

Detailed Contents

Table of Cases	xix
Table of Legislation	xxxvii
List of Commonly Used Acronyms	xli
1 The Refugee Definition	1
1 Aims of the Book	2
2 The Refugee Definition in International Law	8
3 Limits of the Refugee Definition	25
4 Criticisms of the Refugee Definition	27
5 Problems of Definition	33
6 The Refugee Definition and Existing Learning	38
7 Methodology and Outline of the Book	55
8 Conclusions	58
2 Interpretation	60
Introduction	61
1 Articles 31–33 of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties 1969 (VCLT)	62
2 Application of VCLT Rules to the Refugee Convention	78
3 Interpretive Value of the Most Commonly Cited Sources	107
4 VCLT Rules and the EU Asylum Law	117
5 Conclusions	121
3 Approaches, Ordering, Interrelationships, Modalities	129
1 Main Approaches to the Refugee Definition	130
2 The Human Rights Approach	135
3 Criticisms of the Human Rights Approach	147
4 Responses to Criticisms of the Human Rights Approach	151
5 The Human Rights Approach: Advantages and Disadvantages of Specific Models	170
6 The Human Rights Approach and International Law	179
7 How Do Different Elements of the Refugee Definition Fit Together?	181
8 Modalities of the Refugee Definition	195
9 An Underlying Principle?	196
10 Conclusions	197
4 Nationality and Statelessness	199
Introduction	200
1 Background	202
2 The International Law Framework	206

3	Nationality and the Refugee Definition	212
4	Specific Issues	245
5	Nationality and Evidential Issues	250
6	Conclusions	256
5	'Outside the Country ...'	259
	Introduction	259
1	'Outside the Country'	263
2	'Outside the Country' and VCLT Rules	263
3	'Outside the Country of Former Habitual Residence'	272
4	Specific Issues	282
5	Article 33(1) and Extraterritorial Application	288
6	Conclusions	295
6	'Being Persecuted' and Serious Harm	298
	Introduction	299
1	The Meaning of Being Persecuted in the Context of VCLT Rules	303
2	The Meaning of Being Persecuted: Personal and Material Scope	321
3	The Meaning of 'Being Persecuted': Modalities and Incidents	361
4	Temporal Scope	402
5	Conclusions	406
7	'Being Persecuted' and Protection	409
1	Protection and the Notion of Surrogacy	410
2	Persecution and Protection—Interrelationship	424
3	Meaning of Protection	442
4	Conclusions	471
8	'Being Persecuted' and the Internal Protection Alternative	474
	Introduction	475
1	Basis in VCLT Rules and Textual Location	479
2	The IPA Inquiry: Main Positions and Criticisms	493
3	The IPA in International Human Rights Law (IHRL)	527
4	Essential Elements of the IPA Test in Article 1A(2)—A Distillation	536
5	Conclusions	542
9	The Availment Clause: 'To Avail Himself of the Protection'	545
	Introduction	545
1	Availment	547
2	History and Background	551
3	Application of VCLT Rules	565
4	The Availment Clause Reconsidered	572
5	Conclusions	583
10	Refugee Convention Reasons: 'For Reasons Of'	586
	Introduction	587
1	History and Travaux Préparatoires	590
2	Approaches to Interpretation of the Reasons Clause	593

3 The Individual Reasons	604
4 Causal Nexus ('for Reasons of')	653
5 Conclusions	659
11 'Well-Founded Fear'	663
1 Well-Founded Fear	663
2 VCLT Considerations	668
3 'Well-Founded Fear': The 'Subjective Element'	682
4 'Well-Founded Fear': The Objective Element	692
5 Conclusions	711
12 Conclusions	713
Introduction	714
1 Contents of the Working Definition	715
2 Nature and Status	724
3 How Does the Working Definition Represent Progress?	736
4 How Might Greater Clarity Be Achieved?	738
Selected Bibliography	745
Index	781