

Contents

10	How to organize and integrate your data	10
11	How to have meaningful discussions about your findings	11
	Dana Henderson, Sarah Wayland, and
	David White
12	Recommendations	12

	The end
	Index

Notes for the reader	xiii
Foreword by Annie Kotowicz	xix
Foreword by Marilyn J. Monteiro	xxi
Acknowledgments	xxiii

Introduction	1
--------------	---

1	Framework: The current diagnostic criteria	44
2	Knowing when to consider a social cognition assessment	49
3	The parent interview	58
4	The client interview	87
5	Record review and collateral interviews	107
6	Rating scales and self-report measures	118
7	Behavioral observations	141
8	Social cognition testing	159
9	Traits and diagnoses that can be confused with autism	177

10	How to organize and integrate your data	231
11	How to have meaningful discussions about your findings	249
12	Recommendations	265
	The end	296
	Index	297