Introduction	215
II.	Sources	217
	A. International Sources	217
	B. National Sources	218
III.	The Proper Law of the Employment Contract	219
	A. Autonomy of the Parties	219
	B. Lex Loci Laboris	224
	C. Article 6 of the EC-Convention	226
IV.	The Sphere of Application of the Protective Norms with Public Law Character	229
V.	The Scope of the Proper Law	231
VI.	Collective Labour Law (Industrial Relations)	233
	Select Bibliography	235

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS AND COMPARATIVE STUDIES 237

Chapter 10

Protection of Migrant Workers in an Era of Globalization: The Role of International Instruments

P. Wickramasekara 239

I.	Migrants and Migrant Workers	240
II.	Trends in International Migration	241

III.	Challenges of Globalization for Protection of Migrant Workers	242
	A. Growing Global Disparities and Rising Migration Pressures	244
	B. Divergence Between Labour Market Needs and Immigration Policies in Developed Countries	245
	C. Changing Employment Relationships	247
	D. Exploitation and Abuse of Migrant Workers	249
	E. Post 9/11 Security Concerns and Implications for Migrant Workers	251
IV.	International Instruments for the Protection of Migrant Workers	252
	A. Fundamental Rights of Migrant Workers	253
	Universal Human Rights Instruments of the United Nations	254
	B. Migrant-Specific and Other Applicable Conventions	255
	1. United Nations: International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families, 1990	255
	2. Other Relevant UN Conventions	257
	3. ILO Migrant Worker Conventions	258
	4. Other ILO Conventions	261
	C. The Tripartite Meeting of Experts on Future ILO Activities in the Field of Migration and Guidelines for Some Vulnerable Categories of Migrant Workers	262
	D. ILO General Survey/Review of Migrant Worker Instruments	263
	E. The General Discussion on Migrant Workers at the 92nd Session of the International Labour Conference, June 2004	265
	F. The ILO Multilateral Framework on Labour Migration	267
V.	Evolving Approaches and the Way Forward	270

Chapter 11

Freedom of Association

B. Creighton	275
---------------------	------------

I.	The Concept of Freedom of Association	275
II.	International Recognition of Freedom of Association	276
	A. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1948	276
	B. The 1966 Covenants	277
	C. Regional Standards Relating to Freedom of Association	279
	D. Freedom of Association and the ILO	280
	E. Conventions Nos. 87 and 98	287
III.	Application of the Principles of Freedom of Association	289
	A. The Supervisory Bodies	289
	B. The Principles as Developed	309

C. Choice of Union	309
D. Union Representation and Bargaining in Good Faith	311
E. Interference with Bargaining Outcomes	313
F. Interference with the Right to Strike	315
IV. Evaluation and Future Directions	319
Select Bibliography	321

Chapter 12

Subordinate Employees or Self-Employed Workers?

C. Engels 323

I. Introduction	323
II. The Importance of the Distinction	324
III. The Tests Developed to Make the Distinction between Employees and Self-Employed	328
A. The Absence of a Full Definition	328
B. The Freedom of Choice	329
C. Performance by a Physical Person, Not a Legal Entity	331
D. The Different Tests That Were Developed	333
E. European Labour Law	336
F. The International Labour Organization	339
IV. The Extension of the Traditional Scope of Labour and Employment Law	340
A. International Labour Organization Effort: Draft Convention and Recommendation	340
B. Coverage of Economically Dependent Workers	342
V. Conclusion	344

Chapter 13

Working Conditions and Globalization

J.-M. Servais 347

I. Persistent Social Malaise	349
A. Countless Social Fracture Lines	349
B. The Labour Scene Diversifies	351
C. The New Social Question	353
II. Questions about the New Policies	353
A. Three Categories of Standards	354
B. The Cost of Labour Standards	359
C. Autonomous Standards, Heteronymous Standards, and Alternatives to Social Regulation	361

III.	A Need for an Innovative Formula for Social Relationships	365
	A. Broadening the Levels of Dialogue	365
	B. A Renewed Role for the State	366
	C. Standards with What Content?	367
	Select Bibliography	371

Chapter 14

Equality and Prohibition of Discrimination in Employment

R. Ben-Israel and P. Foubert

377

I.	Legal Theories of Equality/Difference and Discrimination	377
	A. Legal Theories of Equality and Difference	377
	1. Equality, Difference and Comparability	378
	a. The Influence of Society	378
	b. The Purpose of the Law	379
	c. The Importance of a Comparator/Standard	380
	2. Different Approaches to Equality and Difference	380
	a. Formal Equality	380
	b. Substantive Equality	382
	i. Affirmative/Positive Action	383
	ii. Unequal Treatment of Factually and Legally Unequal Situations	385
	B. Discrimination Sensu Lato	385
	1. Different Forms of Discrimination Sensu Lato	387
	a. Overt/Direct Discrimination	387
	b. Covert/Indirect Discrimination	388
	i. Neutral Practices That Disadvantage a Subordinated Group	388
	ii. Discrimination through Like Treatment of Legally Unlike Cases	390
	C. Justifying Discrimination	390
	a. Justification of Overt/Direct Discrimination	390
	b. Justification of Covert/Indirect Discrimination	392
	c. The Limits of Justification	392
II.	International Legal Rules on Equality and Prohibition of Discrimination (EPD) in Employment	393
	A. Sources of the International Labour Standard of EPD	393
	1. In General	393
	2. Examples	394
	B. Grounds of Prohibited Discrimination	396
	1. In General	396
	2. Race (Colour, National Extraction, Social Origin)	397

3. Sex (Civil or Marital Status, Family Responsibilities, Pregnancy and Confinement, Sexual Harassment, Sexual Orientation)	398
4. Ideological Freedoms and Beliefs (Political Opinion, Religion, Trade Union Membership)	400
5. Other Grounds (Family Responsibilities, Disablement, Health, Private Life, Age)	401
C. Justifications	403
1. Inherent Requirements of a Particular Job	403
2. Security of the State	404
3. Special Measure of Protection/Affirmative Action	405
D. Field of Application	405
1. The Pre-employment Stage	406
2. General Terms and Conditions of Employment	407
E. Remedies	409
1. Severance	409
2. Extension	410
3. Affirmative Action	411
a. Equal Pay for Work of Equal Value	411
b. Special Rights	411
4. Implementation	411
F. Future Outlook	412
1. The Dynamics of Equality	413
2. Final Remarks	414
Select Bibliography	415

Chapter 15

Employment Privacy

F. Hendrickx	419
I. Introduction	419
II. General Principles of Employment Privacy Law	421
A. The Right to Privacy as a Human Right	421
B. The Employment Environment	424
III. International Regulation	424
1. Council of Europe Conventions and Recommendations	424
2. European Directive 95/46/EC	426
3. Working Party Opinion 8/2001	427
4. International Labour Organisation	429
IV. European Comparative Overview	430
V. Conclusion	436
Select Bibliography	438

Chapter 16Security of Employment and EmployabilityJ. Rojot439

I.	Introduction	439
II.	The Notion of Employment Security	440
III.	The Tensions on Employment Security	441
IV.	Dismissal for Cause and Dismissal for Economic Reasons	449
V.	Company Level Provisions in Order to Reduce the Level of Dismissals	450
VI.	Legal and Contractual Limits to Economic Dismissals	454
VII.	Legal and Contractual Limits to Dismissal for Cause	455
VIII.	Government Active Manpower Policies	457
IX.	Employability and Flexicurity?	458

Chapter 17National Trade Union MovementsG.P. Cella and T. Treu461

I.	Introduction	461
II.	Trade Union Structure	462
	A. Craft-Occupational Unions	462
	B. White-Collar Unions	463
	C. Industrial Unions	463
	D. General Unions	464
	E. Territorial Structures	465
	F. Enterprise Unionism	467
III.	Membership and Internal Government	467
	A. Membership	467
	B. Government	468
IV.	Unions and Workplace Organizations	470
V.	Forms of Trade Union Action and Objectives	472
	A. Collective Bargaining and Political Action	472
	B. Collective Bargaining and Participation	474
	1. Collective Bargaining	475
	2. Self-Management	475
	3. Institutional Participation	476
	4. Works Councils	476
VI.	Politics and Relations with Political Parties	477
	A. No Stable Relationship	477
	B. Dependence	477
	C. Interdependence	478

VII.	Unions and State Intervention in Industrial Relations	479
	A. Repression	479
	B. Tolerance	480
	C. Intervention	480
	D. Neo-corporatism	482
VIII.	Models of National Trade Union Movements	483
IX.	Trade Unions at the Beginning of the 21st Century	488
	A. Trade Union Structure	491
	B. Membership and Internal Government	492
	C. Unions and Workplace Organizations	494
	D. Forms of Trade Union Actions and Objectives	495
	E. Politics and Relations with Political Parties	498
	F. Unions and State Intervention in Industrial Relations	499
	Select Bibliography	501

Chapter 18

Forms of Employee Representational Participation

M. Biagi and M. Tiraboschi 503

I.	Introduction	503
II.	Forms of Employees General Representation at the Workplace: A Structural Analysis	505
	A. Bodies Directly Linked with Trade Unions in Single-Channel Systems of Representation	505
	B. Bodies Directly Linked with Trade Unions in Dual-Channel Systems of Representation	511
	C. Elected Unitary Bodies	517
	D. Joint Bodies	526
III.	Forms of General Representation of Employees at the Workplace: A Functional Analysis	529
	A. The Right to Share Information	529
	B. The Right to Be Consulted	531
	C. The Right to Decide Jointly	537
	D. Collective Bargaining	539
	E. Industrial Conflict	543
IV.	'Specialized' Forms of Workplace Employee Representation: Health and Safety at Work	544
V.	Forms of Board-Level Employee Representation	548
VI.	Concluding Remarks	552
	Select Bibliography	554

Chapter 19Transnational Information and Consultation:*The European Works Council DirectiveC. Engels and L. Salas557

I.	Introduction	557
	A. Legal Basis	559
	B. Basic Structure	560
II.	General Provisions	560
	A. Scope	560
	B. The Notion of Controlling Undertaking	563
	C. A Positive Obligation to Provide Information	564
	D. National and Transnational Issues	568
III.	Pre-existing Agreements: Article 13 Agreements	570
IV.	Establishment of EWC or Employee Information and Consultation Procedure: Article 6 Agreements	573
	A. Central Management and a Representative Agent	573
	B. Special Negotiating Body	575
	C. Content of the Agreement	577
V.	Subsidiary Requirements	578
	A. Applicability	578
	B. Content	578
	1. Competence	579
	2. Composition	579
	3. Re-evaluation	579
	4. Meetings	579
	5. Costs and Experts	580
VI.	Miscellaneous Provisions	580
	A. Confidential and/or Harmful Information	580
	B. Operation of EWC: Spirit of Cooperation	581
	C. Protection of Employee Representatives	581
	D. Review by the Commission	582
	E. Revision of the Directive	583

Chapter 20Collective Bargaining: An International AnalysisG.J. Bamber and P. Sheldon585

I.	What Is Collective Bargaining?	586
II.	Historical Background	590
III.	Levels of Bargaining	593
IV.	The Parties to Collective Bargaining	599

V.	Bargaining Units and the Recognition of Bargaining Agents	600
VI.	Bargaining Processes	602
VII.	The Functions of Collective Bargaining	606
VIII.	Coverage of Bargaining	608
IX.	Content of Agreements	616
X.	Duration of Agreements	620
XI.	Administration of the Agreements	621
XII.	Collective Bargaining and Economic Problems and Policies	622
XIII.	Conclusions	626
	Select Bibliography	630

Chapter 21

The Law of Strikes and Lockouts

A.T.J.M. Jacobs	633
------------------------	------------

I.	Introduction	633
	A. From Crime to Fundamental Right	633
	B. Crystallization into Distinctive 'Models'	637
II.	The Limits of the Right to Strike	638
	A. Ways of Delimiting the Right to Strike	638
	B. Official Strikes vs. Wild-Cat Strikes	641
	C. The Peace Obligation	643
	D. Disputes of Rights and Disputes of Interests	645
	E. Other Limitations as Regards the Aim of the Strike	646
	F. Procedural Restrictions	650
	G. Principles of Proportionality, Fairness, etc.	654
	H. Other Collective Actions of Workers	656
	I. Picketing	657
	J. Public Service and Essential Services	658
III.	The Effects of an (Un)Lawful Strike	664
	A. Liability of Trade Unions	664
	B. The Wages of the Striking Worker	666
	C. Disciplinary Actions against Striking Workers	668
	D. The Impact of Strikes on Non-striking Workers	672
IV.	The Employers' Defence and Retaliation	674
	A. The Employer's Right to Keep His Business Operating	674
	B. The Lockout	675
V.	Litigation	677
VI.	Evaluation and Conclusions	681
	Select Bibliography	686

Chapter 22

Settlement of Disputes over Rights

A. Gladstone 689

I.	Classification and Categories of Disputes and of Systems for Their Resolution	689
II.	Ordinary Courts	693
	A. In General	693
	B. Specific Countries	694
	1. Italy	694
	2. The Netherlands	696
	3. Japan	696
III.	Labour Courts and Similar Institutions	698
	A. In General	698
	B. Specific Countries	700
	1. France	700
	2. Germany	701
	3. Sweden	703
IV.	Highly Specialized Tribunals and Boards	705
	A. In General	705
	B. Specific Countries	705
	1. Great Britain	705
	2. United States	706
	3. Canada and Japan	707
V.	Arbitration	708
VI.	Remedies in Rights Disputes: Two Examples	713
	A. Remedies for Wrongful Termination of Employment	714
	B. Remedial Measures for Illegal or Unlawful Strikes	715
	Select Bibliography	716

Chapter 23

Settlement of Disputes over Interests

A. Goldman 719

I.	Overview of Models for Interests Disputes Settlement	719
	A. Acquiescence in Unilateral Action	720
	B. Governmental Fiat	720
	C. Alliance Discipline	721
	D. Adjudication	721
	E. Voting	722
	F. Negotiation	722
	G. Conciliated Negotiation	723
	H. Prestigious Exhortation	723

II.	Acquiescence in Unilateral Action	723
III.	Governmental Fiat	729
IV.	Alliance Discipline	732
V.	Adjudication	734
VI.	Voting	739
VII.	Negotiation	740
VIII.	Conciliated Negotiation	742
IX.	Prestigious Exhortation	746
	Select Bibliography	749
 Index		 751