

Detailed contents

Preface	v
Acknowledgements	ix
Table of Cases	xxiii
Table of Legislation	xxxv

1 The Scope and Sources of Health Care Law	1
A. The scope of health care law	2
B. Types of health care law	4
C. General law	6
(i) Common law	6
(ii) UK legislation	8
D. Human rights law	10
E. European law	13
F. Professional law	14
G. Quasi-law	15
H. Scrutinizing professional and quasi-law	17
I. Employment law	19
J. Conclusion	20

---

PART I HEALTH AND THE LAW

2 Public Health Law	23
A. Environmental and collective issues	25
(i) Air	25
(ii) Water	26
(iii) Pollution control	26
B. State responsibility for infectious disease control	27
(i) Notification	29
(ii) Powers to acquire information	30
(iii) Powers to remove, isolate, and detain	31
(iv) Vaccination	33

(v) Conclusion	34
C. HIV and public health law	34
D. Human rights issues	36
E. Employers' responsibilities for health and safety at work	38
F. Individual responsibility for the health of others	39
G. Lifestyle issues	44
H. Compulsory care	45
(i) Infectious disease control	46
(ii) The National Assistance Acts	47
(iii) Compulsory health promotion? The case of fluoridation	48
I. Conclusion	50
3 Rights to National Health Service Care	51
A. Rights to health care	52
(i) Hospital and community services	53
(ii) Primary health care	54
(iii) Community care	57
(iv) The Patient's Charter	60
(v) Refining the scope of the New NHS	61
(vi) Legal constraints on commissioning	63
B. Enforcing rights to health care	67
(i) Public law actions	68
(ii) Private law	74
(iii) Enforcement of primary care contracts	78
C. Conclusion	80
4 The Structure of the NHS	81
A. Central planning and control	82
B. Commissioning and planning services	84
(i) Strategic Health Authorities	84
(ii) Primary Care Trusts	85
(iii) Social Services Departments	86
C. Providers of services	87
(i) NHS Trusts	87
(ii) Joint working and 'Care Trusts'	91
(iii) Independent sector	92

D. Corporate governance in the NHS	94
(i) Probity	94
(ii) Corporate governance and controls assurance	96
(iii) Clinical governance	97
(iv) Openness	98
(v) Patient and carer support	100
(vi) Race relations	100
E. Quality control	101
(i) The Commission for Health Improvement	101
(ii) The Audit Commission	103
(iii) Inquiries	104
F. Democratic accountability	106
(i) The Health Select Committee	106
(ii) Local authority overview and scrutiny	106
(iii) Commission for Patient and Public Involvement in Health	108
(iv) Patients' Forums	108
(v) Community Health Councils	109
G. Conclusion	111
5 National Health Service Complaints	112
A. The basic structure of the complaints system	114
B. Local resolution in health authorities and NHS Trusts	117
C. Complaints in family health services	118
D. Independent review	119
(i) The role of the convener	119
(ii) The review panel	120
(iii) Responses	121
E. Complaints about commissioning	122
F. Complaints about NHS services from independent providers	122
G. Health Service Commissioners	123
(i) The scope of the Commissioner's powers	124
(ii) Invoking an investigation by the Commissioner	125
(iii) Outcomes	126
H. Conclusion	127

PART II HEALTH CARE PRACTICE AND THE LAW

6 Professional Regulation	133
A. The Council for the Regulation of Health Care Professionals	135
B. Medicine	137
(i) The constitution of the GMC	138
(ii) The medical register	141
(iii) Discipline	143
(iv) Professional competence	151
(v) Medical ethics	152
C. Nursing and midwifery	154
(i) The constitution of the NMC	155
(ii) The register	155
(iii) Fitness to practise	156
(iv) Supervision of midwives	161
(v) Professional conduct and ethics	162
D. Complementary therapists	162
E. Conclusion	164
7 Malpractice Litigation I: The Law	165
A. The basis of liability	166
B. The law of negligence	167
(i) The duty of care	167
(ii) The standard of care	169
(iii) Tailoring the standard of care to the circumstances: health care teams	177
(iv) A variable standard of care? Resource issues	180
(v) Direct liability	182
(vi) The significance of policies and protocols	183
(vii) Causation	184
C. Damages	186
D. Criminal 'negligence'	187
E. Conclusion	189

8 Malpractice Litigation II: In Practice	190
A. Encouraging claims: a duty to explain mishaps?	191
B. Bringing a case: the law of limitation	192
C. Who pays? Financial aspects of malpractice litigation	193
(i) Costs and legal aid	194
(ii) Vicarious liability and the NHS indemnity scheme	197
(iii) Apportionment between defendants	201
D. Litigation crisis?	202
(i) What is actually happening?	203
(ii) The transatlantic nightmare	207
(iii) Clinical effects of claims: defensive practices	209
E. A move to no-fault?	211
F. Conclusion	213
9 Medicines and the Law	214
A. The development and licensing of medicines	215
B. Marketing medicines	217
C. Control of the use of medicines	218
D. Compensation for drug-induced injury	221
E. Conclusion	224

---

PART III THE POSITION OF THE PATIENT

10 Consent to Treatment	227
A. Real consent	229
(i) Competence	230
(ii) Limits to the validity of consent	231
(iii) Coercion and undue influence	232
(iv) Information	234
(v) HIV testing	234
(vi) General consents	236
(vii) Absence of fraud	236
(viii) The form of consent	237

B. Care without consent	238
(i) The vicissitudes of everyday life	239
(ii) Public policy	239
(iii) Incompetent patients	240
C. Counselling and informed consent	242
(i) The Sidaway case	243
(ii) Interpreting Sidaway	246
(iii) The patient who seeks information	248
(iv) Non-therapeutic contexts	249
(v) Professional guidance	250
D. Conclusion	251
11 Confidentiality and Data Protection	252
A. Sources of the legal obligation of confidence	254
B. Data protection principles	258
C. The limits of the legal obligation of confidentiality	262
(i) The patient's consent	264
(ii) The 'need to know'	265
(iii) The public interest I: threats of serious harm to others	267
(iv) The public interest II: child protection	269
(v) The public interest III: public debate and press freedom	271
(vi) The public interest IV: residual problems	272
(vii) Specific statutory provisions	273
(viii) Confidentiality and court proceedings	276
(ix) Genetic information	276
D. Professionally recognized limits to confidentiality	277
E. Access to health care information by patients	282
(i) Supreme Court Act 1981	282
(ii) Social care records	283
(iii) Access to Medical Reports Act 1988	284
(iv) Access to Health Records Act 1990	286
(v) Data Protection Act 1998	287
F. Conclusion	288

12 Care for Children	289
A. Child consent	290
B. No consent needed	294
C. Parental consent	296
(i) Who is a 'parent'?	296
(ii) Where parents disagree	297
(iii) Where parents and children disagree	298
(iv) The limits of parental consent	300
D. Independent review	304
E. Confidentiality	308
F. Child care law	311
(i) Care and supervision orders	312
(ii) Child protection	314
(iii) Expert evidence and reports	315
(iv) Information-sharing	316
G. Conclusion	317
13 Mental Health	319
A. Legal aspects of care in the community	320
(i) Rights to services	320
(ii) Supervision in the community	321
B. Powers of protection	326
C. Admission to hospital	329
D. Patients' rights in hospital	333
E. Treatment	334
F. Discharge	338
G. Conclusion	343
14 Research	345
A. Research on human subjects	346
(i) NHS research governance	348
(ii) Research ethics committees	350
(iii) Specific licensing requirements	356
(iv) Clinical trials	358
(v) Consent to research by competent adults	361
(vi) Research with children	363

(vii) Research with the mentally incapacitated	366
(viii) Other special groups	368
(ix) Problems of confidentiality in health care research	369
(x) Compensation	372
B. Animal research	373
C. Conclusion	375

---

PART IV HEALTH CARE LAW AND ETHICS

15 Abortion	379
A. The scheme of abortion law	380
(i) From conception to implantation	381
(ii) Termination under the Abortion Act 1967	382
(iii) Safeguards	383
(iv) The 'social' ground	384
(v) Dating the pregnancy	385
(vi) Maternal health grounds	386
(vii) The foetal handicap ground	387
B. Rights of conscience	388
C. The residual importance of the Infant Life Preservation Act 1929	390
D. Paternal rights	392
E. Conclusion	392
16 Fertility	394
A. Family planning	395
B. Non-consensual sterilization	398
C. The Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985	402
D. The Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990	404
(i) Conditions of licensing	405
(ii) Treatment services and the welfare of children	407
(iii) Assessing the suitability of donors	408
(iv) Information	408
E. Status provisions	409
F. Conclusion	414

17 Maternity Care	415
A. The legal structure of maternity services	415
B. Antenatal care	418
C. The place and manner of birth	419
D. Maternal–foetal conflicts	421
(i) Deterring ‘foetal abuse’ through punishment	422
(ii) Civil liability for injuries to the foetus	423
(iii) Wardship and the foetus	423
(iv) Care without consent	424
E. Post-natal care	427
F. Administrative aspects of birth	428
G. Conclusion	429
18 Selective Treatment of the Newborn	430
A. Criminal law and the limits of choice	431
B. Professionals and parents	434
C. The court decisions	437
D. Conclusion	441
19 Transplantation	443
A. Sale of organs	444
B. Live donors	446
(i) Consent	446
(ii) Licensing	449
C. Cadaver donations	450
(i) Authorization	450
(ii) Dead or alive?	453
(iii) The role of the coroner	454
D. Xenotransplantation	455
E. Liability for diseased organs or tissue	455
F. Conclusion	457
20 Terminal Care and Euthanasia	459
A. Active and passive euthanasia	461
B. The law of homicide	464
C. Mercy killing	466

D. Assisting suicide	467
E. Voluntary passive euthanasia	468
F. Living wills	470
G. Decisions about attempting resuscitation	474
H. Withdrawal of life-sustaining care	476
I. Patients in a permanent vegetative state	479
J. Administrative aspects of death	481
K. Disposal of the body	482
L. Conclusion	483
21 Regulating Health Care Ethics	485
A. The Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority	489
B. Clinical ethics committees	491
C. Retained Organs Commission	494
D. Human Genetics Commission	496
E. Nuffield Council on Bioethics	498
F. Conclusion	499
Index	501