

Table of Contents

	Page
Chapter 1. An Introduction to the Study of Administrative Law	1
1.1 What Is Administrative Law?	1
1.2 What Are Administrative Agencies?	3
1.3 What Motivates Agency Action?	6
1.4 The "Traditional Model" of Administrative Law	9
1.5 A History of the American Administrative State and of American Administrative Law	10
(a) The Antebellum Era and the Pre-modern Administrative State, 1789–1860	10
(b) The Progressive Era and the Birth of the Modern Administrative State, 1860–1932	13
(c) The New Deal and Its Aftermath, 1933–1946	18
(d) The Maturation of the Modern Administrative State, 1946	21
(e) The Activism of the Public Interest Era, 1964–1977 ...	23
(f) The Retrenchment of the Deregulation Era, 1978–Present	26
 Chapter 2. Administrative Agencies in American Constitutional Government	 32
2.1 An Introduction to Separation of Powers and Checks and Balances in the United States Constitution	32
2.2 An Introduction to the Place of Administrative Agencies in the Separation of Powers	40
2.3 Administrative Agencies and Congress	43
(a) The Nondelegation Doctrine	44
(b) The Legislative Veto	65
(c) The "Report and Wait" Process	67
(d) Other Congressional Controls on Administrative Agencies	69
2.4 Administrative Agencies and the President	72
(a) The Appointment of Administrative Officials	73
(b) The Removal of Administrative Officials	81
(c) Presidential Oversight of Government Administration	88

	Page
2.5 Administrative Agencies and the Courts	99
(a) Administrative Agencies as Adjudicative Alternatives to Federal Courts	100
(b) Administrative Adjudication and the Right of Trial by Jury	104
Chapter 3. Due Process in the Administrative State	107
3.1 The Rulemaking–Adjudication Distinction	109
(a) Nature of the Decisions	111
(b) Nature of the Effect on Individuals	112
(c) Number of Individuals Affected	114
3.2 The Early Understanding of Procedural Due Process: The Right–Privilege Distinction	117
3.3 The Due Process Revolution	119
3.4 The Due Process Counterrevolution and the Contempo- rary Approach	123
(a) Deprivation of Property	124
(b) Deprivation of Liberty	137
(c) The Meaning of Deprivation	142
(d) The Process That Is Due	144
(e) The Timing of Due Process	152
Chapter 4. The Administrative Procedure Act and the Procedural Forms of Agency Action	158
4.1 The Distinction Between Rulemaking and Adjudication Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act	161
4.2 The Distinction Between Formal and Informal Proceed- ings Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act	164
(a) Informal Rulemaking v. Formal Rulemaking	165
(b) Informal Adjudication v. Formal Adjudication	169
4.3 The Power of Agencies to Choose Between Rulemaking and Adjudication	177
(a) Agency Power to Make Policy Through Adjudication ..	178
(b) Agency Power to Resolve Adjudicatory Issues Through Rulemaking	184
Chapter 5. Formal Adjudication Under the Adminis- trative Procedure Act	189
5.1 Separation of Functions	192
(a) Institutional Separation of Functions	192
(b) Separation-of-Functions Limitations on Administra- tive Law Judges in Formal Adjudicatory Proceed- ings	193
(c) Separation-of-Functions Limitations on Agency Law- Enforcement Personnel in Formal Adjudicatory Proceedings	194

	Page
5.2 Pre-hearing Procedures	195
(a) Notice of Agency Hearing	195
(b) Intervention	196
(c) Discovery	197
(d) Settlement and Pre-hearing Conferences	198
5.3 The Administrative Hearing	199
(a) The Hearing Officer: Administrative Law Judges	200
(b) Right to Counsel	202
(c) Right to Present Evidence	203
(d) Right to Cross-Examination	203
(e) Burden of Proof	203
(f) Standard of Proof	204
(g) Rules of Evidence	204
(h) Official Notice	205
5.4 The Initial Decision	207
5.5 Administrative Review	207
5.6 Ex Parte Communications	211
5.7 Bias	215
(a) Structural Bias	215
(b) Bias in Particular Cases	216
Chapter 6. Informal Rulemaking Under the Adminis- trative Procedure Act	218
6.1 The Rise of Judicial Hybrid Rulemaking	220
6.2 Vermont Yankee and the Demise of Judicial Hybrid Rule-
making	223
6.3 Informal Rulemaking After Vermont Yankee	227
(a) Notice of Proposed Rulemaking	228
(b) Public Participation and Agency Consideration	237
(c) The Final Rule and the Agency's Statement of Basis
and Purpose	240
(d) Vermont Yankee and Judicial Enhancement of the Administrative Procedure Act's Procedural Requirements for Agency Rulemaking	242
6.4 Ex Parte Communications and Bias in Informal Rulemak-
ing	243
6.5 Exemptions From the Informal Rulemaking Process	249
(a) Legislative Rules	251
(b) Guidance Documents	253
(c) Procedural Rules	260
(d) The Good Cause Exemptions	262
Chapter 7. The Availability and Timing of Judicial Review	269
7.1 The Administrative Procedure Act's Roadmap for Judicial
Review	270
(a) Special Statutory Review	271

	Page
7.1 The Administrative Procedure Act's Roadmap for Judicial Review—Continued
(b) APA (or General Statutory) Review	272
(c) Nonstatutory Review	273
7.2 The Availability of Judicial Review	273
(a) Statutory Preclusion of Judicial Review	273
(b) Agency Action Committed to Agency Discretion	277
(c) Standing	282
7.3 The Timing of Judicial Review	294
(a) Finality	294
(b) Ripeness	300
(c) Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies	305
Chapter 8. The Nature and Scope of Substantive Judicial Review	308
8.1 The Framework of Substantive Judicial Review	312
8.2 The Administrative Record	316
8.3 The Three Elements of Agency Decisionmaking	318
8.4 Judicial Review of Agency Findings of Fact	319
(a) Formal Proceedings	320
(b) Informal Proceedings	322
8.5 Judicial Review of Agencies' Interpretations of Their Enabling Acts	326
(a) The Traditional Doctrine: Skidmore Deference	328
(b) The Chevron Revolution	331
(c) The Chevron Doctrine in Operation	336
(d) The Mead Counter–Revolution	344
8.6 Judicial Review of Agencies' Interpretations of Their Rules	352
8.7 Judicial Review of the Ultimate Decision of the Agency	354
(a) The Traditional Approach	354
(b) Hard Look Judicial Review	356
8.8 Judicial Power to Compel Agency Action	365
TABLE OF CASES	367
INDEX	383