

Table of Contents

Table of Cases	xiii
List of Abbreviations	xix
Note on Previous Work	xx
1. The Impulse to Arbitrate	1
1.1 Fundamental Speculations	1
1.2 The Arbitrator as Archetype	4
1.3 Arbitral Virtues	7
1.4 Dubious Historical Parallels	10
1.5 Ambivalence Toward Law	13
1.6 Untidy Realities	18
1.7 The Nobler Objective: Good Courts	24
2. The Legal Foundations of Arbitration	29
2.1 Matters of Definition	30
2.2 The Territorial Thesis	32
2.3 The Pluralistic Thesis	35
2.4 A False Start	39
2.5 The Pluralistic Thesis Revised	45
2.6 Three-dimensional Reality	48
3. Private Challenges	51
3.1 Jurisdictional Controversies: Who Decides Them, and When	53
(A) Kompetenz-Kompetenz	54
(B) The concept of negative effect	58
(C) Separability demystified	60
(D) American struggles with 'arbitrability'	72
(E) An overarching presumption	77
3.2 Jurisdiction Distinguished from Admissibility	82
3.3 The Right to be Heard	90
3.4 Substantive Errors	93
4. The Public Challenge	99
4.1 The Tension between Public Regulation and Arbitration	100
4.2 Why Should Arbitration be Allowed at All?	104
4.3 Unduly Procured Consent	108
4.4 Excluded Areas	115
4.5 Should Arbitrators be Allowed to Apply the Law?	123

4.6	Should Arbitrators be Allowed to Decide Issues of Public Policy?	129
	(A) Public policy and judicial restraint	130
	(B) Arbitrators' right and duty to apply mandatory laws	133
	(C) Illegal contracts and public policy	137
	(D) The finality of arbitral rulings on public policy claims	138
4.7	Recapitulation: Degrees of Arbitral Authority	145
5.	Ethical Challenges	147
5.1	The Weak Spot	147
5.2	Fitness to Serve	149
5.3	The Limited Benefits of Disclosure	152
5.4	Moral Hazard and the Unilateral Nominee	153
	(A) The worm in the apple	153
	(B) Dubious assumptions	164
5.5	Motivation	166
5.6	The Trouble with Dissents	167
5.7	Breaking Faith	169
5.8	The Case for an Elitist Approach	171
6.	International Challenges	174
6.1	The Hubris of Monopoly	174
6.2	Clashes of Culture?	178
6.3	Inequality of Arms	179
6.4	Operating in Three Dimensions	183
	(A) The necessity of invention	183
	(B) An apter model for a fluid world	193
7.	National Public Policy in the International Environment: Avoiding the Chancellor's Foot	200
7.1	Recurrent Problems	200
7.2	Concepts and Nomenclature	207
7.3	Public Policy and Concurrent Court Proceedings	209
7.4	Public Policy and Courts that Intervene after the Award	213
7.5	Public Policy and Arbitrators	224
7.6	Recapitulation	229
8.	Arbitral Authority to Reject Unlawful Laws	231
8.1	Applicable Law Means More Than Statutes and Decrees	231
8.2	National Checks on Unlawful Laws	234
8.3	The Application of National Corrective Norms	237
8.4	Two Illustrations	240
8.5	Matters of Legal Philosophy	243
8.6	Pierre Mayer's 'Realistic' Objections	246
8.7	Ten Short Propositions	254

9. Images in a Crystal Ball	256
9.1 Empowerment through Responsible Self-governance	256
9.2 Symbiosis of Judges and Arbitrators	259
(A) Are judges jealous of arbitrators?	259
(B) Common objectives	263
(C) Complementarities	265
(D) Indispensable dialogue	268
(E) The attraction of specialized courts	271
9.3 Open Doors	273
9.4 Decline of Unilateral Appointments	276
(A) Understanding the debate	276
(B) The special case of inter-state arbitrations	277
(C) Reasons to avoid unilaterals	278
(D) If we must live with them...	281
9.5 Designing Legitimacy for 'A Nation of Devils'	283
(A) Transparency	286
(B) Engagement with the community of users	287
(C) Barriers to entrenchment and conflicts of interest	288
(D) Standards and sanctions	290
(E) Appeal?	291
9.6 Resurgence of the Influence of Scholarship	293
9.7 Virtuous Circles	298
Index	303