CONTENTS

The Urban Century	1
Cities as Quintessentially Human	11
Cities as Inhumane: The Urban Health Penalty	23
Nature as a Solution	41
Biophilic Cities: Vision and Emerging Principles	63
Innovative Biophilic Design and Planning: From Rooftop to Neighborhood to City	87
The Choice	109
dex Proximity of rechnology firms in Silicon Valley allows for learning of workers across companies. (Photo credit: Darshan Karia (public domain)) 2. 3. 1. Penasylvania station in New York City during a typical evening rush hour. More than 600 000 coople every day move through	123
	Cities as Quintessentially Human Cities as Inhumane: The Urban Health Penalty Nature as a Solution Biophilic Cities: Vision and Emerging Principles Innovative Biophilic Design and Planning: From Rooftop to Neighborhood to City The Choice