

Contents

Introduction	7
1. Human Behavior in the Traditional Paradigm	10
1.1 Defining "Human Behavior"	10
1.2 Human Behavior from the Perspective of the Homo economicus Axiom, Cartesian rationalism, and Epistemology	12
2. Nudges and Nudging	15
2.1 Behavioral Economics and Prospect Theory: The Theoretical and Methodological Bases of the Concept of the Nudge	15
2.2 The Phenomenon of the Nudge	17
2.3 Nudging Tools in Prospect Theory	18
3. Food Nudges: Health Policy Tools in the Field of Bariatrics and Diabetology	29
3.1 Defining "Food Nudges"	29
3.2 Methods and Methodology for Analyzing the Scientific Discourse in the Field of Food Nudges	30
3.3 Results of the Analysis of Scientific Discourse: Identified Food Nudging Tools	32
3.3.1 Priming and Labeling	34
3.3.2 Positioning, Proximity, and Size Nudges	38
3.3.3 Decoy Effect, Default Options, Framing, Monetary Nudges, Salience Effect, and Social Norms	39
3.3.4 Multi-Component Nudges	42
4. Literature Review of Scientific Articles on Food Nudges	45
4.1 Country of Origin of Selected Scientific Studies	45
4.2 Classification of Analyzed Scientific Studies by Journals	46

4.3 Detailed Results of the Literary Search by Category Nudges (Years of 2017–2021)	49
Conclusion	134
Summary	136
References	138