Chess Openings, 15 ed., is a task too large for one person, even though I spent more than a year of long hours on this revision. The following people were essential to completing this book.

Grandmaster John Padorowicz
Contributed the long chapter on the Slav and Semi-Slav Defenses. Included now is a new section on the trendy 4 . . . a6. John also advised on several Indian Defenses, particularly the Benko Gambit (his specialty).

International Master Justin Sarkar
Wrote the chapter on the King's Indian Defense. This complicated and fashionable opening has received excellent coverage here. The changing trends required considerable restructuring of the tables.

International Master Yuri Lapskun
Revised the Grunfeld Defense. Yuri duly immersed himself into the intricacies of this sharp defense.

John MacArthur
Contributed suggestions and helped with database issues.

Many thanks to Random House editor Helena Santini who saw this project through from start to finish. Special thanks to Scott Knoks for his care in reproducing this book.
