

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	When Sounds Make Stories: Lessons for Narrative Theory from the Study of Radio Drama
	LARS BERNAERTS AND JARMILA MILDORF	1

PART I NARRATOLOGICAL CHALLENGES IN THEORY AND PRACTICE

CHAPTER 1	The Audio Dramatist's Critical Vocabulary in Great Britain
	TIM CROOK	17
CHAPTER 2	"Stage" Directions in the Radio Script: A Transgeneric Narratological Approach
	JANINE HAUTHAL	41
CHAPTER 3	Narrative Mediation and the Case of Audio Drama
	LARS BERNAERTS	63
CHAPTER 4	Earwitnessing: Focalization in Radio Drama
	SIEBE BLUIJS	82
CHAPTER 5	Simultaneity and the Soundscapes of Audio Fiction
	CAROLINE A. KITA	101

PART II NARRATIVE GENRES AND NARRATIVE EXPERIMENTS IN AUDIO DRAMA

CHAPTER 6	"There ain't no sense to nothin'": Serial Storytelling, Radio Consciousness, and the Gothic of Audition
	HARRY HEUSER	121

CHAPTER 7	Auricularization and Narrative-Epistemic Stance in Louis Nowra's Echo Point JARMILA MILDORF	144
CHAPTER 8	"Arthur Lolloed": Audiophony and Humor in The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy OLIVIER COUDER	164
CHAPTER 9	Gargantuan Adaptations: Narrative and Non-Narrative Soundscapes in English and German Radio Plays and Radio Operas Based on François Rabelais and Johann Fischart TILL KINZEL	182
CHAPTER 10	Music, Voice, and (De)Narrativization in Samuel Beckett's Radio Play Cascando PIM VERHULST	196
CODA	Radio Drama between Mimetic and Diegetic Presentation MARIE-LAURE RYAN	215
Appendix	List of Radio Plays	225
Contributors		227
Index		231