

Table of Contents

Notes on Contributors	v
PART I
Introduction	1
CHAPTER 1
Current Challenges in Czech Labour and Social Security Law in Historical Context
Jan Pichrt	3
§1.01 Introduction	3
§1.02 First Remark: To Historical Traditions and Sources	3
§1.03 Second Remark: To Less Distant History and New Challenges	4
§1.04 Third Remark: To Less Distant Challenges	5
§1.05 Final Remark: To the Current Topic on the Background of Historical Experience	8
PART II
Changing Realities in Labour Law	11
CHAPTER 2
Crisis and Labour Reforms in Spain: A Paradigm Shift?
Magdalena Nogueira Guastavino	13
§2.01 How the Mortgage Crisis Turns into a Global Financial Crisis	13
§2.02 Labour Reforms in Spain	14
§2.03 Hiring and Recruitment Flexibility	14
[A] Job Placement Intermediaries: Occupational Mediation	14
[B] Recruiting	15
§2.04 Internal Flexibility	16
§2.05 External Flexibility	17
[A] Reduction of the Cost of All Kinds of Dismissal Without Cause	17

Table of Contents

[B] Reforms in Collective Redundancies for Business Reasons	17
§2.06 Flexibility and Decentralization of Collective Bargaining	18
§2.07 Something in Return?	19
§2.08 Review after Five Years: The End of Labour Law?	20
Bibliography	21
CHAPTER 3
Reforms of Labour Law in Italy: A Paradigm Shift
Adalberto Perulli	23
§3.01 A Changing Paradigm	23
§3.02 The Industrial Relations System	24
§3.03 The Role of the Judge and the Control of Firm's Power	25
§3.04 The Employment Relationship	26
§3.05 Social Security	29
§3.06 Conclusions	29
CHAPTER 4
The Role of the State and Industrial Relations
Jesús Cruz Villalón	33
§4.01 The Initial and Lengthy Centrality of State Intervention	33
§4.02 Globalization and Its Impact over Previous Schemes	34
§4.03 Other Factors, Cause or Effect, That Impinge on the Weakening of State Power	36
§4.04 The Impact of the New Reality on the Role of the State in Labour Relations	38
[A] Global Trade Agreements, Transnational Companies and Social Clauses	38
[B] Impact on National Labour Relations	40
[C] New Ways of State Intervention on Industrial Relations	40
CHAPTER 5
Social Partners in Social Security: Two Common Forms of Recognition and Selected Issues
Grega Strban & Luka Mišić	43
§5.01 Introduction	43
§5.02 Institutional Inclusion	44
§5.03 Social Dialogue	48
§5.04 Conclusion	50
CHAPTER 6
The Role of the State in Employment Relations
Petr Hůrka	53
§6.01 Laying Down the Rules for Functional Employment Relations	54

§6.02	Assurance of the Quality of Working Conditions, Including Stability of Employment	54
§6.03	The Role of Administrator in Industrial Disputes	55
§6.04	Control Activities in Employment Relations	56
§6.05	The Role of Employer in the Public Sector	57
§6.06	A Party to the Tripartite in Negotiations Conducted by Social Partners	58
§6.07	The Role of Employment Intermediary and Provider of Compensation if Employment Is Lost	58

CHAPTER 7

Social Dialogue in Poland on Historical and Comparative Background

Marek Pliszkiewicz		59
§7.01	Introduction	59
§7.02	Social Dialogue: The Notion, Subjects and Themes	61
§7.03	Legal Basis for Social Dialogue in Poland	62
§7.04	Conditions for Effective Social Dialogue	63
§7.05	Historical and International Factors	64
§7.06	Social Dialogue Development Phases	65
§7.07	Conclusion	70

PART III

Works Councils: Effective Tool in the World of Rule of Information	75
--	----

CHAPTER 8

European Works Councils: Problems of Effectiveness

Dagmara Skupień		77
§8.01	Introduction	77
§8.02	Setting-up of an EWC	79
§8.03	Scope of Information	81
§8.04	Effective Consultations	83
§8.05	Extension of Competencies	85
§8.06	Relations with National Employee Representatives	87
§8.07	Sanctions	88
§8.08	Conclusions	90

CHAPTER 9

EWC Recast Directive: Its Impact, Problems and Outlooks

Romuald Jagodziński	91
§9.01 Introduction and Background	91
§9.02 The Evolution and Importance of Workers' Right in Europe	93
§9.03 European Works Councils in 2018: Current Situation and Outlooks	94
Bibliography	99

Table of Contents

CHAPTER 10

Beyond European Works Councils?: Global Mechanisms of Information-Sharing and Workers' Involvement Within Multinational Enterprises

Attila Kun	103
§10.01 Introduction	103
§10.02 Global Works Councils	104
§10.03 The Broad Idea of Information and Consultation in Transnational Labour Law	105
§10.04 Some New Mechanisms and Regulatory Trends in Possible Support of the Idea of Information and Consultation	107
[A] The Concept of Risk-Based Human Rights 'Due Diligence' and I & C	107
[B] Social Reporting: A Measure of Transparency and Accountability?	109
[C] Transnational Company Agreements and I & C	111
§10.05 Conclusion	112

PART IV

Agency Work: Solving Old Problems with New Instruments	115
--	-----

CHAPTER 11

Temporary Agency Work Directive: As Hollow as Swiss Cheese?

Ronnie Eklund	117
§11.01 The EU Development	118
§11.02 Short Presentation of the 2008 Directive	120
§11.03 Implementation of the Directive	122
§11.04 Case Law of the European Court of Justice	123
§11.05 Conclusion	126

CHAPTER 12

Promoting or Controlling Cross-Border Temporary Agency Work?

Mijke Houwerzijl & Bas Rombouts	127
§12.01 Introduction	127
§12.02 Do Promotion and Exploitation of Cross-Border TAW Go Hand in Hand?	128
§12.03 Regulatory Arbitrage Triggered by the Regulatory Framework	130
§12.04 (Too) Difficult Monitoring of the Applicable Rules	132
§12.05 Concluding Remarks	134

CHAPTER 13

Equal Treatment Between Temporary Agency Workers and Comparable Workers of the User Undertaking

Jaroslav Stránský	137
§13.01 Introduction	137
§13.02 The Principle of Equal Treatment in the Directive	137

§13.03	The Concept of 'Pay'	138
§13.04	Working and Employment Conditions: Less Is More	139
§13.05	Derogations from the Principle of Equal Treatment	140
§13.06	Temporary Assignment and Duration of Contract	142
§13.07	Summary	143
PART V
	Sport and Labour: Specialities and Challenges	145
CHAPTER 14
	When Sport and Labour Law Are Interlocked: Playing Ball with Modernisation
	Frank Hendrickx	147
§14.01	Introduction	147
§14.02	Characteristics of Sport and Law	148
§14.03	The Specificity of Sport	150
§14.04	Immunity from Market Logic?	151
§14.05	But Saved by the (Labour) Market	153
§14.06	Treaty Recognition	154
§14.07	Conclusions	155
CHAPTER 15
	Conclusion and Termination of Employment Relationship in Professional Sports: Special Regulations and Particular Protection Requirements
	Stefano Bellomo	157
§15.01	General Topics	157
§15.02	Need for a Critical Re-assessment of the Idea of Autonomy of Sport	158
§15.03	Professional Sport Activity as an Employment Relationship: A Controversial Issue	160
§15.04	Work Conditions and Forms of Protection, Between General Labour Law Rules and Sport Specificity	163
§15.05	Termination of the Contract: A Border Area Between Specificity and Labour Law General Rules	164
CHAPTER 16
	The Particularities of the 'Job' Performance of the Professional Athlete: Rights and Obligations of the Parties to the Employment Contract
	Costas Papadimitriou	167
§16.01	Introduction	167
§16.02	The Obligations	168
§16.03	The Power of Direction	169
§16.04	The Protection of the Personality of the Athlete	170
§16.05	Disciplinary Measures	172
§16.06	The Right to Employment	173
§16.07	Health and Security	175

Table of Contents

§16.08	Working Time	175
CHAPTER 17
	A Professional Sportsman: An Independent Worker?
	Lubomír Ptáček	177
PART VI
	Social Security: New Solutions for New Problems	181
CHAPTER 18
	Social Security: A New Idea for the Twenty-First Century
	Jean-Pierre Laborde	183
§18.01	Introduction	183
	[A] Social Security as a Value	183
	[B] Social Security as an Organization	183
§18.02	Different Meanings of Social Security	184
§18.03	Future of Social Security	185
	[A] Economic Factors for Change	186
	[B] Social Factors for Change	187
	[C] Cultural Factors for Change	188
§18.04	The Features of a New Social Security Design for the Twenty-First Century	188
	[A] The Organization Corresponding to This New Concept	189
§18.05	Short Conclusion	190
CHAPTER 19
	Social Security and the Modern and Post-Modern Forms of Work
	József Hajdú	191
§19.01	Introduction	191
§19.02	NSE with or Without Social Security	192
§19.03	Emerging New NSE: Crowd or Platform Work in Nutshell	193
§19.04	De Lege Ferenda Solutions to Extend the Social Protection System to NSE	201
§19.05	Summary	202
CHAPTER 20
	New Forms of Social Security? A Comment on Needs and Options for Reform in a National and Supranational Perspective
	Ulrich Becker	205
§20.01	Introduction: On Forms, Types and Systems	205
§20.02	Background: On Societal Changes	206
§20.03	Challenges: Outcomes for Social Security	207
§20.04	Needs: On Necessary Responses	208
§20.05	Options: On Normative Guidelines	208
§20.06	Beyond the Nation State: Social Dimension of European Integration	209

CHAPTER 21

Guaranteed Minimum Income for All? A Task for the ILO

Martin Štefko	213
§21.01 Introduction	213
§21.02 New Thresholds	214
§21.03 No Consensus	215
§21.04 The Czech and German Dilemma	216
[A] The Czech Republic	216
[B] Germany	218
§21.05 Conclusion	220

PART VII

Migrants and Migrant Workers: Their Social Rights	221
---	-----

CHAPTER 22

Labour Law Protection of the Migrant Worker: Ambiguous Answers

Jean-Michel Servais	223
§22.01 An Ambiguous Set of Problems	225
[A] Emigration Countries	225
[B] Host Countries	226
[1] Access to the Labour Market	226
[2] Living Conditions in the Host Country	227
§22.02 An Issue the Complexity of Which Globalization Increases	229
[A] Unemployment and Immigration Policy	230
[B] The Volume of Illegal Immigration Is Itself a Destabilizing Factor	230
[C] A Role for Unions	231

CHAPTER 23

Migrant Workers and European Social Law: Of a Respectable Age or Time for a Rebirth?

Yves Jorens	233
§23.01 Sixty Years of Intra-European Migration	233
[A] The Early Twentieth Century: From Second World War to Labour Migration	233
[B] Migration Motives 'On the Move'	234
§23.02 The New Challenges of Migration on the European Labour Market	235
[A] The Emergence of New Types of Labour Contracts	235
[1] Interim Management	235
[2] Telework	236
[3] Casual Work	236
[4] On-Call Work and Zero-Hour Contracts	236
[5] Employee Sharing	237
[6] Voucher-Based Work	237

Table of Contents

	[7] Portfolio Work	237
[B]	New Models of Work Organization	237
	[1] Network and Platform Work with e-Transfer of Intellectual Work	238
	[2] International Groups with an Integrated HR Policy	238
[C]	The Impact of New Labour Contracts and Migration Patterns on the Social Protection of Migrant Workers	239
	[1] The Current Framework of Applicable Legislation	239
	[2] Lex Loci Laboris : Characteristics and Justification	240
	[3] Lex Loci Laboris : Inappropriate for the Current Labour Market?	241
	[4] Towards a Revision of the Fundamental Principles?	242
	[5] Some Options and Solutions for a New Paradigm	244
CHAPTER 24
Decent Work and Migrant Workers
	Polonca Končar	247
CHAPTER 25
Facing Migration Crisis with Social Integration Instruments: Lessons from ILO and EU
	Kristina Koldinská	253
§25.01	Introduction	253
§25.02	Social Integration Instruments	254
§25.03	Emphasising Protection of Migrant Women: Inspiration by ILO on Case of Domestic Workers	256
	[A] Domestic Work: State of Affairs	256
	[B] New ILO Instruments on Domestic Workers	257
§25.04	EU Law: Possibilities Still Not Used	259
§25.05	Conclusions	260
CHAPTER 26
Social Integration of Migrants under European Social Charter: Right or Duty?
	Marcin Wujczyk	263
§26.01	Obligation to Provide Assistance to Migrant Workers	264
§26.02	The Obligation of Co-operation Between Social Services in Emigration and Immigration Countries	265
§26.03	The Obligation to Prevent the Distribution of Misleading Information Concerning Emigration and Immigration	265
§26.04	Facilitating the Departure, Journey and Reception of Migrant Workers and Their Families	266
§26.05	Measures to Facilitate the Reunion of Families of Migrant Workers	267
§26.06	Promoting and Facilitating the Learning of the National Language of the Receiving State by Migrant Workers and Their Families	268

§26.07	Equal Treatment of Migrant Workers and Citizens of the Receiving State	268
§26.08	Conclusion	269
CHAPTER 27
EU Law Demands to Assist and Integrate Refugees and Asylum Seekers Eberhard Eichenhofer		271
§27.01	National Perception and International Law	271
	[A] Migration and National Sovereignty	271
	[B] Refugee and Asylum Seeker: An International Status	272
	[C] International Human Rights' Guarantees and National Politics	272
§27.02	EU Law and Migration of Third States' Nationals	273
	[A] EU Law and Migration	273
	[B] Internal and External Migration	274
	[C] EU's Use of These Competences and Impact for the Member States	274
§27.03	Status and Rights of Asylum Seekers and Refugees under EU Law	275
	[A] Legal Sources	275
	[B] Refugee Status and Persons Entitled to Subsidiary Protection	276
	[C] Social Rights	277
§27.04	Consequences for the Member States	279
CHAPTER 28
The Integration of Refugees into the Labour Market: The German Experience Maximilian Fuchs		281
§28.01	Statistical Data	281
§28.02	The Legal Framework for the Labour Market Integration of Refugees	282
§28.03	Professional Qualification of the Refugees	284
	[A] Promotion of Language Skills	285
	[B] Active Labour Market Measures	286
	[C] Special Employment Opportunities	287
	[1] Work Opportunities in Reception Centres	287
	[2] Integration Measures for Asylum Seekers	287
§28.04	Permanent Settlement Permit	287
§28.05	Evaluation	288
CHAPTER 29
The Devil Is in the Detail: Some Early Thoughts of EU Policy Makers on Negotiating Post-Brexit Coordination of Social Security Simon Roberts		291
§29.01	Introduction	291
§29.02	Free Movement, Social Security Coordination and Brexit	292
§29.03	No Road Map but Precedents	293
§29.04	Key Issues at Stake	295
§29.05	Potential Solutions	296

Table of Contents

§29.06	The Role of Experts	297
§29.07	Conclusion	298
PART VIII
	Family Work Balance: Effective Social Instruments	301
CHAPTER 30
	The EU Proposal on Work-Life Balance and Its Potential Impact in the Netherlands
	Susanne Burri	303
§30.01	Introduction	303
§30.02	A Short Overview of the EU Acquis on Work-Life Balance Issues	304
§30.03	The Work-Life Balance Proposal of the European Commission	306
	[A] Background	306
	[B] Starting Points and Objectives	307
	[C] Relation to UN Treaties	308
	[D] Scope	310
	[E] Individual Rights to Leaves with an Adequate Income	311
	[1] Adequate Income	311
	[2] Paternity Leave	311
	[3] Parental Leave	311
	[4] Carers' Leave	312
	[5] Time Off on Grounds of Force Majeure	313
	[F] Flexible Working Arrangements	313
	[G] Employment Rights, Prohibition of Discrimination and Protection from Dismissal	314
	[H] Burden of Proof	314
	[I] Enforcement and Penalties	315
§30.04	The Potential Impact of the Proposal in the Netherlands	316
	[A] Existing Paternity, Parental and Carers' Leaves in Dutch Statutory Law	316
	[1] Paternity Leave	316
	[2] Parental Leave	316
	[3] Time Off and Carers' Leaves	317
	[B] Flexible Working Arrangements	318
	[C] Potential Impact of the Proposal in the Light of Existing Dutch Law	318
§30.05	Some Concluding Observations	319
CHAPTER 31
	Work-Life Balance in the Czech Republic
	Věra Štangová	323
§31.01	Family/Work Balance	323
§31.02	Parental Leave	324
§31.03	Working from Home: Home Office	326

CHAPTER 32

Balance of Work and Education

Krasimira Sredkova 329

§32.01 Common Characteristics 329

§32.02 Rights Related to Working Time 332

 I Ban of Night Work 333

 II Ban of Overtime 334

 III Ban of Extending the Working Time 334

§32.03 Educational Leave 334