

Contents

| | |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| List of figures | vii |
| List of tables | ix |
| List of contributors | xi |
| Acknowledgements | xv |

1 Introduction: children in the context of changing families and welfare states
Jane Lewis 1

PART I CHILDREN AS A SOCIAL INVESTMENT

2 The LEGO™ paradigm and new social risks: consequences for children
Jane Jenson 27

3 An agenda for children: investing in the future or promoting well-being in the present?
Ruth Lister 51

PART II PAYING FOR CHILDREN

4 Child benefit packages in 15 countries in 2004
Jonathan Bradshaw 69

5 Paying for the costs of children in eight North European countries: ambivalent trends
Ulla Björnberg 90

6 Paying for children: current issues and implications of policy debates
Fran Bennett 110

PART III CARING FOR CHILDREN

7 Cultures of childhood and the relationship of care and employment in European welfare states
Birgit Pfau-Effinger 137

| | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 8 | From a childcare to a pedagogical discourse – or putting care in its place Peter Moss | 154 |
| 9 | The OECD and the work/family reconciliation agenda: competing frames Rianne Mahon | 173 |
| PART IV CHILDREN AND THE SEARCH FOR A WORK–LIFE BALANCE | | |
| 10 | Childcare in a changing world: policy responses to working time flexibility in France Marie-Thérèse Letablier | 201 |
| 11 | Work life balance from the children's perspective Ute Klammer | 220 |
| 12 | Squeezed between two agendas: work and childcare in the flexible UK Diane Perrons | 243 |
| 13 | Men and women's agency and capabilities to create a worklife balance in diverse and changing institutional contexts Barbara Hobson, Ann-Zofie Duvander and Karin Halldén | 267 |
| Index | | 297 |