

Contents

Contributors vii

INTRODUCTION: A New Middle East?

1

James L. Gelvin

PART 1: Continuity and Change in the Neoliberal State of the Middle East

1 Is There a New Middle East? What Has Changed, and What Hasn't? 23

Joel Beinin

2 What Future for the Private Sector in the New Middle East? 40

Ishac Diwan

3 Education and Human Security: Centering the Politics of Human Dignity 58

Laurie A. Brand

4 Myths of Middle-Class Political Behavior in the Islamic Republic 75

Kevan Harris

PART 2: Culture and Community in the New Middle East

5 Poets of the Revolutions: Authoritarians, Uprisings, and Rappers in North Africa, 1990s–Present 91

Aomar Boum

6 Islamism at a Crossroads? The Diffusion of Political Islam in the Arab World 106

Peter Mandaville

7 Islamists before and after 2011: Assuming, Overlooking, or Overthrowing the Administrative State? 123

Nathan J. Brown

- 8 Homeland (Dis-)Engagement Processes among the New Syrian Diaspora 137
Lindsay A. Gifford

PART 3: Old States, New Dilemmas

- 9 Saudi Arabia: How Much Change? 155
F. Gregory Gause III

- 10 Erdoğan, Turkish Foreign Policy, and the Middle East 170
Henri J. Barkey

- 11 The Syrian Civil War and the New Middle East 185
James L. Gelvin

- 12 State Building, Sectarianization, and Neo-Patrimonialism in Iraq 201
Harith Hasan

PART 4: Global and Regional Dynamics of the New Middle East

- 13 The Post-Uprising Transformation of International Relations
in the Middle East and North Africa 221
Fred H. Lawson

- 14 Proxy War and the New Structure of Middle East Regional Politics 238
Marc Lynch

- 15 International Law, Use of Force, and the New Middle East 253
Aslı Ü. Bâli

- AFTERWORD: The Fourth Dream 272
Moncef Marzouki

Notes 283

Index 335