

Contents

Preface to the sixth edition	v
Extract from the preface to the first edition	ix
Table of statutes	xix
Table of cases	xxv
 Chapter I Introduction	 1
Section 1. The development of the law of evidence	1
Section 2. Range of the law of evidence	4
A. Proceedings in courts	4
B. Proceedings in other tribunals	12
Section 3. Purposes and categories of judicial evidence	16
A. Objects of proof	16
B. Means of proof	37
C. Evidence of identity	44
Section 4. Relevance, admissibility and weight of evidence	49
A. The admissibility of relevant evidence	50
B. The inadmissibility of irrelevant and insufficiently relevant evidence	53
C. Relevance and admissibility	58
D. Admissibility and weight of evidence	59
E. Terminology	60
 Chapter II Matters not requiring proof and judicial findings as evidence	 62
Section 1. Judicial notice	62
A. Facts judicially noticed without inquiry	63
B. Facts judicially noticed after inquiry	64
C. Statutory provisions	66
D. Theoretical questions	67
Section 2. Formal admissions	72
Section 3. Estoppel	72
A. Estoppel by record	73
B. Estoppel by deed	88
C. Estoppel by conduct	90
D. Estoppel by negligence	93
E. Limits on estoppel by conduct	95
F. The place of estoppel in the law	96
Section 4. Judicial findings as evidence of the facts upon which they were based	97
A. The Civil Evidence Act 1968, ss 11–13	98
B. Previous convictions in criminal cases	101
C. Acquittals	102
D. Other findings	103

Chapter III Burden of proof and presumptions	105
Section 1. Different types of burden	105
A. Two principal burdens	107
Section 2. The incidence of the burden of proof	110
A. General rules	110
B. Presumptions expressing the incidence of the burden of proof	114
C. Some statutes affecting the incidence of the burden of proof	116
D. The interpretation of agreements affecting the burden of proof	126
Section 3. Shifting burdens and rebuttable presumptions	127
A. Provisional burdens	129
B. Ultimate burden	131
C. Presumptions	131
Section 4. The presumption of negligence	135
A. Res ipsa loquitur	136
B. Proof of negligence generally	139
 Chapter IV Degrees of proof	 140
Section 1. Discharge of evidential burden	140
Section 2. Civil and criminal standards	141
Section 3. The question of a third standard and the possibility of anomalies	148
Section 4. Mathematics and the standard of proof	149
 Chapter V The functions of the judge and jury	 152
Section 1. The general rule	152
A. Some special cases	153
B. Exceptions	154
Section 2. Judicial control of the jury	164
A. Withdrawal of an issue from the jury	164
B. Discretion to exclude evidence	167
C. The summing up	182
D. Appeals	184
 Chapter VI The competence and compellability of witnesses	 187
Section 1. Historical introduction	187
A. Non-Christians	188
B. Convicts	188
C. Interested persons	189
D. Parties	189
E. Spouses of the parties	190
Section 2. Competence and compellability under the modern law	191
A. Children	192
B. Persons of defective intellect	193
C. The accused	194
D. Spouses	199
E. Other relationships	202
F. The sovereign and diplomats	203
G. Bankers	203
Section 3. Oath, affirmation and unsworn evidence	203
A. Oath and affirmation	203
B. Unsworn evidence	204
Section 4. Procedure	205

Chapter VII Corroboration	207
Section 1. When corroboration is required	208
A. Statutory provisions	208
B. Rules of practice	214
Section 2. The nature of corroboration	225
A. General observation	225
B. Conduct or condition of the person whose testimony requires corroboration	227
C. Conduct of the party against whom corroboration is required	228
D. Functions of judge and jury	234
Section 3. The question of reform in criminal cases	235
 Chapter VIII The course of evidence	 238
Section 1. Miscellaneous procedural matters	238
A. Evidence before trial	238
B. The right to begin	241
C. The advocates' speeches	242
D. The calling of witnesses and the role of the judge	242
Section 2. Examination-in-chief	245
A. Leading questions	246
B. Refreshing memory	248
C. Previous consistent statements	256
D. Unfavourable and hostile witnesses	269
Section 3. Cross-examination and re-examination	277
A. Previous consistent statements	278
B. Cross-examination on documents generally	281
C. Finality of answers to collateral questions	282
D. Re-examination	284
 Chapter IX Character and credibility	 286
Section 1. Character of party's own witness	286
Section 2. Character of opponent's witness	288
A. Convictions	288
B. Discreditable acts	289
C. Bias	291
D. Corruption	291
E. Lack of veracity	292
Section 3. Character of party	294
A. Prosecutor	295
B. Accused	300
C. Parties to civil proceedings	307
Section 4. Rehabilitation	309
 Chapter X Similar fact evidence	 310
Section 1. Exclusion at common law in criminal proceedings	311
A. Development of the rule	311
B. Scope of the rule	314
C. Element of the rule	321
D. Application of the rule	329
E. Role of discretion	337
F. Reform of the rule	342
Section 2. Statutory provisions	344
Section 3. Civil cases	346

Chapter XI Criminal Evidence Act 1898	348
Section 1. The general effect of the Act	348
A. The accused who does not give evidence	349
B. The accused who does give evidence	353
Section 2. The interpretation of s 1(f)	354
A. The prohibition	355
B. The interpretation of s 1(f)(i)	360
C. The interpretation of s 1(f)(ii)	362
D. The interpretation of s 1(f)(iii)	373
E. Proposals for reform	376
 Chapter XII Privilege	 378
Section 1. The privilege against self-incrimination	380
A. Statement, history and rationale of the rule	380
B. Miscellaneous points	383
C. Statutory provisions	386
Section 2. Legal professional privilege	388
A. Statement and rationale of the rule	388
B. Exceptions to the rule	397
C. Legal professional privilege and third parties	400
D. The claims of other relationships	402
E. Identity of informant	406
Section 3. Statements made without prejudice	408
A. Miscellaneous points of detail	408
B. Without-prejudice negotiations between estranged spouses	409
C. Limits of the privilege	410
 Chapter XIII Public policy	 411
Section 1. Matters of public interest	413
A. Vital interests of state	414
B. Other interests of state	417
C. Police matters	420
D. Local government matters	422
E. Confidential matters	422
F. Criminal proceedings	424
Section 2. Miscellaneous matters connected with previous litigation	425
A. Evidence of judges of the superior courts	426
B. Evidence of arbitrators	426
C. Evidence of jurors	426
D. Evidence of advocates	427
Section 3. Illegally obtained evidence	427
A. Facts discovered in consequence of inadmissible confessions	429
B. The admissibility of evidence procured in consequence of illegal searches and other unlawful acts	431
C. Evidence that is not obtained illegally	434
D. Conclusion	435
 Chapter XIV Opinion	 436
Section 1. Statement and illustrations of the exclusionary rule	436
A. Statement of the rule	436
B. Illustrations of the exclusionary effect of the rule	438
Section 2. Expert opinion	440
Section 3. Non-expert opinion	443

Section 4. Ultimate issues	445
A. Expert witnesses	446
B. Non-expert witnesses	448
Section 5. Reasons for the exclusion of certain kinds of evidence of opinion	449
Section 6. The rule against hearsay and evidence of opinion	450
Chapter XV The rule against hearsay	453
Section 1. Development and rationale of the rule	453
A. Statement	454
B. History	455
C. Rationale	457
Section 2. Application of the rule	459
A. Writing	459
B. Oral assertions	465
C. Conduct	472
Section 3. Reform of the rule	475
A. Common law	476
B. Legislation	478
Chapter XVI Hearsay statements in civil proceedings	481
Section 1. The Civil Evidence Act 1968, Part I	481
Section 2. Statements admissible under the Civil Evidence Act 1968, ss 2 and 3	484
A. The previous statements of witnesses	484
B. The previous statements of non-witnesses	487
Section 3. Statements contained in records admissible under the Civil Evidence Act 1968, ss 4 and 5	494
A. Records admissible under s 4	494
B. Statements contained in records admissible under s 5: computerised records	497
Section 4. Statements admissible under the Civil Evidence Act 1968, s 9	499
A. Statements admissible by virtue of s 9(1)	499
B. Evidence of reputation admissible by virtue of s 9(3)(a)	500
Section 5. Criticisms and comparisons	506
A. Criticisms	506
B. The Federal Rules	507
Chapter XVII Hearsay statements in civil and criminal cases	510
Section 1. Statements in public documents	510
A. Statement and illustrations of the exception to the hearsay rule	510
B. Conditions of admissibility—the nature of a public document	514
Section 2. Admissions	517
A. Conditions of admissibility	519
B. Documents in the possession or control of a party	520
C. Vicarious admissions	521
D. Statements in the presence of a party	528
Chapter XVIII Hearsay in criminal proceedings	533
Section 1. Confessions	533
A. Development	533
B. Rationale	536

C. Proposals for reform	539
D. Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984	543
E. Questioning suspects	552
Section 2. Statutory provisions applicable in criminal proceedings	557
A. Documentary records	557
B. Computer records	559
C. Criminal Justice Act 1967, s 9	561
Section 2. Statements of deceased persons admissible at common law	561
A. Declarations against interest	562
B. Declarations in the course of duty	571
C. Dying declarations	575
Section 4. Miscellaneous common law exceptions to the hearsay rule	578
A. Testimony in former proceedings	579
B. Evidence of age	579
Chapter XIX The doctrine of res gestae	581
Section 1. Four exceptions to the hearsay rule associated with the doctrine of res gestae in criminal cases	581
A. Statements accompanying and explaining relevant acts	582
B. Spontaneous statements relating to an event in issue made by participants or observers	584
C. Statements concerning the maker's contemporaneous state of mind or emotion	590
D. Statements of contemporaneous physical sensation	596
Section 2. Statements forming part of the res gestae received as original evidence	597
Section 3. Evidence of opinion received as part of the res gestae	598
Section 4. Facts received as part of the res gestae	598
Section 5. Res gestae and other exclusionary rules	598
Chapter XX Documentary evidence	600
Section 1. Proof of the contents of a document	600
A. The general rule	600
B. Exceptions to the general rule	605
Section 2. Proof of the execution of private documents	610
A. Proof of handwriting	610
B. Proof of attestation	613
C. Presumptions relating to documents	614
D. The Stamp Act 1891	615
Section 3. The admissibility of extrinsic evidence affecting the contents of a document	615
A. The conclusiveness of a document as evidence of the terms of the transaction it embodies	615
B. Extrinsic evidence in aid of interpretation	624
Chapter XXI Proof of frequently recurring matters	630
Section 1. Foreign law	630
A. Judicial notice and previous decisions	631
B. Other statutory provisions	632
C. Expert witness	632
Section 2. Birth, age, death, marriage and legitimacy	633
A. Birth	633
B. Age	634

C. Death	635
D. Marriage	635
E. Legitimacy	637
Section 3. Judgments and convictions	638
A. Civil cases	638
B. Criminal cases	638
Section 4. Miscellaneous	640
A. Custom and usage	640
B. Ownership	640
Index	643