

Contents

Chapter One. Political Values, Identification, Participation, and Value Change	1
Loek Halman & Neil Nevitte
1 Introduction	1
2 Political culture and its components	2
3 Plan of the book	6
Note	12
References	13
Chapter Two. Patterns of Social and Political Integration	15
Felix Heunks
1 Integration and related concepts	15
2 Hypotheses	16
3 Data	19
3.1 Values	19
3.2 Identifications	19
3.3 Participation	20
3.4 Correlates	20
4 Findings: Levels of integration by country	20
5 Patterns of integration	23
5.1 Correlations	23
5.2 Factor-analyses	24
6 Correlates at citizen level	28
7 Summary and conclusions	29
Notes	31
References	32
PART ONE. VALUE ORIENTATIONS	33
Chapter Three. Left and Right in Modern Society	35
Loek Halman & Ton Heinen
1 Introduction	35
2 The concepts of left and right	36

3	The fragmentation of value patterns	38
4	Data and measurements	40
5	Left-right constraints	44
6	A typology of left and right people	45
6.1	United States	47
6.2	West Germany	47
6.3	The Netherlands	49
6.4	Poland	51
7	Conclusions	53
	Notes	55
	References	56
Chapter Four.	Tolerance and Intolerance in Advanced Industrial States: The Cross-Time Evidence	59
	Neil Nevitte
1	Introduction	59
2	Disentangling tolerance	61
3	Support for principled and situational tolerance	62
4	The aggregate evidence	67
5	Reconsidering political intolerance	71
6	Conclusions	75
	Notes	77
	References	78
Chapter Five.	Individualization or Neo-Conservatism?	81
	Peter Gundelach & Svend Kreiner
1	Conservative values?	81
2	Research strategy	86
3	Statistical methods	87
4	Analysis	91
5	Conclusion	97
	Notes	99
	References	100

Chapter Six. Does Western Europe Stop at the Pyrenees?	103
Juan Diez Medrano
1 Introduction	103
2 Southern Europe in the social science literature	104
3 Data and methods	109
4 Results	112
5 Discussion	118
6 Conclusion	119
Notes	121
References	122
 PART TWO. IDENTIFICATION AND PARTICIPATION	123
 Chapter Seven. Volunteering and Politics: Involvement in Voluntary Associations from a 'Civic Culture' Perspective	125
Paul Dekker & Andries van den Broek
1 Introduction	125
2 Theoretical perspectives on volunteering and politics: The civic culture and beyond	126
3 The voluntary sector and the political domain	130
3.1 Involvement in voluntary associations: Incidence and socio-demographic correlates	130
3.2 Involvement in voluntary associations and political engagement	137
3.3 Involvement in voluntary associations and political attitudes	140
4 Summary and discussion	142
Notes	145
References	150
 Chapter Eight. The Impact of Old Politics and New Politics Value Orientations on Party choice: A Comparative Study	153
Oddbjørn Knutsen
1 Introduction	153
2 Old and new politics: Theory and hypotheses	154

2.1	Religious/secular value orientations	154
2.2	Left-right materialist value orientations	157
2.3	The materialist/post-materialist value orientations	159
2.4	Libertarian/authoritarian and environmental value orientations	161
3	Measurements	163
4	Results	164
4.1	Religious/secular value orientations	165
4.2	Left-right materialist value orientations	167
4.3	The materialist/post-materialist value orientations	169
4.4	Libertarian/authoritarian and environmental value orientations	170
5	Explanations of the impact of value orientations	173
6	The relative impact of different value orientations within countries	178
7	The impact of old politics and new politics value orientations compared	180
8	Conflict dimensions	183
9	Summary	185
	Notes	187
	References	189
Chapter Nine.	Distrust, Involvement, and Political Protest in Western Democracies	193
	Oscar Gabriel
1	Problem and research tradition	193
2	Theoretical framework and hypotheses	194
2.1	The concept of alienation	194
2.2	Alienation, trust and efficacy: The concepts and their interrelations	195
2.3	Political distrust, efficacy and protest: The hypotheses and strategies of hypothesis-testing	198
3	The data and countries included	202
4	The impact of social and political trust on protest behavior	204
5	Summary, conclusions, and discussion	214
	Notes	217
	References	218
Chapter Ten.	Varieties of Political Participation	221
	Felix Heunks
1	Introduction	221
2	Levels and types of political participation in Western countries	222

3	Backgrounds of mobilization: Theory and hypotheses	226
4	Findings	229
5	Conclusions	231
	Notes	232
	References	233
PART THREE. VALUE CHANGES		235
Chapter Eleven. Cohort Replacement and Generation Formation in Western Polities		237
Andries van den Broek
1	Introduction	237
2	Theories of cohort replacement and generation formation	237
2.1	Classic notions	237
2.2	Cohort replacement	238
2.3	Generation formation	240
2.4	Research questions	244
3	Methodological aspects	245
3.1	Age, period, cohort, and the identification problem	245
3.2	Data and procedure	246
4	Empirical results	248
4.1	Cohort replacement	248
4.2	Generation formation	250
5	Concluding remarks	254
	Notes	255
	References	257
Chapter Twelve. The Shifting Sources of Morality: From Religion to Post-materialism?		261
Loek Halman & Thorleif Pettersson
1	Introduction	261
2	Religion, post-materialism, and morality	263
3	Data and measurements	269
4	Results	271
5	Conclusions	277
	Notes	280
	References	282

Chapter Thirteen. Unpacking Environmental Orientations: Deep or Superficial?	285
Mebs Kanji & Neil Nevitte
1 Introduction	285
2 Data	286
3 Principled support for the environmental movement and its basic goal of 'environmental protection'	287
4 Digging still deeper into the 'stuff' of principled environmental orientations	293
5 Explaining the discrepancies in European environmentalism	295
6 Conclusion	302
Notes	304
References	307
Appendices	311
Appendix 1 Construction of variables	313
Appendix 2 Variables and constructs	316
Appendix 3 Wording of variables in the analyses	318
Appendix 4 Grouping of political parties into nine party families in West European countries	320
Appendix 5 Index construction	323
Appendix 6 Party choice and value orientations	327
Appendix 7 The values and rankings for thirteen countries on the three macro-structural variables	337
Appendix 8 Measurement instruments	338
About the authors	341