

Contents

A preliminary dialogue	xi
A traveller's introduction	xiii
1 In the beginning ...	1
Interlude: Silent reading	7
2 ... was diversity	8
3 To point, or not to point?	15
4 No question: we need it	23
Interlude: Punctuation says it all	30
5 The first printer	31
6 A messy situation	37
7 Breath, blood, and spirits	45
8 Grammar rules	55
Interlude: A punctuation heavyweight	66
9 The printer's dilemma	67
Interlude: Strong language	74
10 Passing the buck	75
Interlude: The Good Child's Book of Stops	86
11 The way forward: meanings and effects	87
Interlude: Punctuation minimalism	96

12	Interfering with Jane Austen	97
	Interlude: Another case: Emily Dickinson	106
13	Is there a punctuation system?	107
14	Starting at the top	111
	Interlude: Learning about layout	123
15	Paragraph preferences	125
16	Periods, period.	134
17	Devilish dashes –	144
	An interlude about the D---	155
18	Ellipsis dots or ...	157
19	The value of nothing	167
20	Exclamation marks!!	176
	Interlude: Inverting exclamation	187
21	Next, question marks?	188
	Interlude: Concrete questions	200
22	Semicolons; or not	201
	Interlude: Semicolonophilia	214
23	Colons: the chapter	216
24	Commas, the big picture	227
25	Commas, the small picture	240
26	Commas, the serial killer	250
	Interlude: Pun-ctuation	259
27	Hy-phens	260
	Interlude: Hyphen-treasures	273
28	Apostrophes: the past	275
29	Apostrophes: the present (and future)	285

30	Marks of inclusion (or exclusion):
	round brackets	295
	Interlude: The poet of parentheses	305
31	Marks of inclusion: 'quotation marks'	307
	Interlude: A fashionable vulgarism	317
32	Graphics and italics	318
33	Punctuating the Internet	327
	Interlude: Punctuation eccentricity	340
34	Pragmatic tolerance	342
	Envoi: Gertrude Stein on punctuation	349
	Appendix: Teaching punctuation	351
	References and further reading	362
	Illustration credits	365
	Index	367