

Content

7	Isolated island of freedom	46	A world of two superpowers
8	Tomáš Garrigue Masaryk – philosopher president	47	Normalisation
8	A small historic moment	49	Audience
9	Multi-ethnic Czechoslovakia	50	Charter 77
10	An advanced country	51	The true face of the Husák regime
11	Václav Havel was lucky in his birth	55	Under state surveillance
12	A first-rate pleasure palace	55	The power of the powerless
12	Munich: the betrayal of 1938	58	Prisoner of conscience
15	Tasteful luxury at the Havels'	58	Letters and infidelity to Olga
19	The Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia	61	The erosion of the socialist bloc in the 1980s
21	Life on the edge of collaboration	63	Civic awakening
22	A posh city boy in a village school	64	A breeze of freedom
22	Post-war Czechoslovakia in Stalin's sphere of influence	65	Back in jail
26	The transfer of the Sudeten Germans	66	The fall of the Iron Curtain
26	The Iron Curtain	70	The 17th of November 1989
31	Communist dictatorship and the shattering of the foundations of society	71	The birth of Civic Forum
32	Hard times	73	"We are not like them", or the Velvet Revolution
33	Bourgeois origin = excluded from studies	73	Havel to the Castle!
34	The Soviet Union as a superpower	79	Our country is not flowering
36	The 1950s in Czechoslovakia	82	Non-political politics
37	His own way	82	International stardom
38	The first stirrings of the writer	86	The woes of power
38	The idiotic Czechoslovak army	87	The Lucerna
39	Laughter against stupidity	88	Love
39	Vocation above circumstances	89	Leaving
40	Prague Spring without illusions	92	Epilogue
44	From stage hand to famous dramatist	95	Bibliography