

Contents

I—Procedure

1. Caseflow Management in the Trial Court	1
I. R. Scott
2. ‘The Rational Study of Law’: Social Research and Access to Justice	31
Ross Cranston
3. Reform in the Shadow of Lawyers’ Interests	61
A.A.S. Zuckerman
4. Why Lord Woolf’s Proposed Reforms of Civil Litigation Should be Rejected	79
Michael Zander
5. Making Tracks	97
Nick Armstrong
6. A Fresh Approach: Uniform Rules of Court	119
Dick Greenslade
7. Discovery in Commercial Litigation	137
David Mackie
8. The Woolf Report: Against the Public Interest?	149
Conrad Dehn Q.C.
9. The Adversarial Principle: Fairness and Efficiency	169
Neil Andrews
10. Raising the Small Claims Limit	185
John Baldwin
11. Why Public Law is Private Law: An Invitation to Lord Woolf	201
CAROL HARLOW

II—Foreign Perspectives

12. ‘Déjà Vu All Over Again’? An American Reaction to the Woolf Report	219
Richard L. Marcus
13. Too Much Lawyering, Too Little Law: Comments on ‘Access to Justice’	245
Samuel Issacharoff

- 14. Limiting Costs for Better Access to Justice—The German Experience 265
Dieter Leipold

III—Socio Economic Dimensions

- 15. Regulating the Market for Civil Justice 279
Hugh Gravelle
- 16. The Role of Legal Expenses Insurance in Securing Access to the Market for Legal Services 305
A. Gray and N. Rickman
- 17. The Economics of Cost-shifting Rules 327
N. Rickman
- 18. The Government's Legal Aid Reforms 346
T. Goriely
- 19. Time Management and Procedural Reform: Some Questions for Lord Woolf 371
Robert Dingwall and Tom Durkin
- 20. Access to Just Settlement: The Case of Medical Negligence 393
Hazel Genn
- 21. Access to Justice: Lessons from Tribunals 413
Roy Sainsbury and Hazel Genn
- 22. Legal Expenses Insurance 431
Vivien Prais
- 23. Litigation and Settlement 447
Simon Roberts