

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Methodology	9
	References	15
2	Contemporary Approaches in the Philosophy of Human Rights	17
2.1	Alan Gewirth's Dialectically Necessary Approach	20
2.2	James Griffin's Normative Agency Approach	22
2.3	Martha Nussbaum's Capabilities Approach	26
2.4	David Miller's and Massimo Renzo's Human Needs Approach . . .	30
2.5	Marek Piechowiak's Classical Philosophy Approach	32
2.6	Political Approach	35
2.7	Towards Contemporary Analytic Metaphysics	43
	References	46
3	Entities in Philosophy of Human Rights	49
3.1	Human Rights	49
3.1.1	Human Rights as Entities and Moral Facts	55
3.2	Human Dignity	58
3.2.1	Classical and Christian Approach to Human Dignity	63
3.2.2	Kantian and Kantian-Analytic Approach to Human Dignity	65
3.2.3	What Kind of Metaphysical Entity Is Human Dignity?	70
3.3	Human Nature	73
3.3.1	Human Nature as a Set of Necessary/Essential Properties	74
3.3.2	Human Nature as an Ideal or Pattern	78
3.3.3	Human Nature as a Statistically Dominant Tendency	82
3.3.4	Conclusions	93
	References	95

4	Contemporary Analytic Metaphysics	99
4.1	Naturalisation	100
4.2	Moral Naturalism and Autonomy of Ethics	104
4.3	Relational Metaphysics (Theory of Grounding)	109
4.4	Reduction Account: Ontological Naturalism	113
	References	116
5	Supervenience Account	119
5.1	Supervenience	119
5.2	Supervenience Between Human Rights, Human Dignity and Human Nature	122
5.3	Supervenience of (Universal) Human Rights	123
5.4	Supervenience of Particular Human Rights	125
5.5	Supervenience of Human Dignity	128
5.6	Consequences of the Supervenience Account	131
5.7	Conclusions	135
	References	137
6	Metaphysical Grounding Account	139
6.1	Metaphysical Grounding	139
6.1.1	Why Does the Grounding Hold?	143
6.1.2	Metaphysical Grounding in the Positivist Theory of Law	145
6.2	Metaphysical Grounding Between Human Rights, Human Dignity and Human Nature	147
6.3	Grounding of Particular Human Rights	148
6.4	Grounding of Universal Human Rights	156
6.5	Grounding of Human Dignity	158
6.5.1	How Human Dignity Can Be Grounded in Human Nature?	161
6.6	Consequences of the Grounding Account	172
6.7	Conclusions	179
	References	180
7	Problems, Objections and Consequences	183
7.1	Explanation, Justification, Understanding	183
7.1.1	Explanation	184
7.1.2	Justification	189
7.1.3	Justification of Human Rights by Their Metaphysical Explanation	190
7.1.4	Understanding	190
7.2	Objection of Essentialism and Foundationalism	192
7.3	A Worse Part of Our Nature	197
7.4	The Problem of Psychopaths and Sociopaths	201
7.5	How Does My Approach Help to Reject the Objection of Western Ethnocentrism?	203

7.6	Theoretical and Methodological Consequences	209
	References	213
8	Summary	217
	References	221