

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
Reporting the size of effects	2
Chapter summaries	5
1 Ethological-evolutionary attachment theory	9
Four sources of attachment theory	9
Evolution and ethology	13
Attachment theory	15
2 The normative tenets of attachment theory	25
Separation	25
The development of attachment	27
One attachment figure or many	30
3 Individual differences in infant attachment patterns	39
Security and sensitivity	39
The strange situation	43
Conditional strategies	50

4	Disorganised attachment and attachment beyond the early years	59
	Disorganised attachment	59
	Alarming caregiver behaviour	63
	Development and change	66
5	The adult attachment interview and attachment in adolescence	75
	The adult attachment interview	76
	Lack of resolution	84
	Adolescence	86
6	Experiences in close relationships: romantic attachment and religion	93
	Romantic attachment	93
	Adult attachment styles	96
	Attachment and religion/spirituality	101
7	Current concerns in attachment research	107
	Mentalisation and psychotherapy	107
	Attachment and the brain	111
	Attachment-based interventions	114
8	Conclusion	123
	A balanced perspective	123
	Three principles	126
	Appendix: Key concepts	131
	Index	136