

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Abbreviations	viii
Table of Cases	ix
Table of Legislation	x
1 Introduction: Europe's Migration Crisis, a 'Problem of Government' for the EU	1
2 Understanding EU Migration Law and Policy: Actorness, Rights, and Solidarity	17
3 Governmentality and Domopolitics in Theorising EU Migration Law and Policy	54
4 The EU 'Home': An Area of Freedom, Security, and Justice	74
5 The EU as a Domopolitical Rights Actor in the Migration Crisis	110
6 The Migrant as a Subject in EU law: Relationship to the EU Qua Home	154
7 Technologies of Government and the Migrant Experience of EU Rights	187
8 Human Rights and the EU: A Model to Be Emulated?	214
9 Conclusion: Where Next for EU Migration Policy?	244
Index	253