

CONTENTS

Foreword vii

Kiersten E. Todt

Introduction xiii

Larry Clinton

PART ONE. RETHINKING CYBERSECURITY

1 The Economics of Cybersecurity: Advantage Attackers 3

Larry Clinton

2 Dangerous and Effective: China's Digital Strategy 17

Larry Clinton and Carter (Yingzhou) Zheng

3 The Solar Winds of Change: The Threat of Systemic Cyber Risk 39

Anthony Shapella

4 Outdated and Ineffective: Why Our Current Cybersecurity
Programs Fail to Keep Us Safe 56

Larry Clinton and Alexander T. Green

5 Reinventing Cybersecurity: A Strategic Partnership Approach 78

Larry Clinton and Alexander T. Green

6 The Cybersecurity Policy We Need:
Incentivize, Modernize, Economize 95

Larry Clinton

PART TWO. SECTORS OF CYBERSECURITY

7 Health: Cybersecurity as a Core Element of Patient Care 119

Lou DeSorbo and Jamison Gardner

- 8 Defense: Leveraging the Dual Economies
of the Defense Industrial Base 132
Jeffrey C. Brown, J. R. Williamson, Michael Gordon, Michael Higgins, and Josh Higgins
- 9 Financial Services: Regulation Isn't Enough 151
*Greg Montana, Gary McAlum, Kenneth Huh,
and Tarun Krishnakumar*
- 10 Energy: Protecting the Smart Grid 165
Ryan Boulais and Jamison Gardner
- 11 Retail: Serving Consumers and Keeping Them Secure 175
Andy Kirkland and Alexander T. Green
- 12 Telecommunications: Managing International
Risk in a Post-COVID-19 World 187
Richard Spearman
- 13 Information Technology: Defining How to Govern IT 196
*Larry Clinton, Carter (Yingzhou) Zheng,
and Tarun Krishnakumar*
- Conclusion 209
Larry Clinton
- Notes 217
- Index 253
- About the Contributors 263