

Contents

1. Introduction	1
A. The Economic Approach	1
B. What Distinguishes Economic from Other Analysis of Law?	2
C. History of the Economic Approach	3
2. Property Law	5
A. Definition of Property Rights	5
B. Justifications for Property Rights	5
C. Emergence of Property Rights	7
D. Division of Property Rights	9
E. Acquisition and Transfer of Property	10
F. Conflicts in the Use of Property: Externalities	13
G. Public Goods	23
H. Acquisition of Public Property	27
I. Property Rights in Information	29
3. Torts	37
A. Unilateral Accidents and Levels of Care	37
B. Bilateral Accidents and Levels of Care	41
C. Unilateral Accidents, Levels of Care, and Levels of Activity	41
D. Accidents Involving Firms as Injurers	46
E. Risk Aversion, Insurance, and Liability	52
F. Liability and Administrative Costs	57
G. Economic Analysis of Tort Law versus Traditional Analysis	59
4. Contracts	60
A. Definitions and Framework of Analysis	60
B. Contract Formation	62
C. Incompleteness of Contracts	63
D. Interpretation of Contracts	65

E. Damage Measures for Breach of Contract	65
F. Specific Performance	72
G. Renegotiation	75
H. Legal Overriding of Contracts	77
I. Extralegal Means of Enforcement	79
5. Civil Litigation	80
A. Bringing of Suit	80
B. Settlement versus Trial	86
C. Trial	95
6. Public Law Enforcement and Criminal Law	97
A. Basic Framework	97
B. Enforcement Given the Probability of Detection	98
C. Enforcement When the Probability of Detection Is Variable	100
D. Monetary Sanctions versus Imprisonment	103
E. Incapacitation	103
F. Criminal Law	104
7. Welfare Economics	107
A. Framework of Welfare Economics	107
B. Distributional Objectives Should Not Affect Legal Policy, Given Income Taxation	107
C. Normative Analysis Based on Notions of Fairness (Apart from the Purely Distributional)	109
D. Remarks	110
8. Criticism of Economic Analysis of Law	112
A. Inability to Predict Human Behavior and Irrationality	112
B. Indeterminacy of Recommendations	112
C. Political Bias	113
9. Suggestions for Further Reading	114
Index	116