

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Contributors to the series	viii
Online content on the Routledge website	x
Introduction	1
1. Our more able pupils – the national scene	3
Making good provision for the most able – what’s in it for schools?	4
National initiatives since 1997	5
Every Child Matters: Change for Children and the Children Act 2004	10
Higher Standards, Better Schools for All (Education White Paper, October 2005)	11
Self-evaluation and inspection	13
Resources for teachers and parents of more able pupils	15
Summary	16
2. Departmental policy and approach	17
The role of the subject/department leader	17
Responsibility for more able pupils	20
Department policy	22
Auditing current provision	26
Collaborative learning, grouping policy and acceleration	26
Allocating resources	29
Monitoring and evaluation	30
Liaison with other departments	31
INSET activities	32
Summary	33
3. Recognising high ability and potential	34
Recognising and identifying the most able geographers	35
Multiple intelligences	42
Creativity and geography: Renzulli’s three-ring model of giftedness	43
Summary	46
4. Classroom provision	48
Recognising differences in preferred learning styles	49
Geographical enquiry as a way to provide challenge	52
Planning to support the most able in the classroom	54
Differentiation	56
Extension, enrichment and acceleration	56
Developing skills needed by the most able	61

Improving questioning technique	65
Homework as a tool for stimulating the most able	67
Summary	68
5. Support for learning	69
Underachieving able students	69
Able students with special educational needs	72
Case studies of gifted or talented pupils with SEN	74
Making good use of school resources	76
Revision strategies	80
Summary	81
6. Beyond the classroom	82
Fieldwork visits	83
Competitions and other projects	87
Enrichment and extension activities	87
Challenge days and masterclasses	88
Summer schools	90
Links with universities	91
Links with business and other organisations	92
Summary	93
Appendices	95
1.1 Institutional quality standards in gifted and talented education	96
2.1 Geography provision – a checklist for consideration	102
2.2 An audit of provision for more able students in geography	103
2.3 Audit of learning styles with focus on provision for more able students	104
2.4 Geography department action plan for improving provision for more able students (annual)	105
2.5 Lesson observation schedule: gifted and talented focus	106
2.6 Monitoring and evaluation: student work analysis feedback	107
2.7 Monitoring and evaluation: scheme of work feedback	108
2.8 Geography progress report	109
2.9 Monitoring and evaluation: departmental review and report	110
3.1 Geography department: individual pupil checklist	111
3.2 Rapid checklist for identifying more able pupils in geography	112
4.1 VAK Questionnaire for use with pupils	113
4.2 'Pole to Pole': an open-ended task incorporating choice and encouraging research	115
4.3 Scheme of work – Key Stage 3: Development and globalisation	116
4.4 Extended writing task based on card-sorting exercise	117
4.5 Webquest: Nike (clothing) – are they just doing it?	118
References	120
Further information	122