Contents

Notes on contributors vii
Preface xi

Introduction: learning about diversity 1
MEL AINSCOW AND SUSIE MILES

PART I
Analysing contexts 17

1 Using children's drawings to explore barriers to inclusion in Cyprus 19
ANNITA ELIADOU

2 Understanding the role of leadership in responding to diversity 32
MICHELE MOORE

3 Reflecting on the experience of mainstream education: exploring pupils' views in a pupil referral unit 45
DEBRA MARTIN

4 Understanding the challenges facing a child with communication difficulties in a primary school 54
CLARE MILLINGTON

5 Promoting student voice in an isolated community in India 66
HARRIET ROWLEY AND SARAH BUTSON

PART 2
Making interruptions 79

6 Too young to have a voice? Exploring how to include young children in a school council 81
EMMA LINDLEY, ROSANNE BRINKHUIS AND LINDA VERHAAR

7 Involving young children in behaviour management strategies: a classroom-based inquiry 91
PAMELA ASPIN

8 Using the views of students to rethink: a collaborative inquiry in a further education college 104
HANNAH SCOTT

9 Making meanings: a talk-based inquiry into adolescent understandings of mental illness 116
EMMA LINDLEY

PART 3
Creating conversations 125

10 Using drawing to explore children's aspirations in a primary school 127
FELICITY CHAMBERS, MARIA MACHALEPIS AND MYRIAM MOJICA MARTÍNEZ

11 Researching student voice in a special school: insider/outsider dilemmas of power, ethics and loyalties 136
ZOE O'RIORDAN AND MALCOLM WILLIAMS

12 Collaborative inquiry: what's in it for schools? 147
ABHA SANDILL

Conclusion: learning through inquiry 159
SUSIE MILES AND MEL AINSCOW

Appendix: 'School-based inquiry and development' 183
Index 187