

CONTENTS

|  |          |    |
|--|----------|----|
| Welcome and Introductory Remarks – Petr Vančura , Director,Prague Institute for National Security                                   | 4        |    |
| Opening Remarks – Stephen J. Coffey , Chargé d’Affaires,U.S. Embassy in Prague  | 7        |    |
| PANEL I: Present Missile Threat to Europe and the U.S.   |          |    |
| Roger W. Robinson Jr. , former Senior Director for InternationalEconomic Policy, National Security Council – moderator of the panel | 11       |    |
| Dr. Robert Pfaltzgraff , Professor of Security Studies,Fletcher School of Diplomacy, Tufts University                               | 12       |    |
| Frank Gaffney , President, Center for Security Policy, Washingtonfrom the discussion  | 1923 |    |
| PANEL II: European-U.S. Relationship in the Context of Alliance Security   |          |    |
| Petr Vančura – moderator of the panel   | 25       |    |
| Volker Mey , Director, Institute for Strategic Studies, Bonn  | 25       |    |
| William F. Martin , former U.S. Deputy Secretary of Energy  | 29       |    |
| Samiro Cibrian , Ambassador of the European Union in the Czechlandsfrom the discussion  | 3240 |    |
| UNCHEON ADDRESS – Sir John Walker , Air Marshall, former Headof British Defence Intelligence Service                                |          | 44 |
| PANEL III: The Russian Threat  |          |    |
| Roger Robinson – moderator of the panel   | 53       |    |
| Vladimir Bukovsky , Russian dissident   | 54       |    |
| Françoise Thom , Professor of Modern History at the Sorbonne, Paris   | 59       |    |
| James Sherr , Fellow, Conflict Studies Research Centre, United Kingdom  | 65       |    |
| PANEL IV: The Faltering Post-Communist Central Europe  |          |    |
| Petr Vančura – moderator of the panel   | 71       |    |
| Włodzisław Naimski , Adviser to the Prime Minister of Poland for Foreign Policy   | 72       |    |
| Maria Schmidt , Chairwoman, 20 th Century Institute, Budapest  | 75       |    |
| Bohumír Čech , Justice of the Czech Constitutional Courtfrom the discussion   | 8184 |    |
| Closing Remarks – Jaromír Žegklitz , President, The Civic Institute   | 87       |    |