

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction

Five global years: Reflections on the diversity of understanding terms and problems of globalization and democracy

Miloslav Lapka, J. Sanford Rikoon and Eva Cudlínová 8

Chapter one: Philosophy of globalization

1. Paradigms, democracy and globalization: The role of actors, language and ideology in institutional change

Peter Söderbaum, Sweden 34

2. Interruption: "What does globalization mean?" Some historical and phenomenological remarks on the mixing up of categories and the dialectics of spontaneity and organisation

Werner E. Breede, Germany 62

3. Globalization as the phenomenon of the global social temptation of man

Miloslav Lapka, The Czech Republic 91

Chapter two: Different impacts of globalization under different democratic and socio-economic conditions – limits of solutions

1. The economic policies imposed on underdeveloped countries and their consequences for sustainable development: Case study – Brasil

Yolanda Vieira de Abreu and Sinclair Mallet Guy Guerra, Brasil 102

2. Globalization: Some of the less visible impacts

Jaroslav Macháček, The Czech Republic 112

Chapter three: Policy and control – international and national scales to address environmental problems

1. Climate politics and international institutions: Supporters of global environmental cooperation

Banu Bayrağmolu Lise, The Netherlands 122

2. Is the climate a global topic? From Kyoto to The Hague: The history of international conferences

Gaetano Borrelli, Italy 149

3. Changing land use patterns in the Tijuana River Watershed and the conservation of transborder natural resources

Lina Ojeda Revah, Mexico 159

4. Beyond conciliation and contradiction: Globalization, competition, democratic illusion and limits to local development strategies for sustainable cities

Tania Braga, Brasil 168

Chapter four: Local social and cultural capital and its role in processes of globalization

1. Global ecology versus cultural diversity and local democracy? Nature conservation policies and indigenous lands in Brasil: The case of Mount Roraima National Park

Vincenzo Lauriola and Elaine Moreira, Brasil 186

2. Re-Inserting the local: Building strategic citizenship

Nick Mack, North Ireland 219

3. The impact of globalization on women in the agriculture sector of India

P. Nasurudeen and L. Umamaheswari and P. Kumaravelu, India 235

Chapter five: Do we need a Global Constitution?

1. Global Constitution – The role of information in managing global society

Eva Cudlínová, The Czech Republic 252

2. Writing a Global Constitution: A hermeneutic of the political

Connie C. Price, USA 262

Epilogue

1. Review of the manuscript of the book: “Is Globalization Overpowering Democracy? The Challenge for Ecology, Economy and Culture.” Editors: M. Lapka, J. S. Rikoon and E. Cudlínová

Jan Květ, The Czech Republic 280

2. A Reflection on Globalization

Erin F. Whiting, USA 284