

Contents

1 Building Networks: An Introduction to the Exchange of Knowledge, Ideas and Material for Building in the Medieval and Post-medieval World	1
Jeroen Bouwmeester, Laura Patrick, and Duncan L. Berryman
2 Tools and Masons: Regional Building Networks in Norway (1152/3–1537)	9
Kristian Reinfjord
3 Church Roofs in a Frontier Region: Historic Timber Structures in Western Sweden Reflect Changing Influences and Resources	25
Robin Gullbrandsson, Mattias Hallgren, Hans Linderson, and Karl-Magnus Melin
4 Across the Sea: Urban Formation and New House Building Horizons in the South Baltic Realm (c. 1100–1500)	39
Joakim Thomasson
5 Influences and Networking in Danish Brick Architecture During the Twelfth and Sixteenth Centuries	57
Gunilla Gardelin
6 An Exceptional Twelfth-Century Tile Floor, Its Origins and the Network Behind It: Compositional Analysis of Tiles from St. Lawrence Church in Roskilde, Denmark	75
Jesper Langkilde
7 Changing Origins and Trade Routes of Scottish Window Glass	91
Helen M. Spencer
8 Brought from Near and Far: Trade Networks for Building Materials in Later Medieval England	109
Duncan L. Berryman
9 Networked Control: Tower Houses in Ireland	123
Sarah Kerr
10 Patterns in Brick: The Spread of Brick Use Between 1150 and 1550 in The Netherlands	139
Jeroen Bouwmeester
11 Trade and the Recycling of Stones in Medieval Cologne	161
Thomas Höltnen
12 The Transmission of New Construction Techniques and Urbanisation Concepts During the Teutonic Crusade: Cities and Castles in Chełmno Land (Poland) in the Early Thirteenth Century	173
Marcin Wiewióra

13	Prague and the Prague Castle Under the First Habsburgs.	189
	Gabriela Blažková
14	Architectural Traditions of Pre-Romanesque Central Plan Churches in Bohemia Within Central European Context	199
	Pavla Tomanová
15	Building Networks: Circulation of Workforces, Techniques, and Architectural Models—Roma and the Lazio Region in Italian and European Context.	229
	Nicoletta Giannini	