

Contents

Preface	v
Table of statutes	xv
Table of cases	xxvii

CHAPTER ONE

A brief history of social housing I

Introduction	1
Why 'council housing'?	5
The public health origins	6
'... the sty that made the pig'	10
Subsidies and the private landlords	13
The 1914–18 war and 'Homes Fit for Heroes'	15
The first Labour Government, 1924	20
Housing for the poor?	22
Slum clearance	23
The situation in 1939	25
After World War Two	26
The 1945 Labour Government	26
The high-rise era	29
The 1957 Rent Act	30
The new housing crisis	31
'The party of council housing'?	32
From redevelopment to rehabilitation	34
Labour and owner occupation	36

Housing subsidies under the Conservatives	38
The rise of housing associations	40
The Thatcher years	41
The 'enabling role' and beyond	45
The new world for housing associations	48
The Major Government	48
New Labour	51
Conclusion	54
Further reading	54

CHAPTER TWO

The provision and disposal of social housing 56

What is social housing and who provides it?	56
The housing authorities	57
Provision of housing by housing associations, and other 'registered social landlords'	59
THE DISPOSAL OF SOCIAL HOUSING	67
Introduction	67
The sale of council houses	67
The 'right to buy' under the Housing Act 1985 (as amended)	70
Rent into mortgage	81
The powers of the Secretary of State	89
GENERAL POWERS OF DISPOSAL	90
Voluntary stock transfers	91
The effect of transfer on RTB	95
Part III of the 1988 Act (HATs)	96
Further reading	100

CHAPTER THREE

Social housing: its allocation, the rights and status of its tenants 101

THE STATUS OF HOUSING OCCUPATION	101
ALLOCATION POLICIES (COUNCIL HOUSING)	106
Reform	108
Discrimination in housing allocation on racial and sexual grounds	109
Discrimination and disability	112
The statutory rules on allocation	113
The Allocation Scheme	121
ALLOCATION POLICIES (REGISTERED SOCIAL LANDLORDS)	125
THE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE COMMENCEMENT OF A TENANCY	126

INTRODUCTORY TENANCIES	127
Security of tenure	135
GROUNDS FOR POSSESSION (INITIAL ISSUES)	137
Suitable alternative accommodation	137
General considerations affecting discretionary grounds of possession	147
Use of possession proceedings in cases of arrears	149
OTHER INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS OF SECURE TENANTS	158
Subletting and assignment	158
Improvements	159
THE COLLECTIVE RIGHTS OF SECURE TENANTS	161
Variation of terms and publicity	161
Tenant participation in housing management	162
The rise and fall of compulsory competitive tendering	164
Inspection powers	165
Transfer arrangements	167
Proactive tenant management	167
One cautionary note	170
Further developments – moving towards ‘best value’, consultation on central guidance	170
What are these tenant participation compacts?	170
Further key points about the policy	171
TENURE OF HOUSING ASSOCIATION DWELLINGS AND DWELLINGS OF OTHER REGISTERED SOCIAL LANDLORDS	173
Assured tenancies: the basic position	174
Security of tenure	176
Periodic tenancies	176
Fixed term tenancies	176
Procedure for obtaining possession	177
Security of tenure: ASTs	184
Modification of the assured tenancy regime for association, etc, tenants	185
THE ACCOUNTABILITY OF SOCIAL LANDLORDS	187
The Housing Corporation’s regulatory powers in practice	187
Adjudicatory systems	190
Ombudsmen	190
Procedure	191
The effectiveness of the LO in providing a remedy	192
An Ombudsman for tenants of registered social landlords	194
Particular powers and obligations relating to the determination of investigations	196
Registered social landlords – further guidance on accountability	198
Complaints mechanisms	199
Informatory systems: reports to tenants	200

CONCLUSION	201
Further reading	202

CHAPTER FOUR

The legalities of housing finance, rents and subsidies 204

Local authority capital spending	204
Housing Revenue Accounts (HRAs)	207
Current expenditure	209
Financial arrangements of registered social landlords	219
Rents under registered social landlords	225
The new law of renting under the Housing Act 1988	228
Further reading	233

CHAPTER FIVE

Housing and relationships 234

General housing rights within relationships	234
Housing rights while a relationship subsists	235
Housing rights on disintegration of a relationship	243
The long term rights of the parties on the break-up of a relationship	248
Succession rights	266
Further reading	274

CHAPTER SIX

Homelessness 276

Historical context	276
The legal nature of homelessness	279
The official statistics	279
The law	281
The homeless in law	283
Initial contact with the local authority	286
Eligibility for assistance	290
The interim duty to accommodate	294
Priority need	295
The duties owed to the homeless	298
Intentional homelessness	298
Referral	309
The duties owed to the homeless	312
Duties of notification	322

Offences	323
Protecting the property of the homeless	323
Challenging decisions made under the Act and enforcing the duties	324
Duties under the Children Act 1989	332
The law and homelessness: an assessment	334
Further reading	336

CHAPTER SEVEN

Housing standards 338

Historical context	338
Landlords' obligations in tort	340
Liability under the Occupiers' Liability Act 1957	346
LANDLORDS' OBLIGATIONS IN CONTRACT	346
At common law	346
Under statute	348
Remedies for breaches of covenant	355
PUBLIC LAW REMEDIES FOR DEALING WITH SUB-STANDARD HOUSING	361
The 1989 fitness requirements	362
General guidance on the fitness standard	364
The Code	366
The courses of action available	368
Individual houses (including flats)	368
The legal procedures	370
HOUSING RENEWAL AND IMPROVEMENT	390
Renewal areas	390
Grant aid	393
The types of grant available	394
General restrictions on grant aid	398
Means testing	398
Decisions, notification and payment	399
Grant payment conditions	400
General grant conditions	401
Supplementary provision	403
Group repair schemes (GRS)	403
Home repair assistance (HRA)	405
REMEDIES UNDER THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION ACT 1990	405
The procedure for taking action in respect of a statutory nuisance	409
Rehousing displaced residents	419
Further reading	421

CHAPTER EIGHT

Multi-occupancy and overcrowding 422

Introduction 422

The current problem and the policy response to multiple occupation 423

The supervision of multi-occupation under the Housing Acts 429

Local authority housing and fire precaution powers 435

Overcrowding 460

Further reading 464

Index 465