

Contents

---

List of Abbreviations	xi
Translators' Introduction	xiii
Author's Preface to the Fourth, Revised Edition (1959)	lxiii

Chapter I. Peace and Feud I

1. Politics and the Feud. The history of power and the history of law. Feud and plunder in political history. I
2. Four Feuds: An Introduction to the Problem. Wenzel Schärowetz von Schärowa against King Ferdinand I, 1541. Georg von Puchheim against Emperor Frederick III, 1453. The lords of Liechtenstein against Duke Albrecht III of Austria, 1394. The compact between King Sigismund of Hungary and Duke Leopold of Austria in regard to feuding in each other's territory, 1405. These actions cannot be comprehended in the concepts of modern public and international law. 9
3. Basic Concepts. "The state," power at the disposal of individuals, Territorial Peace (Landfriede). The feud. Peace, friendship, enmity. Vengeance. Oaths renouncing the right to feud. Enmity and vengeance in modern legal thinking. Peace in the household and among kin. Peace in the land. The idea of the feud as a special case of "peacelessness" presupposes a positive legal order in the modern sense. Persistence of the feud throughout the Middle Ages. Prohibitions of the feud. All forms of feud and non-peace are "enmity." Terms for the feud in the primary sources. Can war and feud be distinguished? 14
4. The Feud in Practice and in Law. (a) The Legal Foundation: Legal feuds and illegal, willful feuds (plunder, tyranny). The execution of "willful" opponents in a feud. The invocation of divine law. (b) The Obligation to Feud. (c) A Legal Complaint as the Precondition of a Lawful Feud: The feud was not merely a subsidiary legal recourse. Interruption of a feud by a legal complaint. (d) Those Entitled to Feud and Those Who Feuded: Knightly feuds and mortal enmity. Full and limited powers of feuding. Those who feuded: rulers, Estates of the empire, nobles, ecclesiastic 36

- seigneurs, towns. Border feuds. Feud against one's lord. Friends, partisans, and supporters. "Mortal enmity" on the part of burghers and peasants. The forbidden feud of burghers and peasants. Peter Passler. The feud and the peasants' sense of Right. (e) The Challenge (Absage: "defiance"): The declaration of feud (challenge) as obligatory. "To maintain honor." Observance of the term before the feud would begin. Challenges of the supporters. Complaint of an "undeclared" feud. (f) The Means of Feuding: Killing. Taking prisoners. Plundering and burning. Exaction of tribute. The relationship between tribute and plundering and burning, the office of incendiary and incendiary rights in Carinthia. (g) Limits to the Feud: The house. Illegal force, deprivation of rights. The house of God. Those who do not have the right to feud. Exemption of enemy property granted to the church under advocacy. Property under guardianship and pawned property. During an expedition outside the territory. Transgression of these limits. (h) Consequences of the Feud: Escalation of sanctions. Impoverishment by feuds. Effects on nonparticipants, on peasants; consequences for their lords. Impact on the pattern of settlement (abandoned villages). (i) Peace (Reconciliation): Armistice. Reconciliation.
5. Feud, State, and the Law. Contemporary judgments of the feud. 90
The feud presupposes an idea of law and rights different from the modern. The unity of power and Right in the feud. Feud, politics, constitution.

Chapter II. State, Law, and Constitution 95

1. "State" and "Society". The modern idea of the state. State and lordship. The disjunction of state and society. Political history, legal history, economic history. The carrying over of modern political, legal, and sociological concepts into the Middle Ages. 95
2. Constitutional History as the History of Constitutional Law. The manuals of German legal history are disposed according to modern categories. "The constitution" in these manuals is understood in the nineteenth-century sense. The separation of public and private law. Sovereignty. The principle of delegation of powers. The juridical personality of the state. History and dogmatic forms of thought. The manuals of Austrian imperial history. Disjunction of state and society, constitution and administration, in the modern sense. Separation of power and Right. Untenability of the usual terminology. 102
3. The Medieval View of Law. God and law (das Recht). The unity of law and the just. The religious foundation, the eternal divine 114 order (Ewa). No division between divine and positive order in the thinking of the laity. The Good Old Law. Resistance. The idea of sovereignty was alien to the Middle Ages. The historical reasons for this. The need to understand the medieval constitution on the basis of the medieval idea of law.

4. The Controversy over the German Medieval State. The distinction between a "patrimonial state" and the state as a juridical person came out of the political issues of constitutionalism in nineteenth-century Germany. Conservative and liberal interpretations. Rudolph Sohm. Georg von Below. Otto von Gierke. Gerhard Seelinger, Adolf Waas, Adolf Gasser. Max Weber. Otto Hintze. 124
5. Our Task. The demand for a conceptual vocabulary in accord with the primary sources. Structural history. 137

Chapter III. The Land and Its Law 139

1. The Land, or a Unit of Territorial Supremacy? Territorial supremacy as "unitary governmental power." The problem of territorial supremacy in Lower Austria. What is a Land? 139
2. The Nature of the Land. Länder and lordships. The Land as the political unit of agriculturalists. "Terra," "provincia." The groups designated as "the Land." 152
3. The Individual Territories. Lower Austria. Upper Austria. Styria. Carinthia. Carniola and the Wendish March. Cilli. Gorizia. Bavaria. Passau. Salzburg. Berchtesgaden. Tyrol. Voralberg et al. 165
4. The Constitution of the Land: Basic Features. Territorial supremacy (Landeshoheit) is a precondition. The Land, its law and its people. The Land as a community of law and of peace. The individual member of the Land-community and his house. 192

Chapter IV. House, Household, and Lordship 200

1. Lordship over Peasants (Grundherrschaft, the Seigneurie). (a) Seigneurie or Great Estate?: Public and private lordship? Dominium and Imperium. Grundherrschaft not just an economic, private structure. Dispersion or dispersal? Grundherrschaft and the constitution of the Land. Dominion. Protection and safeguard. (b) The House as the Nucleus of All Lordship: The lordship takes its name from the lord's house. The house as an enclave of peace. The power of the house-lord. (c) The Substance of Lordship: The lord's favor or grace (Huld). Advocacy (Vogtei), wardship, power. The 200

- subject peasants (Holden). Loyalty. Homage. (d) Protection and Safeguard: From outsiders. Against other members of the community. (e) Aid and Counsel: Counsel in the general sense. Actions obligatory under this title. (f) Imposts, Corvée, Military Obligation: The prevailing theory of medieval impost. Imposts in the individual Länder. Smuggling in of a modern concept of taxation. An impost is "aid." Kinds of impost. Excises. Corvée. Hospitality. Military service. (g) Advocacy (Vogtei): Relationship between advocacy and impost, corvée, military services. Advocacy is "protection and safeguard"; the power of the lord. Extension of advocacy over the dependents of others. Advocacy over foreigners, lodgers, hired-hands. Advocacy over holders of "free" tenancies. Advocacy over free peasants. (h) The Hierarchy of Lordship Rights: Seigneurial authority, authority over villages, administration and jurisdiction. These rights are not "delegated" rights. Their character as immunities. (i) Immunity: Origin of the legal institution. The privilege of immunity is not delegation of public rights in the modern sense. The limits of the house and the lordship vis-à-vis the Land. Protection and safeguard presupposed for the lord of an immunity. (j) The Structure of Seigneurie (Grundherrschaft): Layers of density. Seigneurial authority. Ecclesiastical seigneurie. Knightly seigneurie. (k) The Relationship Between Seigneur and Subject Peasants: All relationships must be seen within the dialectic of protection and aid. Lord and peasant in literature. Influence of lords and peasants on peasant customs. Peasant wars.
2. Town Lordship (Lordship over Burgher Communities). Town lord and burgher community. Burgher and burgher community. 287
  3. Feudal Tenures: Ecclesiastical and Lay. The patronate. Feudalism. 291
- Chapter V. Lordship over the Land; The Land-Community 294
1. Lordship over the Land: (a) The Territorial Prince (Landesherr) as Head of the Territorial Community: Magistrate in the high court of the Land. Head of the army. (b) The Land Lord (Landesherr) as Lord of the Land: His right of dominion over the Land. Advocate (Vogt) of the Land. (c) General Protection: Protecting the peace of the Land. The right of fortification. (d) Blood Justice (Blutbann) in the Lower Territorial Courts: Regalian Rights; Feudal Overlordship. (e) Specific Protection. (f) The Fisc in the Wider Sense: Prelates and Towns. (g) The Fisc in the Narrow Sense: The prince's own estates. Baillival courts (Pfleggerichte). Jews. Resident foreigners. Political importance of the fisc. The fisc and the juridical personality of the state. (h) The Concept of Lordship over the Land. (i) Lordship over the Land and Sovereignty: The formula "the prince is not bound by the laws" (princeps legibus solutus). 295

2. The People of the Land. (a) The Theory of the Medieval Estates: The notion of "the Estates" based on the nineteenth-century concept of "society." (b) The Organization of the Land into Estates: Lords. Knights and squires. Prelates. Towns and Markets. Peasant courts. Foundations of the "Estates of the Land ." The Estates of the Land and the fisc.	324
3. The Relationship Between the Lord of the Land and the People of the Land. (a) Diet and Estates in the Prevailing View: The usual definition presupposes the concept of princely sovereignty. The controversy in the Vormärz over the nature of the Estates. The Tezner-Rachfahl controversy. Otto Hintze. Deputation and representation. (b) The Oath of Fealty (Homage). (c) Joint Action in Judicial and Military Matters. (d) Reciprocal Transactions: Counsel and aid. The diet. Negotiation of counsel and aid. Tasks of the diet. Position of the Estates that pertained to the fisc in the broad sense. (e) The Development of the "Dualism" of Prince and Estates.	341
4. Summary.	363
Glossary	365
Bibliography	369
Index	413