

Table of Contents

Barbara Nestola, Benoît Dratwicki, Julien Dubruque, Thomas Leconte
Introduction	9
Thomas Leconte
Identity: An Unconventional Academy	12
Benoît Dratwicki
Production: Authority and Responsibility in the Fashioning of Opera	16
Barbara Nestola
Networks: An Interactive Academy	21
 Identity directed by Thomas Leconte
Thomas Vernet
"Raise Music to the Heights We Had Promised Ourselves:" The Singular Voice of the Académie Royale de Musique	29
Laurent Guillo
The "Two Bodies" of the Académie Royale de Musique or "Les Caractères de la Transcendance"	41
Lola Salem
Regulating Singers' Pensions at the Opéra: Royal Arbitrage and Administrative Law	53
Françoise Dartois-Lapeyre
Two Interacting Academies: The Académie Royale de Danse and the Académie Royale de Musique	67
France Marchal-Ninosque
Creating Dance Professionals in the Capital City: The Paris Opera's School of Dance at the Heart of a Late-Eighteenth-Century Monopoly	85
Pascale Cugy
Impressions of Celebrities: Opéra Actors and Spectators in the Parisian Fashion-Plate Under Louis XIV	95
Grégoire Ichou, Jean-Michel Vinciguerra
From Name to Image: Portraits of Singers and Dancers Attached to the Paris Opera (1715–1791)	111

Production

directed by Benoît Dratwicki and Julien Dubruque

Pascal Denécheau
Dealing With Jean-Baptiste Lully's Legacy: Francine and the Directors of the Paris Opera From 1687 to 1733	141
Sylvie Bouissou
Aesthetic Stakes Meet Economic Obligation: Director's Policies at the Académie Royale de Musique (1733–1791)	153
Benjamin Pintiaux
The Making of the Libretto, From Beaujoyeux to Pellegrin: Prolegomena to a Poietic Analysis of Opera Lyrics	167
Thomas Soury
Opera Poet: An Author Without Authority?	177
Loïc Chahine
Reversing the Authorship: The Case of the Divertissement	189
Julien Dubruque
Performers and Composers: The Members of the Petit Chœur Between Lully and Rameau	197
Rebecca Harris-Warrick, Laura Naudeix
Ballet Masters at Work, 1672–1764	209
Graham Sadler
The Role of the Maître de Musique: Evidence From the Académie Royale de Musique's Performing Material	221
Benoît Dratwicki
Operas under Construction: Rehearsal Procedures and Methods at the Académie Royale de Musique	235
Benoît Dratwicki
Singers, Composers and Repertoire	249
Barbara Nestola
Rising Stars: Added Airs as a Strategy for Singers' Self-Promotion	263
Françoise Escande
Preserving the Repertory at All Cost: When Berton and Dauvergne Were Bringing Destouches up to Date	275

Networks
directed by Barbara Nestola

Barbara Nestola
The World of Opera in the Repertory of the Comédie-Italienne: Appropriation, Reinterpretation, and Synthesis of Operatic Codes (1690–1697)	295
Judith le Blanc
The Opéra as Reflected in Theatrical Parodies and Critiques	307
Pauline Lemaigre-Gaffier
From Gift to Mutualized Management: The Menus-Plaisirs at the Service of the Académie Royale de Musique	323
Lois Rosow
The Royal Court, the Opéra, and the Opéra's Copyists in the Mid-Eighteenth Century: Lallemand and Durand as Independent Contractors	337
Petra Dotlačilova
From the Idea to the Fabric. Costume Making at the Opéra and Exchanges With Other Parisian Stages	349
Natasha Roule
The Performance and Adaptation of the Tragédie en Musique for French Provincial Stages (1684–1750)	363
Bénédicte Hertz
The Académie Royale de Musique of Lyon Confronted to the Parisian Model: “Giving Form to the Theatrical Spectacle” in a French City (1739–1750)	375

Sources and Bibliography

Literary and Musical Sources	392
Archives	397
Sources and Studies	400
Abstracts	417
Index of Works	425
Index of Names	429